Fitts in Lengthy Review Charges Bennett's Cash Was Given to Clear Home of Keyes

today to make a motion to dismiss the case of Rosenberg and others." They then went to the courtroom and Mr. Keyes did then make the motion to dismiss the case against E. H. Rosenberg.

NAMES TAILOR

We will show you that shortly after that that a conversation occurred between Ed Rosenberg and Jacob Berman, sometimes known as Jack Bennett, both of them being defendants in the Julian cases, and that this conversation occurred in the courtroom during the progress of the Julian case in which both were defendants, in that particular case. That Rosenberg, Ed Rosenberg, the defendant in this case and also a defendant in the Julian case, said to Berman in substance: "You have not dealt square with me but I am going to do something for you," and that Rosenberg further said to him, "I have arranged to have my case dismissed. You know what has been done for me; I can arrange to have the same done for you." That Rosenberg further told Berman at that time that he wanted him—that is, Bennett or Berman—to meet a certain party who had arranged the matter of his dismissal, and that the party whom he wanted Berman to meet was a tailor.

The prosecution will further show you, ladies and gentlemen, that when the court adjourned that afternoon, Rosenberg took Berman down to Ben Getzoff's tailor shop,—Ben Getzoff, one of the defendants in this case—took him down to Ben Getzoff's tailor shop at 609 South Spring street, in the city of Los Angeles.

DIDN'T KNOW HIM

We will show to you that until Ed Rosenberg introduced Berman to Getzoff that Berman had no knowledge whatever of Getzoff's existence—did not know him at all. That in so far as we can fix the date, we will show you that the date of this meeting was approximately February 10, 1928, or during the course of the Julian trial.

We will show to you that a conversation occurred between Rosenberg and Berman while they were going from the Courthouse to the tailor shop that day; that in the conversation Berman asked Rosenberg—Berman said to Rosenberg, "What is this going to cost me?" that Rosenberg said to Berman, "It has cost at least $125,000 already, and Keyes has gotten the money." That Berman said to Rosenberg that he didn't have anything like that, and it was not going to cost him anything of the sort. Rosenberg replied that it would not cost Berman nearly so much, because he, Rosenberg, had paid the greater part, and Berman could ride through on part of what he, Rosenberg, had paid.

INTO TAILOR SHOP

We will show you, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, that at the time that Berman and Rosenberg entered the tailor shop, that is, Getzoff's tailor shop at 609 South Spring street, that Ben Getzoff, the defendant in this case, had certain employees working here. One of them was known as Pike, and later on a Mr. Sherman and a Mr. Rettenger. That during the conversation that took place between Getzoff and Berman after their introduction on this occasion, that Ben Getzoff, the defendant in this case, said to Berman that he was the only one who could do anything for him—that is, Berman; and that if he could not do anything, that Berman would be convicted as sure as hell. That is the substance of the statement made by Ben Getzoff to Berman.

In the course of the conversation we expect to show that Ben Getzoff further said to Berman, "Of course, you know Ace," meaning Asa Keyes, the District Attorney. And Berman replied, "Yes, but he certainly cannot do anything for me until Ed is dismissed," meaning Ed Rosenberg. And that Ben Getzoff said to Berman, "Don't you worry about that. Ed is going to be dismissed in a few days." That Getzoff had stated to Berman on this occasion that he ought not to go to the bat for him, but finally said, "I will talk to Ed about it and we will see what we can do for you."

"$10,000 GAMBLE"

That a conversation was then held between Rosenberg and Berman in which Rosenberg said to Berman, "Well it is going to cost you $10,000 right now." Berman thereupon, as our evidence will show you, said to Rosenberg, "What do I get for this $10,000?" Rosenberg said to Berman, "Nothing. You can gamble this $10,000. This is preliminary to be used now without anything. We do not guarantee. If we can do something, it is going to cost you more, to be determined later. If they cannot do anything" (meaning Getzoff with Keyes) "if they cannot do anything, you are out this $10,000." That Berman then said to Rosenberg, "I haven't that much money right now. I can get you $5000 and the balance when I get back." That Berman, as our evidence will show you, was contemplating a trip to San Francisco from which he expected to return within two or three days.

The State will further show you that Berman obtained $5000 in cash within an hour or so and met Ed Rosenberg at the Hayward Hotel at Sixth and Spring streets in this this city, and that Berman handed to Ed Rosenberg the $5000 in cash, and that Rosenberg said to Berman, "The $500 will not do any good," but that he personally would lay out the other $5000 to Ben Getzoff until Berman returned from San Francisco the following Monday. We will show you, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, that Berman did go to San Francisco as he stated to Ed Rosenberg, and that on his return from San Francisco, he again met Ed Rosenberg and gave him the additional $5000 making the $10,000 that Ben Getzoff requested from him in the conversation of the day of their meeting. That at the time the second $5000 was handed over to Rosenberg, Berman said to him, "Here is the other $5000," and Rosenberg answered, "All right; I will have more news for you today or tomorrow."

ASKS ABOUT MONEY

A few days later Berman asked Rosenberg whether he, Rosenberg, had given this money to Getzoff, and Rosenberg answered, "Yes, certainly; I will take you down there and prove it to you for yourself."

That thereupon Berman and Rosenberg again went to Getzoff's tailor shop at 609 South Spring street and Berman said to Getzoff—asked him if he had gotten the $10,000, and Getzoff then answered in the presence of Rosenberg that he had received the $10,000, and Berman asked him why it was that he had to have this $10,000, to which question Ben Getzoff replied, "Ace has been gambling," (meaning Asa Keyes.) "Ace has been gambling and owed some money around town and this $10,000 is to clean that situation up. That is what it is for."

[Weekly expenses amounting to from $150 to $200 were agreed upon and paid by Berman to Getzoff, Fitts then declared and an offer made to produce checks and other documents to establish the claim. Also efforts by Getzoff to extract more money from Berman during a visit by the former to the Berman home were told of by the District Attorney.]

URGE NEW LAWYER

That a few days after the first $10,000 had been given to Ben Getzoff, or to Rosenberg and received by Ben Getzoff, as it is now acknowledged by him, Berman was again down to the Getzoff's tailor shop, and Ben Getzoff said to him, "You have go to change lawyers. This lawyer you have is no good and Ace won't do any business with him." Berman replied to Ben Getzoff that he could not hire another lawyer, that he had paid his lawyer, Mr. Murphy, who was representing him, and that Getzoff then said to Berman, "It has to be done." Berman then asked Getzoff whom he should get, and Getzoff told Berman that he would have to get a lawyer by the name of Dudley Robinson, Berman told Getzoff that he could not hire Robinson, and Getzoff said, "He is all right. Robinson won't come into the picture until Ed," meaning Ed Rosenberg, "is dismissed, which will be in a few days."

At that particular conversation, Berman again asked Getzoff when Ed Rosenberg's case was to be dismissed, and Getzoff again replied Keyes was to make the motion to dismiss the Rosenberg case within a few days. Berman then asked Ben Getzoff, "Why should I get Dudley Robinson?" and Getzoff told him substantially, "Dudley Robinson is very close to Keyes and he can show Keyes the way to do all these things for they are buddies."

FEE FOR LAWYER

Berman again asked Getzoff how much Dudley Robinson would want as his attorney fee, and Getzoff said, "You won't have to pay him over $10,000."

We will show to you, ladies and gentlemen, further that after that, although Mr. Murphy had been retained by Mr. Berman and was employed by him as his counsel, he subsequently to this conversation with Ben Getzoff, and because of it, Berman did employ Dudley Robinson as his attorney to represent him during the trial of the Julian case.

We will show you that during the course of conversations that occurred in Getzoff's tailor shop, that Dudley Robinson said flatly to Berman, "You will be dismissed."

We will further show to you, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, that Berman actually paid to Dudley Robinson the sum of $5000, made in two payments of $2500 each, by one check which was drawn for $2500 payable to Dudley Robinson, drawn on the Merchants' National Bank of this city, by the brother of Jack Berman, Louis Berman.

SAYS $7500 ASKED

We will further show to you that during the month of March, about the sixth of March, 1928, during the progress of the Julian case in the Superior Court of this county, that Getzoff again telephoned to Berman and asked him to come down to the tailor shop immediately; that Berman went down to the tailor shop, and while he was there another conversation took place between Ben Getzoff and Jacob Berman. During the course of this conversation, Gen Getzoff said to Berman, "I have got to have $7500 right away. Ace"—meaning Asa Keyes—"is buying a home. This $7500 has to be put in escrow."

We will show you, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, that actually and in point of fact, that Mr. Keyes, the defendant in this case, was at that time purchasing a home in Beverly Hills, and that the matter was in escrow at that time, and that there was a payment made in March, 1928, by Asa Keyes of $2500. And I neglected to state to you that the prosecution will show at the outset that the salary of Mr. Keyes, as the District Attorney of this county, was at that time the sum of $8000 a year. Berman protested and told Getzoff that he didn't have the money. Getzoff then made a statement to Berman, "You will have to raise it."

"PAID $7500 MORE"

We will show you that shortly after this another conversation occurred between Berman and Rosenberg. This conversation took place in the courtroom or at the courtroom where the Julian trial was being prosecuted by Mr. Keyes. Berman said to Ed Rosenberg, "Your friend Ben," meaning Ben Getzoff, "wants $7500 to put in escrow for Asa's house. You told me I would not have to put up any more money." Rosenberg said, "That is so, but what can you do about it?" Berman said, "What do you advise me to do?" and Rosenberg said, "Under the conditions, I advise you to do it." That Berman said, "All right," and the next day Berman got $7500 in cash and took it to the Hayward Hotel where he met Ben Getzoff on the tenth or eleventh floor of the Hayward Hotel, and that at that time Berman again delivered to Ben Getzoff the additional sum of $7500 for the purpose of applying it to the purchase price of the home being purchased by Asa Keyes, the District Attorney.

In this connection, ladies and gentlemen, the State will show you that Ben Getzoff, the defendant in this case, is a married man, residing at 238-A Southgate; that notwithstanding the fact, he was maintaining his residence with his wife and family, Ben Getzoff had rented from March 6, 1928, until March 16, a period of about ten days, 1928, a room in the Hayward Hotel at Sixth and Spring, and just on the corner from Getzoff's tailor shop. That shortly after the payment of this $7500, approximately about March 20, 1928, Berman again received a telephone call from Ben Getzoff asking him to come down to the tailor shop in a hurry.

That Berman went down to Getzoff's tailor shop, and while down at the tailor shop Getzoff and Berman again had a conversation, in which, in substance, Getzoff said to Berman, "I have to have another $10,000," making the second $10,000 in addition to the $10,000 first paid and the $7500. And Berman said, "I haven't got it." Getzoff said, "I don't care. You have got to borrow or steal it or some way you have got to get it." Berman said, "I haven't got it. I don't know where the hell I can go to get it." And Ben Getzoff said, "I don't give a damn. All I have got to have is this $10,000. Keyes has got to get his house out of escrow." And he repeated, "I have got to have it."

CASHING CHECK

Berman made out a check to A. H. Rosenberg, who was present, and asked Rosenberg to get the check cashed. Rosenberg was unable to do so, and Berman subsequently got the $10,000 demanded by Ben Getzoff by selling about $15,000 worth of United Artists stock for which he received the sum of $11,000, and the next day gave his second $10,000 to Ben Getzoff for the purpose of getting Keyes's home out of escrow.

The following day, after the $10,000 had been paid, Berman went down to the tailor shop. He met Rosenberg down there. Dave Getzoff, the son of Ben Getzoff, was just outside of the tailor shop. We will show you, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, by a map the exact situation existing within the Getzoffs's tailor shop. That after entering the shop there were certain tables, and back in one corner of the tailor shop there was a little office that Getzoff used for his private conferences. That conversations within this office could be heard by parties on the outside by reason of the fact that it was not panneled entirely to the ceiling, and that when Berman went down to meet Rosenberg on this occasion, Dave Getzoff, the son of Ben Getzoff, and a defendant in this case also, said to Berman, "You cannot go in there," meaning into the office, "because Keyes is in there with father," meaning that Mr. Keyes was in the inside of the tailor shop with Ben Getzoff, the defendant in this case.

WENT TO HOTEL

Ben Getzoff came out, however. The defendant Rosenberg and Ben Getzoff and Berman then went to the Hayward Hotel. They were downstairs near the telephone booth. Ben Getzoff was very excited; in fact, he was, to use a slang phrase, commonly known as raging. He was looking at a check and demanding the cash on the check. Some protest was made, and finally the check was cashed, and Ben Getzoff got the money.

We further expect to show you that at the time this payment was made Ben Getzoff called, or purported to call Asa Keyes, the defendant, on the telephone. That Berman being present, Ben Getzoff said to Keyes, "Hello, Ace. I have got the money all right." And then further conversation, at the conclusion of which Getzoff said, "For the love of God." He talked excitedly and rapidly and mentioned the purchase of the home by Keyes on the telephone in Berman's presence, and finally concluded the conversation by saying to Keyes on the 'phone, "Ace, come down here right away." That after the telephone conversation between Getzoff and Asa Keyes, Getzoff said to Berman that he was going to get Ace's house out of escrow right away. After the payment of the $10,000, there was a conversation between Ben Getzoff and Berman in which Getzoff said that he would not have to have any more money or pay any more money right away.

PAY TO GETZOFF

[At this point Mr. Fitts spent some time in telling of Getzoff's effort to collect money from Berman and Rosenberg for his services and made the offer to prove that he did collect over a period of time a number of payments on account.]

Shortly after this, ladies and gentlemen, Jacob Berman met Ed Rosenberg and Asa Keyes and Ben Getzoff about 11 o'clock in the morning just at the conclusion of the Julian trial, in the tailor shop of Ben Getzoff; that Jacob Berman and Asa Keyes shook hands and Keyes said to Berman, "Well, Jake, I am glad that you were acquitted." That Keyes also asked Berman if he was satisfied with the way the case came out, and that Berman said, to Keyes that Keyes did remarkably well in his talk to the jury; that he, Berman, appreciated very much how Keyes had not attacked him the way he could have if he had wanted to, and Keyes answered, "Oh, that is all right, Jake."

That in that conversation Berman said to Keyes that it was not the way he thought it was going to come out, but that it was all right just the same, and that Keyes said to Berman that the indictment in the forgery case, that is, the second case pending on which Mr. Berman was returned from New York and which had not yet been tried, that Keyes said to Berman that the indictment against him, Berman, in the forgery case was returned purely for extraditional purposes and that it would be dismissed as soon as he could get at it, that is as soon as Keyes could get to the dismissal.

TURNS ON KEYES

We will show you, ladies and gentlemen, that Asa Keyes, the District Attorney, was seen by Berman in Ben Getzoff's tailor shop on a number of occasions during the progress of the Julian trial. In fact, we will show you by witnesses other than Berman, by independent witnesses entirely, having no connection with this matter, that Asa Keyes, the District Attorney, was a frequent visitor to Ben Getzoff's place of business, the tailor shop; that he went there as early as 8 or 8:30 in the morning and that on some days he was there as often as three times a day; that he spent many of his noon hours down there. In point of fact, we will show you by the prosecution's case, that in the transaction of the business of the office of the District Attorney, it became necessary for the associates of Mr. Keyes, in the office of the District Attorney, to either go to the Getzoff tailor shop or to call him there to transact District Attorney's business.

I am coming rapidly to the conclusion, ladies and gentlemen, of this opening statement. We will show you by evidence produced by the State in this matter that Jacob Berman—that Jack Bennett is a trade name duly licensed by the courts of this county, a name that Jacob Berman uses—that Jacob Berman, about the 29th day of June, 1928, and that is just about a month after the Julian trial had ended, that Jacob Berman left for New York City. That while he was in New York City he had a long-distance telephone conversation and that this conversation occurred about the fifteenth day of July, 1928. We will show you that at this time that Louis Berman, the brother of Jack Berman, was residing at 6828 Arbol Drive in this city, and we will show you further that on the evening of July 15, 1928, that there was a dinner party in progress at Louis Berman's home. Louis Berman, the brother of Jack Berman in the Julian case.

GUEST AT DINNER

That the dinner guests of Louis Berman were Asa Keyes, the District Attorney; Mrs. Keyes, his wife; Ben Getzoff and Mrs. Ben Getzoff. That during the course of this dinner party, Jacob Berman telephoned from the city of New York to Louis Berman at his home, during the progress of the dinner at the Getzoff's home with Keyes present. That the first part of the conversation occurred between the two brothers. That later Jacob Berman in New York and Louis Berman here in Los Angeles, that Jacob Berman called Ben Getzoff to the telephone, and that the following conversation took place over the long-distance telephone; that Ben Getzoff said in substance over the phone to Jacob Berman, "Everything is all right; do not worry. Ace is here tonight and everything is fine." That Jacob Berman then asked from New York what was going to happen, and Ben Getzoff said in effect, "Do not worry. Ace is here. I will take care of anything. I want some money. I want $1000. You tell Louie," meaning his brother, "you tell Louie to give me $1000."

Then Berman said to Ben Getzoff over the phone, "I will talk to Louis about that," and that in the course of the long-distance conversation Ben Getzoff said to Berman, "Ace is here and I will put him on the phone."

KEYES ON PHONE

We will show you then that Asa Keyes took the long-distance phone and that Keyes said to Berman, "Hello," and Keyes said, "Hello, Jake" to Jack Berman. That Berman asked Keyes on the long-distance, "How is everything coming?" And Keyes said, "Great, but then Berman said, "How is the case?" and Keyes said in that is the second case, the case still untried by the that Keyes said to Berman case? Do not worry about it, erything will be all right," thereafter Keyes put Berman again on the talk to his brother Jack York, and that Jack

FITTS SCORES KEYES TO JURY

CHARGES GIFTS

(a) That Berman purchased a set of golf clubs for $173 and gave them to Keyes and later settled a bill of $91 for a lamp and shade selected by Mr. and Mrs. Keyes at a downtown store.

There were many other assertions made by Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

After the statement had been made, Keyes declared he had nothing to say until he was ready to make an official court record of it. On motion of one of his lawyers, he was associated as an attorney in his own defense yesterday.

Throughout the reading of the statement the Getzoffs sat staring straight ahead, their faces expressionless. During the recess following Fitts's statement, however, the elder Getzoff lighted a cigar with visibly trembling hands. Charles Reimer, former special investigator for Keyes, was perhaps the most composed of the defendants. In Fitts's address Reimer was named as having received a small sum of money and asserted to have made the declaration that the Getzoffs had "made $100,000 fixing the Julian cases."

LETTER SENT JUDGE

After court adjourned it was learned that Judge Butler had received an anonymous letter, the writer of which gave the name of a woman who, the correspondent asserted, is the person that approached two prospective jurors in the Keyes case. The women veniremen reported the incident to Judge Butler on Monday, the day the trial opened. Judge Butler gave the anonymous letter to Dist.-Atty. Fitts for further investigation.

Today the first move on the part of the prosecution will be presentation of technical testimony that Asa Keyes was the duly elected and qualified District Attorney of this county during the time the asserted bribes were passed, and that the asserted Julian Petroleum stock oversissue cases were being investigated and tried during his incumbency, and that certain of the defendants at present on trial also were defendants in the original Julian cases.

A large drawing of the interior of the Getzoff tailoring establishment will be produced in evidence. This will show the private office of the Getzoffs and the mirrors through which at least two State's witnesses will testify they saw the proceedings that went on within.

CALL RICHARDSON

Following the technical testimony, Julian Richardson, a deputy District Attorney during Keyes's regime, will go on the witness stand and, according to Special Prosecutor Clark, tell of conversations with Keyes as early as September, 1927, regarding the Julian cases, during which Keyes is asserted to have declared that he had an interest in E. H. Rosenberg. Richardson also will testify as to conversations and conferences with Keyes that were held while the Julian trials were in progress.

Selection of a jury in the case was completed at 11:30 a.m. yesterday. Both sides expressed themselves satisfied with a jury composed of ten women and two men, selected from more than three-score tentative jurors examined over a period of two and one-half days. When the jury was selected the defense had exercised twenty-six of its forty peremptory challenges and the prosecution seventeen. Mrs. Ethel L. Melford and Mrs. Nellie Beck were chosen as alternates.

The men and women who will hear the Keyes case are all of mature years, many of the women having gray or white hair. The majority of them declared that had had but little jury experience, and the women generally gave their occupation at that of housewives.

The names of the jurors as they were numbered in the jury box are as follows:

Mrs. Abigail Bender, 3155 Waverly street; Mrs. Etta Shepherd, 1008 Denver street, Pasadena; Mrs. Ada B. O'Neil, 9716 San Gabriel street, South Gate; Mrs. Elsie Corbin, 1716 Phillips Way; Fred P. Eichhorn, 1402 Mission Road; Mrs. Tillie Vollmer, Eleven Oaks Hotel, Monrovia; Mrs. Nettie Lytle, 3823 West Fifty-eighth Place; Mrs. Cora A. Myer, 803 North Commercial street, Inglewood; Joseph Alves, 15651 Saticoy avenue, Van Nuys; Florence D. Johnston, 615 South Alexander; Mary Jones, 821 West Mission Road, Alhambra, and Mrs. Nellie Phelps, 830 West Sixtieth street.

After February 1, next, Judge Beecher will report to the District Attorney as chief trial deputy.

STATE OUTLINES CASE TO JURORS

Long List of Payments to be Proved, Fitts Says

Tailor and Son Asserted as Go-Betweens

Minor Gifts Also Charged as Going to Keyes

this conversation with Keyes and with Ben Getzoff, that Jack Berman then told his brother to give Ben Getzoff another $500, which Louis Berman did give to Ben Getzoff by a check for $500, which we will produce and put before this jury.

We will show you, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, that during the course of all these visits, that Keyes and the Getzoffs were frequently seen together; that they would go to the barber shop next door together and that in each instance, whenever it was possible, that Getzoff would pay all the expenses for whatever Keyes ordered. We will show you that on the occasion of these numerous visits down to the tailor shop that there frequently accompanied Mr. Keyes his investigator, a detective from the District Attorney's office and a defendant in this case, Charles Reimer. That Reimer was frequently in and about Ben Getzoff's tailor shop, there several times a day and several times during the week he went down to this place of business. We will show you that Pike, one of the employees of Getzoff, during the course of the Julian trial, heard conversations and saw certain transactions between the Getzoffs and Keyes and Berman and the Rosenbergs, bearing very materially upon this matter as to what was said, the purpose for which certain moneys were paid and so forth; in other words, independent evidence of the facts that I have already told you would be shown to you.

NAMES EMPLOYEES

We will also show you by Joseph Sherman and a man by the name of Rettenger, two other employees of Ben Getzoff, as to these transactions of the payment of money and conversations that occurred there between Reimer and the Getzoffs, Rosenberg and the Getzoffs, and the Getzoffs and Keyes, and Berman and the Getzoffs and Keyes.

We will show you that Rosenberg came to the tailor shop on one occasion and that he carried in his hand a paper having the appearance of a check. This was about the second day of February, relating back to the original Rosenberg transaction. That he gave this paper to Dave Getzoff, the son of Ben Getzoff. Sherman was only a few feet away from Dave Getzoff at the time. Dave Getzoff took the paper back into the office of the tailor shop. At that time Ben Getzoff and Asa Keyes were in the office. After talking with his father, Dave Getzoff took his hat and went out on the street. He was gone fifteen or twenty minutes and came back carrying paper currency in his hand. He took the currency into the office and gave it to Ben Getzoff, and Ben Getzoff took the currency or part of the currency and gave it to Asa Keyes.

GIFTS ASSERTED

[During the latter portion of his address Mr. Fitts went into detail regarding a large number of gifts said to have been made Keyes by Berman, Rosenberg and Getzoff. Starting in with lamp shades, he declared the prosecution is ready to show that Keyes received a chaise longue, golf clubs, smoking jacket, wrist watch and an automobile for his daughter. All of the gifts were given during the course of the trial by Getzoff or defendants in the Julian case. The largest gift claim to have been made the former District Attorney was a Lincoln automobile. In speaking of this machine Mr. Fitts said:]

That on or about the 23rd day of July, the salesman, a Mr. Wilkes, received a call from Ben Getzoff, in response to which Mr. Wilkes went down to the tailor shop at 609 South Spring street. Ben Getzoff then told Mr. Wilkes upon his arrival that they had decided to take a Lincoln roadster, and thereupon Ben Getzoff again produced a large roll of bills from which he took five $1000 bills and $380 in smaller bills, and paid Mr. Wilkes for the Lincoln roadster. Ben Getzoff at that time and place instructed Mr. Wilkes, the salesman from the Lincoln agency, to deliver this Lincoln car to Asa Keyes at his home. On the Monday following, July 23, Wilkes drove the Lincoln to the home of Asa Keyes, then located on Rivera avenue in Beverly Hills, Cal.

CAR DELIVERY

We will show you through the testimony of Mr. Wilkes that he made this delivery of this Lincoln car paid for by Ben Getzoff in person, to Asa Keyes in person; that he knew Asa Keyes at the time and recognized him.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, with reference to the defendant Reimer, as I have already stated to you, Mr. Reimer was an investigator in the office of the District Attorney of this county. We will show to you that he was paid for his services by the county of Los Angeles; that on numerous occasions Reimer frequented the tailor shop. We will show you by witnesses that money was delivered to Mr. Reimer; that he was, I believe, at the time, the personal investigator for Mr. Keyes; that on one occasion Berman gave to Charles Reimer the sum of $200 in cash—gave it to Mr. Reimer personally. We will show you that on one occasion Reimer made the statement that Ben Getzoff had made $100,000 in fixing the Julian case.

Ladies and gentlemen, we will further show you that at the time Harold L. Davis, the chief deputy District Attorney of Los Angeles county, left the employ of the county and left the office of the District Attorney as its chief, that he leased a suite of offices in the Oviatt Building at Sixth and Olive streets in this city; that at that time Asa Keyes contemplated going into the private practice of the law with his chief deputy, Harold L. Davis; that due to the fact that Davis left the office and that Keyes being still the District Attorney could not practice law, that the suite of offices leased—that the suite of offices within the suite, leased for Mr. Keyes by Mr. Davis, was used for the private conferences and the business of Mr. Ben Getzoff and Mr. Dave Getzoff; that frequently conferences were held by Getzoff in Keyes's personal offices in the Oviatt Building, and that Keyes instructed Davis that Ben Getzoff should use these offices; could do so in view of the fact that he had disposed of his tailor shop at 609 South Spring street.

It is upon this testimony and this evidence, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, and such other testimony as we shall produce in the course of the State's case here, that we shall ask at your hands a verdict of guilty against Asa Keyes, Ben and Dave Getzoff, the Rosenbergs, and Charles Reimer in this case.

Ban Lifted on Political Discussions for Campaign Starting Next Week

LONDON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The broadcasting corporation has lifted its ban on political discussions and the radio is to play a large part in the coming general election campaign which opens next week. Arrangements have been made to broadcast the address of Neville Chamberlin, Minister of Health from Liverpool, on the 18th inst., and speeches by Premier Baldwin the 24th inst., February 27 and March 21.

In addition it has been proposed that leaders of the three parties, Conservative, Liberal and Labor, debate tax reform over the radio.

Young women who are to cast their votes for the first time are having some difficulty in complying with the election laws, numbers of them having been summoned in various parts of the country for failure to register. Most of the defendants have pleaded that they were under the impression that registration would compel them to vote, something which they did not wish to do.

A young woman in Glasgow told the Sheriff there she has no desire to "help politicians make money at the public expense." The Sheriff advised her that since she alone cannot change the system, the best thing she could do would be to vote for "the least culpable and idiotic candidate."

Father: don't take "flu" home to the baby

Dr. David says: "Take these two precautions daily"

"Fathers who are out in the crowds, contacting many people every day, are the very ones who should guard most against influenza germs.

"It is not yet clear how such germs are spread or passed on from one to another, but the man who keeps well himself is actually protecting his family too.

"I'm going to prescribe two daily precautions. If you follow them, the chances are you'll be safe.

"First keep a bottle of Mistol handy and use it freely. It is quite harmless but it does protect against influenza germs.

"Mistol is easy to use in the office because of the handy dropper for applying that comes in the package. Tilt the head far back and let the soothing Mistol run down the back of the nose and throat. You'll feel the cleansing effect at once. And if you have a sore throat or touch of a cold, gargle Mistol freely too.

"The second safety measure is as easy as the first. Take a dose of Nujol every night. Nujol keeps the system in good condition.

"Physicians agree that, particularly in times of epidemic, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable. Many doctors are therefore prescribing Nujol, as in no case does it cause exhaustion or weakening of the system in any way.

"Nujol is as harmless as water. Just a pure natural substance that keeps the system functioning as nature intends it to."

The combination treatment of Mistol and Nujol is a double check against "flu" and colds. Both products are on sale at all druggists, now.

EXTRA SESSION CALL ASSURED

Congress Not Expected to Pass Farm Relief

Coolidge and Hoover Talk About Legislation

President-elect Sheds No Light on Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—With definite word coming today from both the White House and Hoover headquarters that neither the President nor the President-elect would make any move regarding farm-relief legislation during this meeting of Congress, an extra session of the new Congress was regarded as inevitable.

Information given to Republican Congressional leaders was that President Coolidge would not take any action which might be construed as bearing upon events in the Hoover administration. Previously they had been told frankly by Mr. Hoover that he would in no way interfere with legislation pending during the remainder of the Coolidge regime.

EXECUTIVES CONFER

The Chief Executive and the President-elect held a second conference today at the White House at which it was assumed the legislative situation was discussed, although no statement regarding the meeting was forthcoming either from Mr. Hoover or Mr. Coolidge.

It was stated at the Hoover headquarters, however, that the frequent visits of the next President to the executive offices indicated the continuity of the present and the next administration and a close co-operation between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Coolidge.

Besides calling on the President, the President-elect had Secretary Kellogg at his headquarters for a luncheon conference and received more pleas from Congressional leaders for an extra session in the early spring. These leaders included Senator Brookhart of Iowa and a committee from the Pennsylvania Republican delegation in the House which presented a formal resolution adopted by that delegation and asking for a session "as soon as possible."

NO INDICATION GIVEN

Mr. Hoover has given no indication as to when he will call Congress to Washington and it is not likely that he will do so before leaving next week for Florida to remain away from the capital, probably until March 3, the day before his inauguration.

Despite the word that has been passed from both the White House and the Hoover camp, one group at Capitol Hill, including Senator Watson, of Indiana, prospective Republican leader of the Senate next session; Senator Moses of New Hampshire, and Speaker Longworth were ready to resort to driving tactics in an effort to get the pending McNary bill through now with a view of avoiding an extra session until the fall, at least.

However, in the absence of support from either Mr. Coolidge or Mr. Hoover, most friends of farm legislation were content to let the whole matter go over to the new Congress and it seemed certain that this course would be pursued.

Moreover, the Democrats who have been silently watching the controversy within Republican Congressional ranks are expected to lend their support for an extra session. It is believed they would like to have the responsibility for farm relief, which played a prominent part in the last campaign, shouldered entirely by Mr. Hoover and the Congress that was elected along with him.

Secretary Kellogg was with Mr. Hoover for more than an hour, but declined to make known the subject of the conversation other than to say that he had congratulated the next Chief Executive most heartily on his good-will mission to Central and South America. It is assumed, however, that they went over the whole field of foreign affairs and especially questions relating to Latin America.

SILENT ON OWN VIEWS

Cabinet discussions again entered into the pictures during Mr. Hoover's third day in Washington, several of his callers presenting names to him for consideration. Representatives Katherine Langley and Thatcher of Kentucky urged the appointment of Mrs. Alvin T. Hert of Kentucky as Secretary of the Interior.

Callers at Hoover headquarters have stated that the President-elect listens attentively to what is told him about the qualifications of those proposed for the Cabinet, but gives no indication as to his own views on particular individuals.

According to the President-elect's present plans, he probably will leave Washington for Florida Tuesday or Wednesday or next week, to return on the night of the 2nd or the morning of the 3rd of March.

It is thought he probably will spend at least the last two weeks before his return to Washington, at Miami, where regular offices will be established for his staff.

Final plans for the projected West Indies cruise have not yet been made, but now it is thought improbable that he will be able to include Mexico in his trip.

MRS. HOOVER TOO BUSY FOR SOCIAL ENGAGEMENTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Since her return from South America, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President-elect, has made no formal social engagements of any kind.

She has let it be understood by all her friends that her present brief ten-day visit to Washington, before she leaves for Florida and the West Indies, is not a social one in any sense. Her time is so crowded with packing and arrangement of her household affairs, together with catching up on the correspondence piled up during her long absence, that she deemed herself unable to undertake a social program.

Mrs. Hoover has continued her pre-election custom of entertaining a few of her husband's leading associates quite informally at dinner or even at breakfast, but at these affairs she has welcomed them simply as friends of the family, not as formal guests.

The Vice-President-elect, Senator Curtis, and Senator Borah of Idaho have been among the few guests who have been enabled in this way to confer with the President-elect in the intimacy of his home circle.

A few of the Hoovers' close personal friends also have called at the S-street house in the afternoon or evening, but Mrs. Hoover is not to be formally at home at all during her last visit to the capital before she returns as first lady on March 4, next.

A few South American diplomatic representatives officially have presented their compliments to her husband at his office, but it is expected that the Embassy and Legation ladies for the most part will postpone their calls until they make them at the White House.

HOOVER SPEAKS SATURDAY OVER NATION-WIDE HOOK-UP

ST. PAUL, Jan. 9. (AP)—President-elect Hoover will deliver his first radio speech since the Presidential campaign Saturday night as a part of the program celebrating the dedication and formal opening of the new Great Northern tunnel through the Cascade Mountains.

Thirty-eight radio stations will broadcast the program on a national hook-up with microphones in the tunnel, in New York, Washington, D. C.; Pennsylvania and San Francisco, President Budd of the Great Northern Railway, said.

The time of the broadcast will be 8 to 9 p.m., central standard time.

WOMAN WIT COSTS LIVES OF BANDITS

Two Feminine Customers Give Alarm Which Results in Seattle Battle

SEATTLE, Jan. 9. (AP)—Two bandits were shot and fatally wounded and Thomas C. Barto, president of the Barto Company, was critically wounded in an attempt to hold up the company's office today. One of the bandits has been identified by police as Robert Byrne, 31 years of age. Both men died at the City Hospital shortly after the attempted hold-up. James Dodson, a clerk, also received a scalp wound when he was struck with the butt of a pistol. Nearly unconscious from the blow, he grabbed a pistol from the cashier's drawer and fired two shots at his attacker.

The bandits were foiled in their hold-up attempt by the quick action of two women customers. Barto was waiting on a customer when the men entered. Menacing the customers and Barto with their pistols, the pair commanded "stick 'em up." One of the men leaped over the railing into the cashiers' cage, attacking Dodson.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Martha Gannon and Mrs. Robert Lee Simpson, two customers, slipped out of the building. Mrs. Gannon telephoned police headquarters while Mrs. Simpson saw Policeman Peterson about to board a street car and notified him of the hold-up.

Rushing into the building Peterson opened fire, which was returned. Peterson then was joined in his battle by Police Sergeant Wilson and State Highway Patrolman Gill, who had commandeered an automobile to reach the scene.

Barto and Dodson, although wounded, added their fire to the fusillade poured on the bandits, who were trying to hide behind office furniture.

As the bullets flew about the office, the two bandits fell to the floor fatally wounded. More than $1500, which the robber who entered the cage had taken from the till, was removed from his pockets after the battle.

Confirmation of Neff Opposed by Union Labor Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Confirmation of Pat M. Neff, former Governor of Texas, as a member of the United States Board of Mediation was opposed before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today by representatives of union labor organizations, who contended that Neff is not in sympathy with the working man.

Under questioning by Senator Watson of Indiana, chairman of the committee, all the witnesses denied that Texas politics was playing any part in the opposition to Neff.

Senator Mayfield of Texas opposed Neff's confirmation before the committee in executive session after the open hearing had been concluded. Senator Mayfield was defeated in the Texas primary last summer by Representative Connally.

The burden of the opposition to the former Governor as expressed by a number of union representatives was that he had endeavored to "wean away" employees of the Texas City Terminal Railway Company from their various affiliations. Neff was prepared to present his views, but the committee decided to hear him at a later date.

ORATORY BALKS TREATY ACTION

Pact Drifts in Doldrums of Senate Eloquence

Tide of Legislation Dammed as Debate Rages

Wisconsin Senator Thunders on Perils in Pact

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Kellogg antiwar treaty drifted on the listless waves of oratory today as the Senate found itself unable to reach an agreement on an interpretative resolution on the pact and the foes of the treaty prepared a final drive for such a resolution.

Hopes for an understanding which would pave the way to a vote by tomorrow or before the end of the week still were held tonight by some leaders, but Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee, sponsor of the bill, dug in for a finish fight.

Confident of the votes for ratification of the treaty without reservation or interpretation, Senator Borah is not worrying about a compromise.

ULTERIOR MOTIVES AID

However, a group of Senate leaders anxious to get action this session on farm relief as well as on the pending cruiser construction bill are bending every effort to bring the treaty debate to a close. They are the ones hopeful of an agreement.

Meanwhile, Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, today carried on the drive for an interpretation of the pact. He put forward his resolution to declare it the sense of the Senate that the note of Great Britain reserving the right to defend her territories should not be considered as a reservation to the treaty.

After a lengthy argument by the Wisconsin Senator, Senators Walsh of Massachusetts and McKellar of Tennessee, Democrats, swelled the total of Democratic support for the pact. Walsh indorsed the treaty as "a forward step toward world peace, but whether a large step or a tiny step the future will disclose."

"IMPOSSIBLE PEACE"

Senator Blaine argued that the treaty "commits our nation to an impossible peace, unworthy of the traditions of America and forgetful of that which made this republic possible."

"I have no doubt," he said, "but that the Senators who are supporting the big navy program will vote for this treaty. I am not surprised that many of those voting for this treaty justify their support of a big navy. We may need it. We may be compelled to meet gun for gun, battleship for battleship.

"When we legalize, as we do by this treaty, British control of one-fourth of the world's habitable land, more than one-fourth of the total inhabitants of the world, we draw the noose tight about our neck.

ELOQUENCE FLOWS

"Here is this mighty giant, the British Empire, with vast territory of land, with her dominion over more than one-fourth of the people of the world, the territorial integrity of which we acknowledge and legalize, with the trade routes to the Orient and Africa under her control.

"We now by this treaty deliver into her keeping the ports of two great continents from which she may deny our commerce. Why then, Sirs, do you propose to make the contest an uneven one? Why handicap America? Why betray America with this pretended covenant for peace? Peace! There is no peace—there can be no peace except in armed peace so long as governments insist upon maintaining the causes of war."

Senator Walsh decried most of the discussion so far on the treaty as consideration of "ways and means by which war can be waged by the several countries without violating this peace pact and escape its moral consequences."

MUST KEEP STEP

He called attention to the armament programs of other nations and warned that this country likewise should be careful not to neglect its naval program.

"I shall vote for this treaty," he said, "not because I am entirely certain that it is a real, genuine movement that will materially advance the ending of war and the promotion of peace of the world, but because if the United States fails to ratify it now their participation in the international negotiations that have brought it into being would be misunderstood.

"It would place the United States, regardless of her sincere and profound desire and purpose to bring about peace in the world, in the position of an obstructionist to such a movement."

Harm Expected in Coal Crisis

GENEVA, Jan. 9. (AP)—Leading economists who have been discussing the situation in the coal industry as members of a committee of international experts believe that the coal crisis in England is of catastrophic proportions and is exercising a permanently unfavorable influence on the coal industry of other countries.

Several of the experts said today that while other countries might benefit temporarily through the stoppage of coal mining in Wales by selling inferior grades of coal and improving their machinery with their profits, in the long run harm will result.

Census Needed to Count Idle

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—A suggestion that the only accurate way to ascertain unemployment statistics is to take a national census was given to the Senate Labor Committee today by Ethelbert Stewart, Commissioner of Labor Statistics.

He said that without a searching tabulation nothing definite is known about "social conditions" in the country, but from material at hand he calculated that industry began the year with 79,000 more persons employed, an increase of 4.2 per cent over last year.

FENN BILL TILT WILL BE BITTER

Reapportionment Fight on Schedule Today

Both Sides Claim Victory by Close Margin

Maine Delegation Will Support Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Tomorrow will see the bitterest and probably the closest fight on reapportionment since the House first overlooked its constitutional duty following the census of 1920. Tonight both sides in this contest over redistribution of representation saw victory ahead.

The Fenn bill to establish an automatic perpetual reapportioning machine, to function first after the 1930 census and every ten years thereafter if the House itself does not act, will be brought up under a special rule providing three hours' general debate. House leaders plan to hold the House in session until a final vote is taken.

In last-minute preparation the reapportionment bloc today put the finishing touches on the campaign to muster sufficient favorable votes. Last session the bill was shelved by twenty-two votes and it is this handicap which proponents must overcome.

An effort to obtain wider Democratic support for the Fenn bill was initiated with appointment of a committee to interview Representative Box of Texas, Democratic House whip, and ask him to get his members to the floor tomorrow in full numbers.

Following the caucus of the reapportionment bloc, Representative McLeod issued a statement in which he frankly conceded the vote tomorrow will be close.

Reapportionment gained the support of the Maine delegation today. Although that State will lose one seat under the bill its Representatives voted in caucus to support the measure unanimously and Representative Beedy was designated to make a speech for it.

YOUNG WARRIORS CAUSE STRIFE

South African Tribesmen Get in Trouble Due to Ardor of Initiated Fighters

NAIROBI (Kenya Colony, South Africa) Jan. 9. (AP)—Young men of the Masai tribe who have just been received in the warrior rite and were anxious to demonstrate their manhood by the ancient custom of "blooding their spears," have caused outbreaks in some areas of the Masai reservation. Several tribesmen have been killed and colonial police have been sent to the affected area.

War Declared on Wildcat Stages

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—War was declared today on "wildcat" auto stage operators by the State Railroad Commission.

The State's transit regulators ordered Attorney Carl I. Wheat to prepare a complaint seeking $4000 in penalties from D. S. Rosa, charged with operating in San Luis Obispo county without a certificate from the commission.

Commissioners intimated the move is the first step in a State-wide campaign to curb the activities of so-called wildcat stages reported to be operating in many parts of California.

GEN. BOOTH COUP BEATS ENEMIES

Salvation Army Reins Given Over to Council Group

Stricken Commander Names Personnel of Body

Sister and Daughter Get Posts on Commission

LONDON, Jan. 10. (Thursday) (AP) The Daily Mail today says it understands that Gen. Bramwell Booth has placed the administration of the Salvation Army in the hands of a council.

The newspaper says that the commander-in-chief forestalled a plan to depose him by his surprise announcement that Chief-of-Staff E. J. Higgins will be president of the council, with the general's sister, Commander Evangeline Booth, and his daughter, Commissioner Catherine Booth, and two other prominent commissioners as members.

This council is appointed pending the return to health of the general, which, in any case, will be some months.

The Mail also understands that Gen. Booth proposes to appoint a commission to inquire whether any change in the army is desirable and if so to what extent.

It indicates that its information was the substance of a letter which the official communique last night reported was received by the high council from the commander-in-chief.

The communique said simply: "A letter from Gen. Booth addressed to the council was read and the question of sending a deputation to see the general was under discussion when the council adjourned for the day."

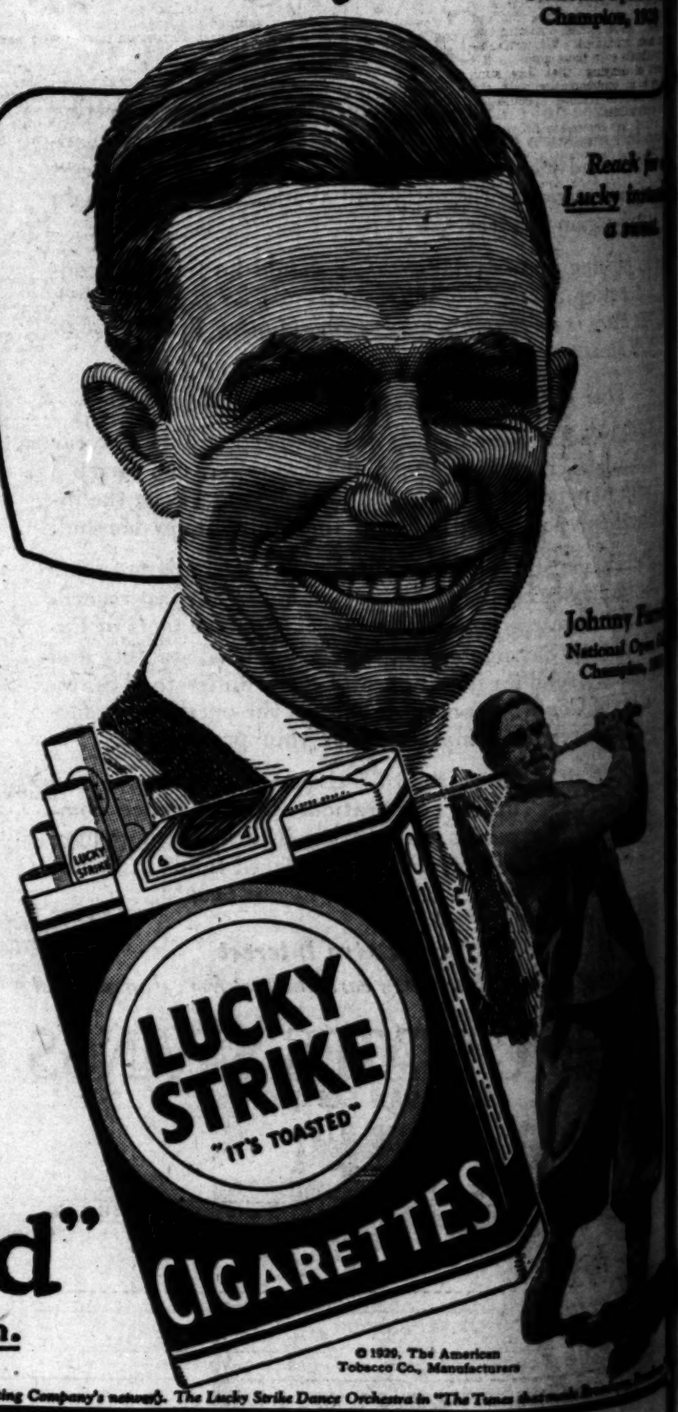
"Pass me a Lucky—I pass up the sweets."

Johnny Farrell

Johnny Farrell
National Open Golf Champion, 1929



When fattening sweets tempt and you dread extra weight, light a Lucky instead. No discomfort, no trouble—just a common sense method of retaining a slender figure.

The finest tobaccos are skilfully blended to make Lucky Strike. Then, "It's Toasted." This secret process brings out every essence in the tobaccos and produces a flavor which makes Lucky Strike a delightful alternative when you crave fattening sweets—there is no interference with a natural appetite for healthful foods. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

At the same time toasting removes impurities. That's why 20,679 physicians are on record that Lucky Strike is less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why prominent athletes have testified that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition. No wonder that this was discovered long ago by many men, who pride themselves on keeping trim and fit, who love the "pep" that comes with health and vigor.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

DREAM BRINGS HER HAT IN RING

Minneapolis Woman Gets in Race for Mayor Because of Nocturnal Vision

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 9. (AP) A dream that she is destined "to lead the people" today had given Minneapolis its first woman candidate for Mayor.

Mrs. Florence Fredeen Gravdahl, mother of four children, filed yesterday as a candidate at the Municipal primary next spring.

"I dreamed I was leading a big army of people," she said, explaining her filing. Mrs. Gravdahl has been active in local politics for several years but never before has been a candidate for public office.

EARNINGS ESTIMATED

The Merced County Chamber of Commerce, in a series of resolutions, first indorsed the Western Pacific, then amended it to the extent that no reflection was cast on existing carriers, and finally rescinded the amendment in a hectic session which returned it to the original indorsement. Somewhat the same procedure was experienced in Madera.

Whereas the foregoing is considered to have its greatest weight on the "convenience" which forms one side of the two issues by which the Interstate Commerce Commission will render its decision, the battle on the statistical front will be of far greater severity and will center on the "necessity" side of the equation.

The Western Pacific estimates that in the first year of operation its gross revenue will be $1,452,301, its operating expenses $791,843 and its net railroad operating income $395,762; in the second year, gross $1,526,737, operating $831,141 and net operating income $416,147; in the third year, gross $1,601,150, operating $869,140 and net $442,024; in the fourth year, gross $1,675,596, operating $907,284 and net $467,511, respectively; and in the fifth year, gross $1,750,041, operating $945,523 and net $491,948, respectively.

The Western Pacific estimates that it will haul during the first year of operation 13,863 carloads of material, including automobiles, canned goods, cement, coal, sugar, forest products, grain, iron and steel, live-stock, fruits and vegetables, petroleum products, rock, sand and gravel, implements, machinery, fruits, etc.; 13,863 cars of the total being fruits and 6624 cars of other materials. In the second year it envisions 14,586 cars of fruits, 6978 cars of other commodities, or a total of 21,564; in the third year 18,-325 cars of fruits and 7339 cars of other commodities, or 22,664; in the fourth year 16,064 cars of fruits and 7699 cars of commodities, or 23,763; and in the fifth year 16,801 cars of fruits, 8064 other commodities or 24,865.

REVENUE FORECAST

Revenue from these forecast operations is estimated to be $1,333,-140 to the Western Pacific California and $2,053,787 to the Western Pacific in the first year; $1,401,867 and $2,157,626 in the second year; $1,470,591 and $2,261,209, respectively, in the third year; $1,539,316 and $2,365,160 in the fourth year, and $1,608,041 and $2,468,921 in the fifth year.

On the passenger side of the equation, the estimates are 10,000 for the Western Pacific California and 7000 for the Western Pacific the first year, 10,500 and 7350, respectively, the second year; 11,000 and 7700, respectively, the third, 11,500 and 8050 the fourth, and 12,000 and 8400 the fifth.

Admittedly these figures do not meet with the approval of the technicians for the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe, with the obvious result that the experts will leap all over them with avidity.

SOVIET BRIBERY DECLARED MYTH

Senate Gets Report Clearing Borah and Norris

Findings Announced After Year of Investigation

ator Reed said, "if these spurious papers did not deal with the reputations of distinguished Americans. It would be too ridiculous for answer if it were not dealing with reputations which all Americans hold above suspicion."

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, arose to denounce the documents as "damnable villainy."

"Let us sound a warning to sensational crooks that the filth and stench which they seek to peddle," he said, "cannot find a market anywhere and that if such crooks are found within the jurisdiction of this government penalties appropriate to their crimes will be relentlessly imposed."

PICKED UP IN EUROPE

Senator Reed said that the photostats of the supposed Russian papers were picked up in Europe by an American and sent to the committee for its information. They were investigated through official and other sources and finally a man was found, he explained, who offered to sell the originals for $50,-000. But this man, the Senator added, could not offer any clew as to the source of the papers or to their authenticity. He did not name this person.

Senator Robinson, however, said, "a former employee of the Russian Embassy in Paris produces copies of instruments which on their face imply dishonest and disloyal conduct," while Senator Reed declared that recently the Mexican government had been "victimized" by the purchase of forged papers purporting to give information of hostile steps by this government toward Mexico.

The Russian documents purported to include a receipt signed by Senator Borah for $100,000 and also papers purporting to show that the Russian Ambassador at Paris had arranged for the transfer of $100,-000 from Moscow for "Senator W. Norris." The initials of Senator Norris are George W.

PAPERS DESCRIBED

Senator Reed said that no one in the Senate ever had regarded the papers as anything but fraudulent, and that the exhaustive inquiry was only made to avoid charge of a "whitewash."

The new papers revealed by the committee include:

First—Eight photographs of letters or receipts, purporting to show that Senators Borah and Norris had received $100,000 each from the soviet Ambassador in Paris, either directly or through the interposition of Dudley Field Malone, an American lawyer who maintains an office in Paris.

Second—Two typewritten documents, said to be statements of the substance of an order for the payment of money from soviet accounts in Paris to Senator Norris, and the substance of a letter said to have been written by Senator Borah in September or October, 1927, to the soviet Ambassador in Paris.

Third—A receipt alleged to have been signed by Senator Borah, for the payment to him of a large sum of money by the Mexican government.

"This paper," the committee report said, "appears to have been sent by American Ambassador Sheffield from Mexico to Undersecretary Olds of the American State Department. So little regard was there given it that it was destroyed without being submitted to our committee or to the Senate, but it has been described to us."

New Plan Filed to Add to Fund for Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—A new move to increase funds for prohibition enforcement was initiated today when Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, introduced an amendment to the deficiency bill which would make an additional $50,000,000 immediately available.

Senator Harris said that "everybody knows that present enforcement is a farce" and that the prohibition bureau is unable to obtain enough men of the class required to do the work. He explained, however, that he was not criticising the present personnel.

When the Treasury appropriation bill was under consideration Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, introduced an amendment, which was passed to increase the fund for enforcement by more than $250,000,000, but in conference the increase was stricken out.

Japanese Police and Peasants in Serious Clashes

OSAKA (Japan) Jan. 9. (AP)—Forty casualties occurred in conflicts between disgruntled peasants and police at the village of Namoru yesterday. Considerable damage was done to property.

The peasants had organized a demonstration against a government riparian project which they feared would flood their rice fields. More than 2000 of them marched on the village and the 300 local police were not able to cope with the situation.

Troops have been dispatched to the Gifu prefecture and the tension today had lessened, both sides adopting a more conciliatory attitude.

TIMEPIECES CAUSE FINE

DOVER (Eng.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Duncan H. Reed, described as an American banker, was fined £483 for importing from Calais without declaration two Swiss clocks and two Swiss watches. The fine, amounting to about $2200, represented the double value of the articles plus the regular duty.

BLIND HEROINE TRIES RESCUE

Barbed Wire Fence Cuts Her Badly as She Goes to Get Aid for Dying Husband

HUGO (Colo.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Mrs. George Davis, a blind woman, is recovering today from the effects of a heroic though futile attempt last night to get aid for her dying husband.

Mrs. Davis struggled over ditches and crossroads for two miles from her farm to a neighboring ranch, guiding herself along a barbed-wire fence. She was bleeding from wire cuts, bruised from many falls and nearly exhausted when she arrived at the ranch.

Neighbors found her husband dead, apparently a victim of heart disease.

NICARAGUA AIDS WAR ON REBEL BAND

Armed Forces to be Sent Into Jungles Against Few Remaining Outlaws

(Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune)

MANAGUA, Jan. 8.—For the first time since the general disarming of the Federal and Liberal armies as a result of the Stimson pact signed at Tipitapa in May, 1927, Nicaraguan forces, other than marine-officered national guards, will be armed to take the field against the few roving bands of bandits still active in the northern provinces of Nicaragua, far removed from railroads and other lines of communication. This plan is a direct result of the desire of President Moncado that Nicaragua should do its share to help clean up the remaining outlawry. It has resulted in the full approval of Rear-Admiral Sellers and Brig.-Gen. Feland, marine commander.

The plan provides that a sufficient force of Nicaraguans be organized and dispatched to Northern Nicaragua, associated with the American marines and national guardsmen, the entire forces being directed by Brig.-Gen. Feland, and made effective by marine forces in close support.

Organized banditry has practically ceased to exist as the once large bands have been destroyed by marines, and the scattered members who have not been killed, have surrendered, or otherwise become incapacitated.

The Porto Rican plane, the Christopher Columbus, sailed into the air at 9:23 a.m. as Mr. New waved a flag from the door of the cabin, with eight passengers and 215 pounds of mail.

LEAVE AT HAVANA

The passengers disembarked at Havana, and with Miss Earhart and Mr. McCracken, returned to Miami today.

The new route lies over Havana, Camaguey, and Santiago, Cuba; Port Au Prince, Haiti; Santo Domingo City, Dominican Republic, and San Juan, Porto Rico.

Daily service is to be maintained to Havana from Miami, while trips will be made three times weekly to the other points, including Nassau. Later the new route is to be extended to include Panama, via Havana and Central America.

CUBA CELEBRATES ADVENT OF NEW AIR-MAIL LINES

HAVANA, Jan. 9. (AP)—Cuba celebrated today the first air-mail and passenger service between the United States and the West Indies, with this as an important transfer station.

The trimotored plane Havana of the Pan-American Airways, Inc., operating company for the Aviation Corporation of the Americas, landed here this morning with distinguished passengers, including Miss Amelia Earhart, first woman trans-Atlantic flyer. The mail was transferred to another plane, which took off for Santiago de Cuba en route to Porto Rico.

The passengers and guests were driven to Havana, where they were tendered two luncheons, one by the Pan-American Airways and the other by the American Chamber of Commerce at Cuba at the American Club. Felicitations by Cuban government officials were offered visiting United States government representatives and operating company officials.

The airways officials said they are planning to extend the route southward to cover the Central American republics and after that to those of South America.

Miss Earhart, Postmaster-General New and other guests aboard a Pan-American plane left at 3:10 p.m. for Miami.

PANAMA-BOUND PLANE FORCED TO LAND

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Fokker monoplane en route to France Field, Panama, from Dayton, O., in command of Maj. Paul Bock, landed at Bowman Field this afternoon because of bad weather. The flight will be resumed tomorrow if possible.

BOX, KEG AND SHOE YIELD BANK PLUNDER

BLISSFIELD (Mich.) Jan. 9. (AP) A box, a keg and an old shoe today yielded up more than $17,000 in cash and securities, plunder from the robbery Tuesday of the First National Bank here. The plunder was found in the home of Charles Carroll, 58-year-old Blissfield blacksmith, who confessed the hold-up.

BORDER LIQUOR IDEAS BANDIED

United States Urges Canada to Halt Rum Ships

OTTAWA, Jan. 9. (AP)—The American delegation to the antismuggling conference today suggested Canadian refusal to clear liquor-laden ships to the United States as a means of stemming the increasing flow of contraband, and the Canadian delegation replied by asking whether it would not be feasible for the United States to control the movement of boats engaged in liquor traffic.

In his opening statement at the conference yesterday Rear-Admiral Frederick C. Billard, head of the United States Coast Guard, brought up the question of refusal of clearance, but the answering Canadian statement asserted that such restriction would tend to drive the export of liquor under cover and diffuse it over wider border areas.

A joint committee appointed by the conference to study the liquor situation reported today that export of liquor from Canada to the United States is increasing.

EX-KAISER'S SISTER'S CASH GONE; TOO SLOW RACE HORSES BLAMED

(Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.)

BERLIN, Jan. 8. — "The former Kaiser's sister, Mme. Alexander Subkoff, today started a suit against Prince Adolph, head of the former reigning house of Schaumberg-Lippe, in the Munich courts, in an attempt to raise cash, due partly to the extravagances of her youthful Russian husband and partly in consequence of ill-advised transactions, including the purchase at an extravagant price of an elaborate racing stable.

The former Princess sues for a declaration of nullity of the settlement agreements concluded in her name, assertedly without proper authority, and claims a monthly subsidy of $600, the payment of a lump sum, a rearrangement of her present pension and also the handing over of her share of the family silver plate.

The press states Mme. Subkoff's financial situation is perilous, that she has issued bills for large sums which the estate apparently now is unable to meet.

Her creditors have been pressing hard lately and she is only staving off action by holding out a hope that she will be able to wring large sums from Prince Adolph.

At the time of her marriage Victoria was a comparatively wealthy woman, but young Subkoff proved to have a remarkable ability for spending money with the utmost rapidity, so that when he finally was expelled from Germany, Belgium and other countries and found refuge in Luxemburg, her estate was greatly reduced.

M. Subkoff's friend, the Russian refugee attorney, Paul Ivanoff, in the husband's enforced absence acquired a great influence over Mme. Subkoff whose remaining fortune was intrusted to his management. It is said M. Ivanoff had the remarkable idea of restoring the shaky fortune by embarking on a racing venture on a big scale, so he advised the ill-fated purchase of a string of race horses, none of which ever is likely to win a racing classic.

LONDON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to Washington, has been named envoy to London.

FRENCH CABINET AGAIN ATTACKED

Radical Group Decides to Demand It Quit

PARIS, Jan. 9. (AP)—About three-quarters of the radical group in the Chamber of Deputies, a section which has 125 members, declared war on the Poincare Cabinet today. They specifically exempted the Premier from their declaration of hostility, but made it plain that they will try to snatch the Cabinet out from under him.

The fact that the party, for the first time in several years, had been deprived of the distinctly political portfolio of the Ministry of the Interior, was one of the chief factors in the organization of the movement. Another was the distastefulness of the radicals of several members of the Cabinet.

In their announcement the crusading Deputies say they will uncompromisingly oppose the inclusion of any ministers in the new Cabinet who do not belong to parties of the Left.

M'COMB BACKS HARDY RULING

Judge Insists His Decision Should Prevail

Opens Fight in High Court Against Reversal

Answer Maintains State Bar Without Jurisdiction

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Definite evidence that Superior Judge McComb of Los Angeles county will resist the efforts of the State bar to have his decision in the so-called Hardy check case set aside was provided today. His counsel filed an answer with the State Supreme Court to the proceedings by which the bar seeks to have Judge Hardy face a bar investigating committee and explain the circumstances under which he accepted a $2500 check from Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, while the latter's kidnaping story was under investigation by the county grand jury.

The answer was filed on behalf of Judge McComb by Attorneys John Francis Neylan, Oscar Lawler, John M. Hall and Alexander Sokolow. It sets up the same contentions which Judge McComb embodied in his decision in the case, which are, chiefly, that Judge Hardy, being a jurist, is not a member of the State Bar and hence not answerable to its members or committee for his actions, and that the State bar is exceeding its jurisdiction by attempting to exert executive authority over the actions of members.

Arguments in the case were expected to begin today but were continued until Friday.

The object of the corporation, as outlined in the articles, are civic, political, social and not for profit; to uphold and maintain the Constitution and laws of the United States of America and the State of California; and to support the tenets and principles of the Republican party, and to promote the best interests of the Republican party in national, State and legal affairs.

WIFE HELD IN KILLING PLOT

Would-be Assassin Slain and Sheriff Wounded as Police Ambush Quartet Seeking Man's Life

DETROIT, Jan. 9. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Woods was arrested as she lay on a sick bed tonight after one would-be assassin was killed by police and a deputy sheriff wounded in a gun battle when police, deputy sheriffs and State troopers ambushed four men who attempted to murder her husband, Ralph A. Woods, president of the Woods Construction Company.

Police received word of the plot to murder the wealthy builder this afternoon from a man who said he had been employed by Mrs. Woods, head of a realty company which bears her first name, to aid four gunmen in slaying her husband. A divorce action instituted by Woods is pending.

Three of the four gunmen escaped in a motor car when police of three cities, deputy sheriffs and State police opened fire from places of concealment inside and outside the building in which Woods had his offices.

One of the three is believed wounded and a police net was thrown over the city to watch all hospitals. A heavy guard was placed around the home of Mrs. Woods in the expectation that at least one of the three who escaped would attempt to communicate with her. No charge was placed against her, but she will be held for questioning.

The dead man was identified as William Thompson of Wyandotte, Mich., near here. He was shot as he stepped up to Woods at the door of his office and raised a blackjack to strike him. Woods, who has but one arm, fired simultaneously with a policeman, and it is believed his shot killed Thompson.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas Dunnigan was wounded in the abdomen. Physicians said he is in a critical condition.

The alleged plot was divulged by Cecil Holt, also of Wyandotte, who told Roy Smith, Chief of Police of Riverview, a suburb, that Mrs. Wood had paid a premium on his $125,000 insurance policy in return for his promise to assist in the plot.

The motive for the strange plot, as related by Holt, revolved around the suit for divorce filed by Wood, property settlements he had offered Mrs. Wood, and a $100,000 life insurance policy he carried.

It was learned from Wood he had ordered the divorce suit withdrawn but that action has not yet been taken. Wood would not comment.

WIZARD KILLER FOUND GUILTY

Verdict of Murder in First Degree Returned

Jury Urges Life for Slayer of Black Magic Recluse

Preparations Made to Try Asserted Accomplices

YORK (Pa.) Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—A verdict of guilty in the first degree was returned early tonight by the jury, which sat through the three-day trial of John Blymire, 32 years of age, but with the mind and stature of a child, accused of the murder, with two accomplices, of Nelson D. Rehmeyer, farmer recluse and supposed wizard of black magic.

The jury, which deliberated two hours and four minutes, in returning the verdict at 7:04 p.m., recommended sentence to life imprisonment rather than the electric chair.

As soon as the verdict was returned preparations were made for starting the trial tomorrow of Blymyer's two asserted accomplices in the slaying of Rehmeyer, who, like Blymer, practiced "powwowism."

Ex-Convicts and Guard Accused of Crime Plot

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Following the arrest of two former Folsom convicts and a former Folsom penitentiary guard, police today voiced suspicion that a well-developed scheme for criminal activities was hatched within Folsom's walls between the prisoners and the man who had charge of them.

Those under arrest are Cecil Bernard, who quit his job as guard December 1 last, shortly after Charles McCormick and Bernard Sowle, convicts, were released from the prison. Police say confessions from the two ex-convicts have cleared nine robberies and burglaries in San Francisco since they were released and have implicated Bernard.

The latter denies knowledge of the asserted plot, although police said they have recovered a quantity of loot from an apartment which Bernard shared with Sowle. Bernard is held for receiving stolen property.

GRAPE EXPORTS PROVE GAINFUL

Association Official Points to Federal Figures

Prices Maintained Despite Growth in Shipments

Establishing of Terminals for Produce Urged

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Leo C. Monahan, newly appointed vice-president of the California Vineyardists' Association, in charge of trade promotion, today said figures issued by the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce show exports can be increased with profit.

Attempts to increase shipments to domestic markets break prices, he said, interpreting the Federal reports.

"The report shows that in 1927 2,631,964 pounds of grapes exported through this port brought $208,948," said Monohan. "In 1928, although 3,789,837 pounds were exported, the price was maintained, and $317,619 was received from the shipments.

"With practically the same tonnage of grapes produced in California in 1927 and 1928, the value of the grapes declined approximately one-third due to fall in domestic market prices. Foreign markets can be built up if produce terminals are established both here and at ports of destination."

CELL LIFE OF CANCER ON SCREEN

Growth by Absorption of Blood Serum Revealed in Illustrated Lecture

BERLIN, Jan. 9. (AP)—Living cancer cells were projected on a screen to show their growth and nourishment by absorption of blood serum in the course of a lecture here tonight by Prof. Albert Fischer of Copenhagen. He has been studying the disease for three years at the Kaiser Wilhelm institution for biology.

The professor said that the nature of cancer could be observed now from the cell, instead of from carcinoma, as was formerly necessary. The cancer cell itself is the agent of spread and cancer has no morbific agent like other infectious diseases.

In support of his statement that artificially fed growths could be prolonged apparently indefinitely, Prof. Fischer said he knew of one seventeen years old. In cultures, cancer cells overpowered all normal cells with which they came in contact.

New Road From Los Angeles to Pomona Asked

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Provision for twenty-five miles of new highway between Pomona and Los Angeles is made in a bill introduced in the upper house today by Senator Merriam of Long Beach. The measure would instruct the Highway Commission to locate, construct and reconstruct an extension of the Mission Highway in that district.

Senator Merriam's bill does not ask for an appropriation of State funds, but would have the highway extension, which he contends would provide a direct outlet from Imperial Valley to Los Angeles, constructed out of gasoline tax funds.

Nine railroad grade crossings would be eliminated under the proposal, Merriam said.

Man Who Bore Sad Tidings to McKinley Dies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—John Jamison, 70 years of age, the man who broke the news to President McKinley of the sinking of the Maine died here today. He retired in June from the Washington police force after serving forty-one years, thirty of which were spent at the White House.

Making his rounds at the executive mansion early on the morning of February 15, 1898, Jamison heard President McKinley's telephone ring. Answering he was told that Secretary of the Navy Long was calling to inform the President that the Maine had been blown up.

Jamison awoke Mr. McKinley, to give him the news.

Nautical School Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. (AP)—A nautical school at the port of Los Angeles would be provided with the passage of a bill introduced in the upper house of the Legislature by Senator Carter of Wilmington, today.

The bill provides for the conduct and maintenance of the proposed school and for an appropriation of $25,000 for its provision. The Governor further would be authorized to request and receive Federal aid for the school.

SEARCH FOR DREAM ISLE UNDER WAY

MacMillan Yacht Bought to Hunt Up South Pacific Land Seen in Vision

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9. (AP)—M. P. Bramley, millionaire paving contractor and business man, plans a fantastic journey into the South Pacific in search of a submerged island revealed to him in a dream. He will make the trip in the steam yacht Peary, which he purchased today from Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer.

Bramley revealed his plans simultaneously with announcement of the purchase of the sturdy craft that carried MacMillan into frozen wastes. The deal was completed here as the explorer is in Cleveland conducting a lecture series. The Peary now is at Boston and Bramley said he expected to embark in two weeks.

It was some time ago, Bramley said, that he dreamed of discovering a submerged island in the Pacific. When he made a recent trip to California he chartered a boat and started out to search for the dream island. He returned to the coast disappointed, but not discouraged. Next he chartered an airplane and after three hours and fifteen minutes of cruising about discovered a submerged tract of land under about twenty feet of water. It was surely the dream island, Bramley said.

ORGAN LADY OF CANYON AGAIN UPSET

Six Los Angeles Youths Charged With Destroying Natural Statue

MOJAVE, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Red Rock Canyon's world-famed Lady of the Organ, who, figuratively speaking, has played before the eyes of thousands from every section of the globe, again has fallen at the hands of asserted vandals, according to word received here today.

Last August two unidentified persons toppled the natural statue from its pinnacle. Residents of the canyon district, headed by Rudolph Hagen, resurrected "The Lady" and again set it before the great organ. Today a letter from Robert H. Lewis of Cantil says that the statue has been destroyed again.

According to his letter he corralled the vandals, who were on motorcycles. Mrs. Rudolf Hagan saw six men destroy the statue. She called Lewis who got their license numbers and took them to Hagan's store, where they gave their names and addresses. All six were from Los Angeles.

Mr. Hagan has directed an appeal to the Sheriff's office, traffic officers and Supervisors of the county to aid in protecting the scenic attraction of the canyon, soon to be made a State park.

OLD-LINE WISCONSIN G.O.P. WINS

Conservatives Gain Control of State Legislature After Struggle of Ten Years

MADISON (Wis.) Jan. 9. (AP)—After ten years of unsuccessful effort the Conservative Republicans gained control of the Legislature today.

With impetus furnished by the election of a Governor of their own political faith, the Conservatives overrode the opposition of the La Follette Progressives today to organize both houses of the fifty-ninth Legislature.

The election of Charles B. Perry of Wauwautosa, one time candidate for Governor, as Speaker of the Assembly, came after a protracted contest with Progressives supporting Alvin C. Reis, Madison, which ended on the fifteenth ballot. The final vote was: Perry, 51; Reis, 47; Mersch (Democrat) 2.

With a wide margin in the State Senate, the Conservatives easily elected Oscar H. Morris, Milwaukee, president pro tempore. The two houses will convene tomorrow to hear Gov. Walter J. Kohler, who was inaugurated Monday, deliver his message.

Accused Aides Call Banker as Defense Witness

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Announcement that Herbert Fleishhacker, president of the Anglo and London Paris National Bank, has been subpoenaed as a defense witness for trial of Knudt B. Hoegsberg and Arthur V. Scott, two assistant cashiers charged with helping Owen Sullivan, importer, to embezzle $600,000 from the bank in 1927, caused astonishment in Federal Court circles today.

Court attaches say Hoegsberg, accompanied by an attorney, applied personally for the Fleishhacker subpoena. Newspaper men say Atty. Hatfield held several long conferences today, supposedly about the coming trial, but refused to make a statement about the meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleishhacker, however, left San Francisco for Seattle tonight on the first stage of their trip around the world.

Another Liberty Wanted by Erin

CORK (Irish Free State) Jan. 9. (AP)—A proposal now before the Cork Harbor Board that the Harbor of Cobh should have a statue of liberty symbolizing Erin welcoming Irish folks back to their homeland, provoked suggestions today that since France presented the statue of liberty in New York Harbor, so the United States might do for Ireland.

LIBERTY MOTOR GETS BLACK EYE

House Proposal to Forbid Their Use Adopted

War-time Engines Shown to be Unsafe in Flying

Army Air Corps Allotment of $33,000,000 Carries

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—After adopting a proposal forbidding the use of Liberty motors, a leading World War aircraft engine, in new army airplanes purchased after the end of this fiscal year, the House today approved $33,000,000 carried in the War Department supply bill for the Army Air Corps.

The amendment, offered by Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, himself a former World War aviator, was accepted by a vote of 24 to 14. He contended that it is not economy for the Army to use the old Liberty motors in new planes.

La Guardia said his amendment particularly is aimed to provide new and modern planes for training young army flyers. Many war-time planes, including De Havilands and other types, engined with obsolete Liberty motors are being used as training planes, he added.

OTHER CONTENTIONS

Other contentions voiced by La Guardia and by Representatives Maas and Furlow of Minnesota, also a former war flyer, and Hudson of Michigan, all Republicans, were that planes equipped with the motors are not only uneconomical but dangerous and that it would prove a menace for the government to sell the supply it has on hand to civilian aviators.

The debate brought a reference to the testimony of F. Trubee Davison, assistant Secretary of War, before the appropriations subcommittee, in which he said that he and Gen. J. E. Fechet used Liberty motors in their flight to Panama last year. "We had no end of motor trouble," Davison testified.

The assistant Secretary said that the War Department still has on hand about 4000 of the old motors that were built during the latter part of the World War, characterizing them as "relatively unreliable as contrasted with the modern motors." Gen. Fechet observed that other motors are about three times as safe as the Liberty.

WHAT WAR RECORDS SHOW

The assistant Secretary, however, declared he does not believe the Liberty motor is so unsafe that the War Department would be justified in junking the planes equipped with them.

Their testimony showed that there were an even 1000 of these planes in use during the last year in the Army and a comparative table showed that there were about one-third as many forced landings of planes equipped with the modern D-12 engines as there were of those with Liberty motors and the machines with the Wright J-5 and Wright E motors, also modern engines, showed considerable fewer forced landings than Liberty-motored planes for the same number of hours in the air.

MT. WHITNEY SHRINKING, ACCORDING TO NEW FIGURES

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, Jan. 9.—Mt. Whitney, lying on the eastern border of Sequoia National Park, highest mountain in the United States, will be less difficult to scale in the future. According to the Coast and Geodetic Survey, it has lost in altitude; in fact it has lost something more than four feet. To be exact, it lacks 4926 feet of being as high as it was twenty-three years ago.

The last survey made in 1905 by the Geological Survey, gave Mt. Whitney's crest into the clouds at 14,500.737 feet, while the latest figure places it at 14,495.811 feet.

In spite of this shrinkage, Mt. Whitney still retains its claim to being "top o' the United States." Each year the army of tourists, who make the difficult climb to its peak increases.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

Refrigerator

ALL the machinery is on top, leaving the entire cabinet free for food storage—do you realize the importance of this simple statement? This achievement is the result of fifteen years of painstaking research to determine the simplest, the most efficient, the most worry-proof design. It has made the General Electric Refrigerator an outstanding engineering accomplishment.

All the mechanism, together with a permanent supply of oil, is concealed in an hermetically sealed steel casing. Here it is safe from dust and difficulties. This distinctively electric refrigerator operates so quietly you can scarcely hear it. It can be placed wherever you wish in your home and its electric cord is plugged into any convenient outlet as simply as an electric iron—there is no plumbing, soldering or wiring to be done.

Automatically, economically, it keeps your food always at the scientifically correct temperature, well below the danger point of 50 degrees—perfect refrigeration that safeguards health. It makes plenty of ice cubes—it opens a whole new menu of frozen desserts.

Committee Announcements Awaited With Interest

Young-Johnson Machine May Lose Co-ordination

BY C. A. JONES
"Times" Staff Representative

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Announcement of standing committees of the Senate and Assembly is expected tomorrow and is being awaited with more than usual interest this year because the future of many political careers hinges thereon.

Anticipation of the break between the parts of the Young-Johnson machine, which has controlled the State government for the past two years, will be realized if reports are borne out. Speaker Levey of the Assembly is expected to announce his committee appointments in the morning. When he does so the State will know if former Sheriff Finn of San Francisco, who dictates policy to the San Francisco members and many more, actually has broken with Gov. Young.

It is reported that Alexander McCabe, lieutenant of Senator Johnson and the unofficial adviser of Gov. Young, sent to Finn a list of committee appointments, with directions that Speaker Levey, who comes from San Francisco, name them. The report continues that Mr. Finn sent the list straight back to Boss McCabe, accompanied by some warm repartee. Mr. Finn declared that he is running the Legislature this year.

EXPECTATIONS FALL SHORT

Many politicians are inclined to think he is correct in the statement.

In 1926, Finn, then Sheriff, aided materially in the election of Gov. Young. The repayment in patronage and legislation is supposed to have fallen far short of his expectations. Threats to McCabe apparently had no effect so Finn proclaimed a holy war. In this he was assisted by Kent Parrott, Los Angeles boss, but Parrott's help is of small consequence, as he now is practically in the category of an ex-boss. The Finn rebellion bore fruit in the famous battle at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco last September when control of the Republican State Central Committee was wrested from Young, and Senator Merriam of Long Beach was elected chairman.

Should Finn continue this policy of throwing his strength to the Young opposition the present session will be a lively affair.

Last session the Los Angeles delegation was left out in the cold in committee assignments. Many of the legislative veterans found afternoons and evenings at their disposal for the first time in years because they were stricken from the important committees and had nothing to say in working out legislation. This year they have been informed that they will be treated with "justice" by Speaker Levey, with a concurrent loss of importance on the part of the Young organization.

SEWELL ON INSIDE TRACK

Assemblyman Sewell of Whittier, leader of the antiadministration forces last session, is believed to have the inside track for appointment as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, the most important assignment of them all. Other Southern Californians are anticipating powerful assignments.

It is probable that Young backers will be named to head governmental efficiency and economy, revenue and taxation and ways and means, so that Gov. Young can proceed with his administration measures and not be hamstrung in committee. Aside from these, the expectation is that the Governor's men will receive few plums.

The San Francisco delegation, in introducing the bill to transfer control of San Francisco Harbor from the State to the city, served notice that they are out for blood. In his message, Gov. Young indicated he will veto this bill if it is placed on his desk. This is a bitter battle over patronage which Finn wants to capture and Young wants to keep.

In the Senate, appointment of committees will be made by Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, Gov. Young's close friend and appointed by him to succeed Dist.-Atty. Fitts. Naturally, control of these committees will be retained by the Young forces. Already considerable grumbling has been heard from veterans, who hear they are going on such committees as engrossing and enrolling, contingent expenses, printing and the like.

NAILS SPLIT UP MARITAL BARK

Wife Says Husband Sits for Hours Biting Finger Tips Due to Nervousness

Mrs. Leona Pletcher yesterday filed a cross-complaint in the Superior Court in the divorce action brought by her husband, Harvey Pletcher, declaring Pletcher bites his finger-nails and has no sense of direction. The wife is represented by Attorney Griffith Jones.

In her complaint Mrs. Pletcher asserts that her husband is extremely nervous and sits for hours biting his nails. She contends that he loses his way when coming home at night and when she runs out to bring him in he becomes angry and curses her because she does not hang out some sort of a sign marking their place.

In his suit for divorce Pletcher accuses his wife of acts of cruelty.

[Copyright, 1929, the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 9.—A striking increase in the number of England's unemployed is shown in the Ministry of Labor figures. The total number of workless in December, 1928, was 1,520,700, which was 249,578 more than two weeks earlier, and 164,397 more than at the same time last year. It is the first time since the general strike that the total has exceeded 1,500,000.

To a certain extent this increase in unemployment is seasonal owing to dismissal of workers engaged in the Christmas trade. The rate of increase, however, is larger than a year ago and represents a disappointment of hopes for England's economic regeneration after the effects of the general strike had worn away. Even at this time two years ago, when recovery from the strike was just beginning, there were 25,000 fewer workless than now.

Ash Tray Urged for Every Auto

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Every motor vehicle operated in California would have to be provided with a receptable to receive and extinguish cigarette and cigar butts and matches if the Legislature passes a bill introduced by Assemblyman Williams of Jacksonville.

SAN JOSE AUTOIST KILLED

SAN JOSE, Jan. 9. (AP)—Sam Vicari, 15 years of age, was killed today, when his sedan skidded on a wet pavement, turned over twice and landed in the path of a Peninsula street car, which struck the automobile.

BILLS OFFERED TO REVISE CODE

Senator Baker Introduces Eleven in Legislature

Tightening of Bail Procedure Purpose of One

Another Would Provide Pay for Prison Labor

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Eleven bills, first of the 1929 program revising California's criminal code, were submitted in the upper house today by Senator Baker of Salinas.

One of the bills would provide that all orders fixing bail and approving bail in felony cases be made in writing before the defendant is released from custody by the police. It would also make it the duty of the District Attorney's office to demand and enforce payment judgments on forfeited bail bonds and would prohibit the courts from accepting any person as surety on bail bonds if unpaid final judgment or forfeited bail bond is outstanding, virtually putting bail-bond brokers out of business until forfeiture of bail is paid.

COMPROMISE? FORBIDDEN

Another bill by Senator Baker would prohibit compromise in criminal cases involving treason, murder, burglary with explosive, robbery, in certain statutory offenses, arson, assault to murder, bribery of public officials, perjury, subornation of perjury, train wrecking and in other cases in which probation is not permitted.

It would further require, in cases adjusted by the District Attorney, that defendant and counsel must become parties to the adjustment and sign statements giving reasons. Violation of the proposed act would constitute misconduct in office and would be grounds for removal from office.

PAY FOR PRISONERS

A bill by Senator Baker would provide for payment of prisoners for labor in State prisons and would expand the activities of the prisons.

Still another of the crime bills would make persons receiving stolen property without diligent inquiry as to its ownership guilty of a felony and declares such persons failing to make inquiry as having accepted the property with knowledge that it was stolen. The burden of proof in cases where investigation had been made would be placed on the person from whom it had been purchased.

Persons charged with kidnaping will face the penalty of death or life imprisonment under provisions of a bill introduced by Assemblyman Arnold of Los Angeles.

Arnold's measure places the crime of kidnaping in the same category as murder and leaves at the discretion of the trial court the degree of guilt and choice of life imprisonment or death.

SIXTY-SIX INTRODUCED

A total of sixty-six bills were introduced in the two houses today, making an aggregate of 349 bills introduced in the Legislature during its first two business days.

Senator Jones of Marysville submitted a measure providing for appropriation of $750,000 for the purchase of land and construction of a women's prison; a similar bill was introduced in the lower house by Assemblywoman Eleanor Miller of Pasadena.

Senator Wagy of Bakersfield introduced a bill providing for a State appropriation of $200,000 for the establishment of a teletype communicating system between California cities and the Bureau of Criminal Identification in Sacramento, and for the operation of the system under direction of the bureau.

LIFE TERMS FOR JUDGES

Gov. Young would be granted power to appoint judges for life to the California Supreme, Superior, Appellate and Municipal courts, if the Legislature passes a bill introduced by Senator Merriam of Long Beach. This is intended to do away with the electoral system of naming judges.

Several bills affecting labor conditions of the State have found their way to committees of both houses. In the Assembly, T. M. Wright of San Jose introduced a measure providing for an act prescribing what emergencies shall permit employing persons more than six days in seven; another introduced by Wright pertains to the keeping of records of hours each person works.

In the Senate a bill was introduced by Edgar S. Hurley of Oakland, amending the child labor law to cover employment of minors at agricultural, viticultural, domestic and theatrical pursuits. Senator Murphy of San Francisco sent in a bill limiting the hours men may be employed in line and cement plants.

EMPLOYMENT PLAN OFFERED

Senator Pellom of San Francisco introduced a bill amending the employment agency law to clearly state what constitutes such an agency and extending the law to cover farm-labor contractors engaged in obtaining workers. Another bill of his would regulate registration fees and provide for a return of fees where no position is obtained.

Employment agency methods also came in for consideration in three bills introduced by Senator Lyon of Los Angeles, calling for their closer supervision by the Labor Commissioner and providing penalty for nonrepayment of fees where employment is not obtained.

Gov. Young urged the legislators today to give serious consideration of an item in his budget message calling for appropriation of $20,000 to defray the expenses of a survey of mental hygiene. He said there is strong need for such a survey as a means of developing a comprehensive and intelligent program for the guidance of the State in solving problems of care, treatment and training of mental defectives in public institutions, of overcrowding in State hospitals and of the follow-up work among mental cases discharged from the hospitals.

Paraguay Will Demobilize Army

ASUNCION (Paraguay) Jan. 9. (AP)—It was formally announced today that President Guggiari tomorrow will sign a decree demobilizing the troops who were called to the colors when the dispute with Bolivia became acute.

TWO BILLS ASK PRISON FOR WOMEN

Measures Introduced in Legislature Providing for Separate Institution

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Two bills providing for the construction of a separate prison for women, an objective long sought by social-service organizations, were introduced simultaneously in both houses of the Legislature today.

Senator Jones of Marysville presented the bill to the Senate—providing for the appropriation of $750,000 for the purchase of land and the construction of a women's prison to house female felons now held at San Quentin in addition to providing cells for habitual misdemeanor offenders with records of five convictions in cases involving moral turpitude.

Assemblywoman Eleanor Miller of Pasadena presented a similar measure to the lower house.

A commission or women's prison board consisting of five persons, three of whom must be women, would be created to administer and conduct the prison, with certain constitutional rights of government, including parole, delegated to the prison board.

Both bills leave selection of a site for the prison in the hands of a commission appointed in 1927.

CITY UTILITIES TAX PROPOSED

New Move Made to Assess Municipal Projects

Amendment Being Backed by State Grange

Rural Districts Pay Unfair Revenue, Says Scudder

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Taxation of municipally owned public utilities on the same basis as those privately owned and managed is proposed in a constitutional amendment submitted to the Legislature today by Assemblyman Scudder of Sebastopol.

The amendment was offered at the request of the California State Grange. It is similar to the measure supported four years ago by the California Farm Bureau Federation, the Farmers' Union and the agriculture legislative committee. After a bitter fight the amendment was defeated in the Assembly as it requires a two-thirds vote for passage. Two years ago a similar bill was introduced but allowed to languish. In the meantime the farmers have been at work on the measure and believe now they have sufficient strength to place the amendment on the ballot at the general election two years hence.

The amendment, if adopted, will hit the Los Angeles Bureau of Power and Light, the San Francisco municipal railway and similar municipal projects, now tax free. According to sponsors of the legislation, approximately $1,200,000 is lost to the State annually from municipally-owned projects. They declare that this soon will, rise to $4,000,000 by reason of completion of the Hetch Hetchy development while if the Los Angeles bureau shares in the distribution of power from the Boulder Canyon dam, the sum will be enormous.

It is proposed to apply the present rate of 1½ per cent on gross income to municipal electric railways and 7½ per cent on gross income on municipal power and gas plants. This is what the privately-owned corporations now are paying.

Under the present tax structure of the State a large proportion of State taxes are paid by the privately owned corporations. City projects evade paying this tax with the result that the districts served by the privately owned plants carry an undue amount of the tax burden.

ALIMONY "CONVICT" ENJOYS IT

Chicago Tailor Who Goes to Cell for Fifth Time in Marital Mix-up Finds Profit Can Be Made from Mending Among His Companions

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Five times David N. Wolin has been committed to jail for failure to pay alimony, and four times he has found it profitable. The fifth time, started today, remains to be seen.

Wolin, a tailor, has discovered there is a genuine market for an expert mender among those who constitute "alimony row" at the jailhouse. Besides, Wolin knows how to dicker, and seldom does he leave the jail without several overcoats obtained at trifling cost from inmates who anticipate having no immediate need for them. Sale of these coats at his place of business on West Washington street means neat profits.

Mrs. Anna Wolin was responsible for his commitment yesterday, charging he was $200 back in alimony payments.

"He usually pays a little after he goes to jail, and then gets out," she told Judge Gemmill.

"He'll stay in six months this time unless he pays in full," said the court.

FOUR LOSE LIVES IN BRITISH RAIL CRASH

ASHCHURCH (Gloucestershire) Jan. 9. (AP)—Four persons, including the engineer, were killed and a number of others injured when an express passenger train traveling fifty miles an hour crashed headon into a freight train in the fog last night. The engine of the express overturned and a number of coaches were smashed.

TARIFF BOOST ON OILS

House Committee of Farm

Present Rates

Duty Against Cited

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. Speeding its tariff program to wind up work on the bill in three days, the House Ways and Means Committee today heard a long list of farm representatives ask a sweeping increase in vegetable oils and fats.

They contended that the tariff rates on oils are "illogical, inadequate and ineffective," and that because of the relationship and dependency of the products the revision is needed.

They contended that the duty of the imported oils under the United States control of the Philippines, which was to control prices here, and relieved ample precedent for levying a duty against the

FILE REPORT ON WATER SURVEY

Engineers Estimate Cost of Dams to Be $30,000,000

Finding Now in Hands of Gov. Young

San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange Areas Involved

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 9.—More than $30,000,000 would be required to carry out projects listed as feasible by the Santa Ana River Survey Commission, it was indicated yesterday when the final report was filed with Gov. Young. The commission makes no definite recommendations as to projects but reports on a long list of dam sites and other works on the river in San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties.

SURPLUS GROUND WATER

The survey demonstrated there is an overdraft of ground water of 82,000 acre feet annually. The safe beneficial consumptive use is 298,000 acre feet, using a thirty-four-year average, and the consumptive use today is 381,000 acre feet. About 45,000 acre feet of water on a fifteen-year average escapes to the ocean. There is an additional waste in Orange county to the sea, bringing the total to 89,000 acre feet. It is estimated that 89,000 acre feet can be recovered. Natural losses from evaporation and other causes are estimated at 82,000 acre feet, of which 45,000 acre feet are recoverable.

If carried to the fullest ultimate development the combined projects would recover 98,000 acre feet of water now lost chiefly through waste into the ocean and evaporation. The report suggests San Bernardino and Riverside counties get additional water from the Colorado River and that Orange county use sewage from Los Angeles. A long list of combination projects on the Santa Ana River is presented; channelizing of the stream and bank protection would cost $8,900,000. This is listed as combination A.

Dams at the junction of Bead Creek and the Santa Ana, Turk Basin in Lytle Creek, Prado and Lower Santiago would cost $19,200,000. This is combination B.

ESTIMATES IN GROUPS

Use of combination B contemplates also the projects in A. Total cost would be $28,100,000. This estimate contemplates a capacity of only 85,000 acre feet for the Prado dam. Orange county, however, contemplates a dam with 180,000 acre-feet, which would add $4,000,000 to the cost, bringing the Prado Dam cost up from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000. The combinations of A and B then would be $32,000,000. The Jurupa dam near Riverside and the Blue Diamond dam are substituted for the Prado dam in combination C. The Jurupa dam would be eighty-five feet high, have a capacity of 65,000 acre feet and cost $7,500,000. The Blue Diamond dam would be 110 feet high, have a capacity of 31,000 acre feet and cost $1,600,000.

ADDITIONAL COST

Combination D provides for the Santa Ana Bear Creek dam, the Turk Basin dam, Jurupa, Blue Diamond and Santiago dams and includes spreading works on the Santa Ana River, Mill Creek, Lytle Creek and Anaheim Channel. The estimated additional cost of the spreading works is $2,000,000. Thus if the spreading works were added to A and B the total cost would be $34,000,000.

If the larger dam at Prado is selected over the smaller dam, various other groupings are listed. Taking in the San Antonio drainage and Yucaipa and San Mateo drainages the result of combinations A and B would be to reduce the run-off of a capital flood at Colton from 90,000 to 50,000 second feet and at Mentone from 52,000 to 30,000 second feet.

Police Quiz Sailor About Child's Death

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—Walter G. Hipple was being requestioned today by police in an effort to learn additional details of his alleged visit to the home of Mrs. Marjorie Campbell Sunday night, where the latter's daughter, Lois Patricia, 2 months old, was discovered fatally beaten.

The infant, whom police say was the object of Hipple's wrath when he returned to the home at 1452 Sixth street and failed to find Mrs. Campbell, died Monday in the County Hospital from a fracture of the skull. A warrant charging murder was sworn out against Hipple by Detective Sergeant O. A. McCallum, who has charge of the investigation of the case.

Hipple is being detained in the City Jail on a technical charge by naval authorities pending official notification from Washington releasing him into the custody of civil authorities.

The death of the infant followed what police say was a day spent by Mrs. Campbell and Hipple in Tia Juana. Hipple returned alone from the border city and upon arriving at the Sixth street address beat the infant into insensibility, police charge.

Hipple has steadfastly denied any knowledge of the injuries which the child received and said that he "does not remember touching any of the children," according to police. In the house with Lois Patricia was her elder sister, Emily, 3, and Chester, 2, police say.

The Coroner's office announced today that an inquest into the death of the child will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Bradley and Woolman funeral establishment. About twelve witnesses will be called, officials estimated today.

TO PRESENT ARGUMENT FOR DUTY

Growers to Ask Higher Tariff on European Citrus Fruits

SANTA PAULA, Jan. 9.—That the Californians, including C. C. Teague of this city, who will appear before the Ways and Means Committee of Congress reviewing the tariff question, will ask half a cent additional tariff on lemons, no additional tariff on oranges and perhaps no additional tariff on walnuts, although that has yet not been determined, was the statement made last evening by C. C. Teague to those attending the dinner given by the county branches of Los Angeles First National Trust and Savings Bank.

In explaining the reason for asking additional tariff on lemons, Mr. Teague said that a careful computation of the costs of production and delivery to the market had been kept over a period of years. In California the average cost was 3½ cents. In Europe the cost of production and delivery to the United States market is only 2 cents, he said. Hence, the additional half-cent protection is to be asked. From 25 to 30 per cent of the lemon crop produced in California goes to the by-product crop because the foreign lemons make it impossible to sell them in the United States.

The speaker was not sure whether any additional tariff would be asked on walnuts or not as the figures showing the "difference in cost in labor and transportation" have not as yet been compiled.

To Build New High School

ONTARIO, Jan. 9. — Whether Fontana will withdraw from Chaffey Union High School district and join with Bloomington and Rialto in organizing a smaller district, with ultimate construction of high-school buildings and organization of school boards will probably be decided at a mass meeting of Fontana citizens tomorrow evening. It is understood Rialto is agitating Fontana's session from the Chaffey district in order that another union high-school district to care for the three communities, Bloomington, Rialto and Fontana, be established. Sentiment in Fontana is said to be against the secession. It is felt that the advantage offered by a small high school as is proposed, are not comparable to those to be found at Chaffey, and several leading Fontana citizens are opposing the move to "go it alone."

Dr. Merton Hill, principal of Chaffey Union High School, has been invited to attend the mass meeting but declared he will make no effort to influence Fontana in its decision.

Two hundred students would be available in Fontana for the proposed new high-school district, the figure including Bloomington and Rialto and outlying districts.

Chaffey Union High School, under leadership of Dr. Hill, has gained a reputation as one of the outstanding high schools of the West.

Halt Payment to Engineer

HAWTHORNE, Jan. 9.—Whether or not S. N. Huddleston, former City Engineer here, will collect a $8000 fee from the city for preparation of plans for a $262,000 sewer system, was problematic today. According to agreement, the City Council was to pay him $4500 Monday night and $1500 within sixty days.

When the Council met, however, they were served with notice of injunction proceedings to prevent payment of the fee. The objection was filed by Walter Blagbra, a citizen, through Hughes & Miller, Los Angles attorneys. The injunction is set for hearing in Department Eight of the Superior Court on the 14th inst.

IMPROVE AIRPORT

TRICITY AIRPORT, Jan. 9.—Three new hangars are under construction here and Bob Cash of San Bernardino, who has taken over the passenger plane service, will have five planes on the field. There are now fifty-three students of the various pilots working under Cash.

Plans are under way to make needed improvements and lengthen runways so that the field can be made a mail stop field. It is hoped to have it the point of collection for air mail from San Bernardino, Colton, Highland, Riverside, Beaumont, Banning, Yucaipa and Redlands.

TOO FRIENDLY WITH FRIEND WIFE

Motorcycle Officers Take Exception to Husband's Loving Gesture As He Passes Woman in Another Machine on Highway, But Flirtation Is Finally Refuted

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 9.—Motorcycle officers can be wrong, it was proved in the case of Capt. and Mrs. H. A. Hammer of San Clemente, former residents of this city.

Capt. and Mrs. Hammer each has an automobile. They drove to Alhambra in the two cars and were on their way home. Mrs. Hammer left first. On Valley Boulevard the captain overtook his wife and passed her. As he was opposite her he turned and blew her a kiss.

That innocent and perfectly proper act didn't look right to two motorcycle cops lurking at a crossing. They pulled alongside Capt. Hammer's car and ordered him to stop.

"Why, I wasn't speeding," said the captain. He thought he had been stopped for a traffic violation.

"That's all right about speeding," replied one of the officers. "You were flirting with that woman in the car you passed. This here flirting on the highways has got to be stopped. Lesses your operator's card."

Capt. Hammer showed his credentials and attempted to convince the officers that the woman ahead was his wife. "Applesauce,' was the gist of their remarks.

So one of the officers set out after Mrs. Hammer while the other remained to guard her husband. After a chase of several miles Mrs. Hammer was overtaken and was escorted back to the captain. Then, and only by the arguments contained in the two registration certificates, both in the name of Capt. Hammer, the officers were convinced that he was not an asphalt shetk. They apologized, sheepishly, and roared away.

VENTURA DOCTOR WINS SUIT

Parents Fail to Collect Damage for Death of Small Daughter

VENTURA, Jan. 9.—Exonerating Dr. S. J. Tillim from blame in connection with the death of Verna Grace Stonaker, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stonaker, who died from an overdose of ether administered by Tillim during an operation for the removal of her tonsils at the Big Sisters' Hospital, Judge Edward Henderson granted a motion for a directed verdict in the doctor's favor at noon today.

Similar motions were granted by the judge in favor of the Big Sisters' Hospital, Mrs. Zora Stepp, the nurse in charge of the operating room at the time of the child's death and Miss Mary Loofbourrow, assistant nurse.

The granting of the three motions came shortly before the noon hour after the jury had been recessed while the court heard the arguments on matters of law. The suit, brought by Mr. and Mrs. Stonaker to collect $30,000 from the four defendants, charged negligence, and had been on trial four days in the Superior Court before a jury composed of ten men and two women. In granting the directed verdict in favor of Tillim, Judge Henderson said. The preponderance of evidence shows that Dr. Carmichael, the anesthetist, was negligent in his failure to test the ether machine, and I cannot surmise why he was not made a party to this action."

Set Date for Bond Election at Glendale

GLENDALE, Jan. 9.—The Board of Education, meeting last night, sent February 3 as the date on which it will call the election to determine whether bonds of $725,000 will be issued to defray the cost of the expansion of the elementary school system. The Glendale Realty Board will be asked to assist the school authorities in obtaining sites for the three schools that it is proposed to erect and Supt. Richardson D. White was instructed to obtain an opinion from the County Counsel regarding the legality of obtaining options on property that may be regarded as suitable for school sites. White cited an opinion of Superior Judge Hahn in which it was held, in the case of the Long Beach schools, that schools have the right to secure options, and if this is confirmed real estate men will be asked to aid in obtaining options on desirable sites.

Mexican Pilot at Mexicali

MEXICALI, Jan. 9.—With the arrival here this week of Capt. Rivera, army pilot from Mexico City, who has been detailed to duty as military and civilian instructor for the northern district of Lower California, flying activities at the local arport have been renewed.

Nelson G. Brittingham was elected president of the Mexicali Aero Club at an organization meeting held yesterday and Gov. Abelardo Rodrigues and Secretary of State Murna Martinez were made honorary presidents. Other officers named were Maj. Ramon Rodrigues Familiar, secretary, and Manuel Herrera, treasurer. The club had ordered a new Waco plane to supplement the Avro and Douglas planes already at the field.

DEPUTY SHERIFF ASKS DIVORCE

VENTURA, Jan. 9.—With the dismissal of her divorce action against Charles Clements, Ventura county deputy sheriff, hardly cold, Mrs. Beatrice Clements found herself today to be a defendant in the same kind of an action. Clements, through Burton Rogers, has filed a complaint for divorce against his wife.

Mrs. Clements charged her husband with staying away from home many nights without telling her where he was, and with refusing to tell her of his business activity. Monday she dismissed the suit.

Now Clements has made this first complaint a cause of action in his own suit charging that it caused him mental suffering. He also says that his wife cared more to work in an Oxnard fruit market than to make a home for him.

The cost of the project will be spread over a special assessment district in the canyon, according to the engineer's office.

CHURCHMEN INDORSE FITTS ADMINISTRATION

GLENDALE, Jan. 9.—Indorsement of the administration of the District Attorney's office under Buron R. Fitts was expressed in a resolution adopted today by the United Church Brotherhood of Glendale, meeting in the Y.M.C.A., in which it was urged that all elements of the citizenship in Los Angeles county lend their support to Fitts in the conduct of his office and in the warfare on crime. The resolution asserts that Los Angeles has suffered for the past few years "through a lax and inefficient and, at times, alleged corrupt administration, and as an organization we pledge our active and continuous cooperation to him and his staff in this battle which has begun to rid Los Angeles county of vice and political corruption." The resolution was introduced by Councilman W. E. Tower after it had been approved by the executive committee with the brotherhoods.

JURY ACQUITS MAYOR

Riverside Executive Found Not Guilty of Criminal Libel

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 9.—Mayor Dighton of this city was found not guilty on a charge of criminal libel this afternoon by a jury in Superior Court with Superior Judge Yankwich of Los Angeles presiding. The case was based upon a newspaper interview given to a Los Angeles afternoon paper by Dighton charging misconduct of the city offices here. He was indicted by the grand jury upon complaint of Irwin Hayden, a citizen.

Tomorrow Dighton will go to trial on a second grand-jury indictment charging misconduct in office. Judge Yankwich will preside again and jurors have been summoned from the Hemet and San Jacinto districts.

Witnesses at today's session included City Auditor Pierson who denied any dishonest or criminal irregularity in his accounts and George Robertson, special accountant employed by the Mayor to audit the city's books.

Robertson said he had found slight errors in the books, but denied that any monetary loss to the city had been located.

The minor errors were corrected, he said, when the attention of the Auditor was called to them.

Two-Time Loser in Bad Again

PASADENA, Jan. 9.—A few drinks of grain alcohol cost Romeo Boyd, a transient resident of this city, less than $2 in money, but may cost him ten years of liberty, it was revealed today. Boyd was arrested last night by Detective Lieutenants O'Rourke and Burlingame and jailed for drunkenness.

As the result of an investigation conducted today by Detective Sergeant Leon Schuhl and Detective Samuel Bailey, it was discovered that Boyd, according to the police, served four years at San Quentin for passing spurious checks, and since being released, has cashed more than 100 checks totaling $3000 in Southern California cities.

Schuhl stated this afternoon that Boyd is wanted on check charges in Long Beach, Monrovia, South Pasadena and San Gabriel. If found guilty on the fictitious-check charges filed against him today, Boyd, as a "two-time loser," may face a ten-year prison sentence, say the officers.

The suspect is reported to have told the officers who identified him that his present predicament resulted from his failure to keep a New Year's resolution against drinking, when he met an old friend here last night.

Valley Has Show Window in City

VAN NUYS, Jan. 9.—Van Nuys and San Fernando Valley have found a new way to advertise themselves in the Los Angeles downtown district. The promotion committee of the valley branch of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, with headquarters at Van Nuys, Frank M. Keffer, chairman, has reserved two windows in the Security Trust and Savings Bank at Seventh and Spring streets, for two weeks, for a San Fernando Valley display of photographs of outstanding parts of the area. There also will be figures and facts showing population increase, miles of paved boulevards and building-permit gains. The County Regional Planning Commission's plan for Cahuenga Pass also will be shown. Considering the large number of persons that pass Seventh and Spring each day, it is believed the display will serve to attract tourists and newcomers to visit the various valley sections.

SPANISH WAR CAMP SEATS NEW OFFICERS

GOLFER LOSES RING

CAHUENGA PARK, Jan. 9.—While playing golf at the Whitley Country Club, Mrs. M. L. Maxwell of Los Angeles left a $350 diamond ring and a wallet with $16 in the side pocket of the door of her automobile. When she finished her game and returned to the car the wallet and ring were gone. San Fernando Valley detectives are investigating the theft.

TWO HURT IN DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

Blast Destroys Tool House at Reservoir Site at San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 9.—Two men were probably fatally hurt early today, when a box of dynamite in the tool house at the site of the city's new 10,000,000-gallon reservoir on Perris Hill, exploded blowing the structure to bits. The explosion was heard throughout the city, three miles to the south.

The injured are Wallace Cambridge of Los Angeles, construction foreman for Patillo & Burnside, contractors, and Clarence Nodurph, 24 years of age, of 732 Fourth street, San Fernandino. Cambridge and Nodurph were at work on an air compressor thirty feet away from the tool house, when the blast occurred. Both were thrown forty feet into the excavated reservoir, suffering severe shock and cuts from flying timbers and rocks. Cambridge's condition was declared by physicians at the Ramona Hospital to be extremely critical.

The fact that construction forces which have been employed on the project were not at work today probably prevented a catastrophe with a great loss of lives, it was admitted.

Schoolboy Hit by Auto

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—Struck by an automobile while on his way to school this morning, Joseph Meriwether, 10 years of age, whose address police have not learned, was taken to the Mercy Hospital suffering what may be fatal injuries. The youth was hit by a car driven by Mrs. Roy Kellerstraus, 28, of 5336 Mission Road, police said. The mishap occurred at Bancroft street and El Cajon avenue.

Hospital attaches report that the boy is suffering from a possible skull fracture and internal injuries. The youth's injuries are believed to have been aggravated by improper handling when he was placed in a private car and taken to the hospital several minutes before the police ambulance arrived at the scene of the accident.

McConnell Neely, sergeant of motorcycle police, pointed out the grave mistake which motorists make by attempting to remove injured persons from the scene of an accident before the ambulance arrives.

In the case today, Neely pointed out that the injured boy probably had several broken ribs. Improper handling necessitated by placing the youth in a private car may have caused the jagged ends of ribs to puncture the lungs, he said.

The Story of the World War

IV—Militarism In Germany

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

NOWHERE IN EUROPE IN 1914 WAS THE COMBINATION OF AGGRESSIVE NATIONALISM AND MILITARY PREPAREDNESS MORE CONSPICUOUS THAN IN GERMANY. THE ORDERLY, INDUSTRIOUS GERMAN PEOPLE WERE COMPLETELY DOMINATED BY THEIR MILITARISTIC KAISER, WILLIAM II, WHO CHERISHED A VISION OF HIS COUNTRY AS ANOTHER ROME WITH HIMSELF IN THE ROLE OF JULIUS CAESAR.

THE KAISER SCOFFED AT DEMOCRATIC IDEALS AND METHODS. "I WILL PUT MY TRUST IN THE ARMY," HE SAID IN 1889. DURING HIS REIGN THE GERMAN ARMY BECAME A MAGNIFICENT FIGHTING MACHINE: THE GERMAN NAVY SECOND ONLY TO THAT OF GREAT BRITAIN IN SIZE. MOST OF THE TIME THE EMPEROR WENT ABOUT IN GLITTERING UNIFORMS, AND WAS ALWAYS PARADING GERMANY'S ARMED STRENGTH.

THE KAISER BOASTED OF GERMANY'S "GOOD SWORD" AND "SHINING ARMOR". SEVERAL TIMES (1905, 1909, 1911), HE SHOOK THE "MAILED FIST" AT OTHER NATIONS, AND EACH TIME WAR WAS NARROWLY AVERTED. GERMAN OFFICERS DRANK TOASTS TO "DER TAG" (THE DAY) WHEN GERMAN MILITARY SUPERIORITY SHOULD ASSERT ITSELF. THE EMPEROR'S WARLIKE GESTURES ALARMED OTHER NATIONS.

IN 1914 GERMANY WAS ARMED TO THE TEETH. HER MIGHTY WAR MACHINE AWAITED ONLY A STROKE OF THE KAISER'S PEN TO SET IT IN MOTION AGAINST THE ENEMIES OF THE FATHERLAND. LOOKING OVER EUROPE, GERMANY SAW HER RIVALS DISTRACTED WITH DOMESTIC DISSENSIONS AND INTERNAL TURMOIL.

PLANE BUILT TO CARRY SCORE PROVES SUCCESSFUL IN TESTS

NEWARK (N. J.) Jan. 9. (AP)—The largest airplane ever built in this country, a twenty-passenger cabin plane of unusual construction, today had vindicated the theories of its 34-year-old designer.

The plane made four test flights yesterday, carrying fifteen passengers, and after another week of tests it is planned to fly the machine to Washington and then across the continent to San Francisco.

The designer is Vincent J. Burnelli, who planned the craft to minimize the drag of the fuselage. The body is twelve feet wide and has its two motors set side by side in the nose and fully inclosed. The contour of the fuselage is streamlined, as also is the wing section, to convert the usual drag unit into an airfoil with considerable lifting qualities.

Construction of the plane was financed by Paul W. Chapman, New York and Chicago financier. It is planned to put it in passenger service as the first of a fleet of twenty or more.

The plane has a fuel capacity of 1000 gallons and can make 2400 miles at a cruising speed of 115 miles an hour. It has a wing span of ninety feet and is forty-seven feet long. It is of all-metal construction.

The cabin interior is luxuriously furnished, including running water, kitchen and steward service. There are twelve upholstered swivel chairs before the windows and two center lounges. The walls of the cabin are soundproof to lessen the din of the exhaust.

On its test flights yesterday the plane was operated by Lieut. Leigh Wade, one of the pilots on the Army 'round-the-world flight of 1924, who now is a test pilot for Skylines, owners of the plane.

are understood to be preparing their respective cases when the point at issue is brought up formally for debate between both countries. That this stage will be reached when Ambassador Morrow returns is believed most likely by local observers who feel that the Boulder dam question will likely be brought to a head with Morrow, return late this month, and that he will be called upon by both governments to seek an equitable understanding that will protect the rights of all concerned.

The question promises to involve an intricate study of the problem that will require close examination of existing treaties between both countries dating back to agreements made three-quarters of a century ago when the existing division line was agreed upon.

PREPARATION FOR NEGOTIATION UNDER WAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Preparations are under way for negotiation of an agreement with Mexico on the distribution of the waters of the lower Colorado River, it was learned in an authoritative quarter today.

Necessity for an understanding arises from the fact that the Boulder dam project recently authorized by Congress carries no notice to Mexico of the amount of water she may permanently use out of the river. Informal conversations on the subject are understood to have taken place both here and in Mexico City, but formal negotiations have not yet been begun.

Whether formal opening of the subject will be initiated by the United States or Mexico apparently has not been determined. The attitude of Mexico is said to be that this country should make the first move, as no ground for protest would exist until the proposed dam is constructed and Mexico's use of the water actually affected.

It is conceded the problem must be dealt with and official opinion in Washington seems to be the matter must be settled definitely before construction work is started. There also appears to be little doubt here that once negotiations are opened an agreement satisfactory to both countries can be reached.

From a technical point of view officials in Washington doubt that the United States is compelled to recognize any right of Mexico to the waters of the Colorado, but on the other hand, it is freely conceded that international good will demands consideration of any reasonable demands Mexico may advance.

Both countries, it is understood, are ready to state their cases at the appropriate time and when Ambassador Morrow leaves for Mexico City a few weeks hence it is expected he will be fully prepared to deal with any phases of the matter the Mexican Foreign Office may care to bring to his attention.

DERN GRATIFIED BY CALIFORNIA'S ACTION

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 9. (AP)—Gratification at California's ratification of the seven-State Colorado River pact was expressed today by Gov. Dern of Utah, who said that "action by California practically assures the success of the Boulder dam, as six States are all that is necessary and the upper-basin States were in accord on the pact before."

"I am glad to hear of California's prompt action," he added, "and I hope now that Arizona sees fit to follow her example."

RADIO LICENSE FEES PROPOSED

Commission Chairman Gives Views to Committee

Sense of Responsibility for Stations Wanted

New Reduction in Number of Permits Desired

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Chairman Robinson of the Federal Radio Commission told the House Merchant Marine Committee today that he favors imposition of substantial license fees on broadcasting stations. He appeared for questioning during consideration of the White bill to continue the life of the Radio Commission for another year.

Representative Reid, Republican, Illinois, suggested that an amendment to the Radio Act of 1927 be drawn up to clear confusion in broadcasting and reception and asked Robinson to make recommendations.

REASON OFFERED

Robinson expressed the opinion that license fees should cover the administrative cost of the commission. He said that among broadcasting stations "not all of them recognize their trusteeship," and that a reasonable license fee might "impress them with their responsibility to the public."

He opposes use of broadcasting stations as "private mouthpieces" particularly referring to station WENR, Chicago, which he said is controlled by the Insull interests. He told the committee he had opposed granting it a license both because it is a "private mouthpiece" and because the Chicago area is crowded and has "more deserving" stations, but that it is "not easy to deny a license to a station after it is granted one."

REDUCTION URGED

Reid said he proposes to offer an amendment to set up a standard for the granting of radio licenses. Robinson expressed opposition to the present policy of having each commissioner control a zone and said he favors reduction of the number of broadcasting stations.

Louis G. Caldwell, general counsel of the Radio Commission, submitted to Chairman White of the committee, recommendations for changes in the 1927 act. Among them are suggestions that the engineering and legal divisions of the commission should be liberated from the requirements of the civil service and the classification board, and that the act be clarified so as to define the powers of the commission. The recommendations in general are to clarify technical difficulties arising from the wording of the act.

BULLFIGHTS WANE IN MEXICO CITY

Newspaper Says Spectacles Near End Because of Heavy Taxes

EL PASO (Tex.) Jan. 9. (AP) The newspaper El Continental predicts today that bullfights will soon disappear in Mexico City because of the heavy taxes imposed on them by the government.

The new regulations impose a 25 per cent "cut" of the gross income as a tax to the Federal government. El Continental says the corridas will be discontinued by the promoters because patronage does not justify the heavy expenses involved.

The paper says the next bullfight, scheduled in Mexico City for the 13th inst., will be the last there.

Flu in South Shows Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Large increases in influenza reported in southern States sent the total for the country at large up to 195,553 new cases for the week ending the 5th inst., reports to the Public Health Service showed today, compared with 162,288 cases reported the preceding week.

Public health officials noted, however, that the new figures were smaller than for the week ending December 22 and they believe that the 252,014 cases reported for that week probably represented the peak of prevalence for the entire country.

CROATS OUSTED FROM COUNCILS

Jugo-Slavian Peasant Party Barred from Forum

King Alexander's "Reforms" Hit Minority Hard

Strict Censorship Smothers Voice of Protest

ZAGREB (Croatia) Jan. 9. (AP)—Gloom and pessimism have displaced the jubilant spirit in which the Croats at first received King Alexander's recent sweeping reforms, this depression being greatly intensified by inauguration of a strict censorship of letters, telegrams and newspapers.

The feeling is growing among the Croats that henceforth they will be regarded as common rebels by the Belgrade military government.

When the leaders of the Croation Peasant party went to the Zagreb Provincial Diet building today to hold a meeting to decide upon their future attitude toward the Belgrade "dictatorship," they found that the Belgrade authorities had locked and sealed all the doors and had surrounded the building with gendarmes, who told them they had no business there.

Thereupon the leaders and thirty former Deputies in the Jugo-Slavian Parliament proceeded to another building for their meeting.

Thus far neither the newspapers nor the political leaders here have commented openly on the character of the new government. A dispatch received from Belgrade says that Howard W. Kennard, British Minister to Jugo-Slavia, had a long talk yesterday with the new Minister of Justice, giving rise to reports that Great Britain was not altogether satisfied with King Alexander's action in restricting the freedom of the press and creating an absolutist regime.

HALF DALMATIAN TOWN ARRESTED FOR MURDER

SPALATO (Dalmatia, Jugo-Slavia) Jan. 9. (AP)—Fifty per cent of the population of the town of Drinis, near here, were arrested today and charged with murder. They were said to have been members of a mob of a thousand or more men, women and children who recently stoned to death Bozo Ajdanic, burgomaster of the town.

He was unpopular among the natives and when he returned from a visit to the country he was waylaid at night.

PUBLIC ASSEMBLAGES IN KINGDOM BARRED

BELGRADE (Jugo-Slavia) Jan. 9. (AP)—All public assemblage in the kingdom was forbidden today. The order came from Gen. Zivkovitch, Premier, on behalf of the King. The decree stated that the measure was taken to terminate all political discussions.

SIOUX NOSE-BITER GOES TO PRISON

Brave Who Disfigured Squaw Must Serve Term for Maiming Woman

SISSETON (S. D.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Amos White, Sioux Indian, who bit off the end of his wife's nose so she would be less attractive to other Indian men, was sentenced to two years and eight months in the State penitentiary at Sioux Falls by Judge Babcock in Circuit Court here last night. He was charged with maiming.

Pathetic Scene Marks Funeral for Grand Duke

CANNES (France) Jan. 9. (AP)—Funeral services for Grand Duke Nicholas were conducted here today and his body was placed temporarily in a crypt in the little Russian church before 200 prominent members of the Russian and European nobility.

At least 5000 Russian exiles of all walks of life crowded the church yard and near-by lanes, the size of the church preventing all from entering.

The scene was pathetic beyond the ordinary as the Russian officers appeared in moth-eaten uniforms and many of the women were poorly garbed, even members of the former Russian royalty showing signs of their privations.

NEW-INDUSTRY DRIVES AIRED

Secretary of Commerce Questions Values

Business Groups' Officers Told Plan Often Bad

Aiding Established Plants Declared Preferable

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The value of "drives" for new industries by chambers of commerce and other business organizations in some cases was questioned today by Secretary of Commerce Whiting in an address before officers and directors of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries. The meeting was also attended by chamber of commerce secretaries and district office representatives of the Department of Commerce.

Secretary Whiting said he did not wish to be misunderstood in the matter, but declared that not every community was able to meet the specialized requirements of industry and that there were cases where new factories might conceivably be a jarring or disruptive force.

He said he believed that in many cases a chamber of commerce or other business organization might more judiciously devote its efforts to increasing the efficiency and profits of industries that the community already had.

The work of bringing home to business men the "dollars and cents" value of economic figures was spoken of by Secretary Whiting as important work for chambers of commerce. In this connection he mentioned the retail trade board of the Boston chamber and its study of the "returned goods" problem. The result, Secretary Whiting said, was a saving of thousands of dollars to retail merchants of Boston.

He said there was little likelihood of collisions between the work of trade associations and chambers of commerce, since the organizations were basically noncompetitive, with divergent aims. He declared also that the Department of Commerce scrupulously sought the avoidance of competition with chambers of commerce. In the domestic commerce field, the Secretary said, the department is carrying out regional surveys designed to help the retailer and that there were many opportunities for co-operation by chambers of commerce.

New Western Express Chief Makes Announcement

Stock Exchange Basis Set at Twenty-five for One

Approximate Value of Shares When Issued $20

Formal announcement to stockholders of the Western Air Express, Inc., of the reorganization of the company under Delaware laws to provide for a larger capitalization and for the division of shares into smaller units, was made yesterday by Harris M. Hanshue, president.

A new corporation has been formed under the name of the Western Air Express Corporation with an authorized capital of $6,000,000, divided into 600,000 shares of $10 par value. Directors have authorized the issuance of twenty-five shares of its capital stock for each share of the old stock provided a majority of stockholders of the old company consent to the transfer.

When this exchange has been effected, each present owner will have twenty-five shares of the new stock for each share of the old, which amounts in effect to a stock dividend of 150 per cent.

Permission has been granted by the Corporation Commissioner to issue 20 to 75 shares of the new stock out of the 600,000 shares authorized. There will be no public offering of the 100,000 shares which the Western Air Express Corporation may sell under the permit just granted. No immediate issuance of the stock is contemplated since the company's cash position does not require additional capital at this time, according to the report. It is understood that the balance of the stock will be privately placed at not less than $12 a share.

Exchange offer expires February 1. On the basis of the present market price of the old stock, new shares will have a value of more than $20 a share.

Directors and officers named for the new corporation are only temporary and probably will be replaced by those of the Western Air Express, Inc., it was intimated yesterday, following the completion of the exchange of shares. Delivery of new Fokker planes recently ordered is said to be progressing satisfactorily, and should be completed shortly.

Bay City Banks Score Gains in Last Half Year

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—A tabulation of statements following the official call of the Comptroller of Currency and State Superintendent of Banks issued December 31, 1928, discloses the fact that San Francisco banks reported combined surplus, undivided profits and reserves of $106,946,588, as contrasted with a combined total paid-in capital stock of $98,000,000, and combined surplus and undivided profits of June 30, of $107,328,675, for the same ten banks. These figures exclude only the United Security Bank and Trust Company which has recently acquired the Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles.

This increase in combined surplus accounts is after all dividends and extras paid during the last six months, and does not take into consideration $500,000 transferred from the Crocker First National Bank to the newly formed Crocker First Company. These figures are brought out in the tenth semiannual tabulation of San Francisco bank statistics published by the brokerage house of Leib, Keyston & Co.

Total deposits were $1,694,647,188, as compared with $1,603,614,992 as of June 30, an increase of $91,032,196. Every bank reported an increase in deposits for the period, the Bank of Italy leading with an increase of $31,490,000, the American Trust Company having an increase of $16,272,873, the Wells Fargo Bank and Trust Company $5,668,118, and the Crocker First National Bank $5,341,-289.

NEW BANK IN SELECT LIST

Guaranty of New York Reports Resources of More Than $1,000,000,000; Ranks Fourth

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Banking history in the city of New York in 1928 was marked by the entrance of a third bank, the Guaranty Trust, into the billion-dollar group. For the first time this bank passed on December 31, last, into the select list with total resources of $1,083,000,000, ranking behind the Chase National and the National City.

Chicago has its $1,000,000,000 bank in the newly formed Continental National Bank and Trust Company, and California puts forth the Transamerica Corporation as its most plausible claimant to $1,000,-000,000 honors. Transamerica, however, is a holding company, and does not strictly come within the banking interpretation.

CHICAGO RANKS THIRD

According to October 3, last, figures, the Continental National of Chicago, with resources of $1,078,-000,000, ranked ahead of the Guaranty Trust of New York, and is the third largest bank in the United States. The National City of New York showed more than $1,505,-000,000 in October, and the Chase National, $1,150,000,000.

Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association reported on December 31, last, total resources of $967,900,000, the largest bank in California. These figures are included in the statement of the Transamerica Corporation, the holding company for the Bank of Italy group.

When the Bank of America of California and the Bank of America of New York are taken into the Transamerica Corporation, which is supposed to be the next step in the progress of the holding company, the total resources will show a sizable increase. The two will add resources of about $800,000,000, bringing the total to approximately $1,883,000,000.

Included in the Transamerica group are the National Bancitaly Company, Bank of Italy Mortgage Company, California Joint Stock Land Bank, Capital Company, Americommercial Company, Pacific National Fire Insurance Company, Bancitaly Corporation, etc.

OTHERS COME CLOSE

Entrance of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York into the $1,000,000,000 class is the result of its own expansion, not from merger. The American Exchange Irving Trust Company comes very close to the coveted honor on the basis of its December 31 figures, with resources of $895,100,000.

The Bankers' Trust of New York is also within striking distance with resources of more than $773,000,000.

Besides standing at the top of the nation's banks in resources, the National City reports, following the ratification by stockholders of the capital increase, a total capitalization of $150,000,000, surplus of the same amount, and more than $11,-000,000 in undivided profits.

Standard Deal for Beacon Oil Gets Approval

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (Exclusive) Directors of the Beacon Oil Company have accepted an offer tendered by Standard Oil of New Jersey for the purchase of the former company on a basis of one share of Standard for two and one-fourth shares of Beacon, it was announced today. Exchange must be made on or before the 19th inst. Sale of 250,000 shares of Beacon to Standard also was authorized at the meeting.

This purchase will bring the New Jersey Company into direct competition with Standard Oil of New York, as Beacon operates almost exclusively in New England and New York. Beacon is a marketing and refining company.

Beacon Oil Company has outstanding 815,381 common shares, $2,302,800 7½ per cent cumulative preferred, and about $5,500,000 funded debt, including that of its subsidiaries.

BANK MERGER SIGNIFICANT

Formation of Holding Company for Group in Northwest Seen as Move to Improve Conditions

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Announcement of the merger of three powerful banks in three States in the Middle West is extremely significant of the new trend in banking.

E. W. Decker, president of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis, announces the formation of a new holding company to control not only the Northwestern National Bank, its four affiliated Minneapolis banks, and the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company of Minneapolis, but also the First National Bank and Trust Company of Fargo, N. D., and the First National Bank of Mason City, Iowa, with combined resources of $142,000,000.

While the name of the new company has not yet been made public, it is understood it will be descriptive of the territory served.

"Banking conditions in the Northwest have reached a point where they should be stabilized, and the people to stabilize them should be the bankers," said Mr. Decker to the writer, in discussing the consolidation.

Negotiations are pending with other powerful banks in the Middle West to join the new merger, for the present unit is merely a nucleus around which other very large and powerful banks in the Middle West will center.

Mr. Decker, president of the new company, Minnesota born, has the distinction of having been not only the president of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis for seventeen years, but the oldest employee of the bank, for he started forty-two years ago, at the age of 17, as messenger boy.

Mr. Decker, a leading figure in the Northwest banking field for a generation, is also a director of the Twin City Rapid Transit Company, and a director of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company.

His reputation as a public speaker and story-teller are well known. Here is a Decker story:

Before the days of the Federal Reserve banks most of the country banks of Minnesota were accustomed to carrying their deposit reserves in New York, Chicago and other reserve centers. It was the only way known.

In the panic of 1907, getting money from a bank was the most difficult of operations. A country banker from a small town in Northern Minnesota who carried his cash reserve in the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis called Mr. Decker on long-distance telephone and asked for some cash to be sent to his bank. Mr. Decker replied that as he could not get money from New York and Chicago, it was impossible to grant the country banker's request.

"At this critical time every bank must stand on its own bottom," said Mr. Decker to the country banker.

"Yes, that is true, Ed, but the trouble is, you have got my bottom."

The Federal Reserve Act, fortunately, brought an end to that type of banking.

One thing is certain. No nation has ever gone into road construction at such an amazing pace as has the United States during the last ten years.

Roy D. Chapin, chairman of the highway committee, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, says that in less than ten years the public has voted virtually $10,000,000,000 to the construction and maintenance of roads, or enough to defray our cost in the World War, excluding foreign loans.

No public roads improvement in any era has remotely approximated the expenditure of these projects, and it is notable that the fest of

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (AP)—Investment buying brought some support into the bond market today. While price movements in the general list again were irregular and trading was not particularly active, a few industrials and rails showed marked improvement. Convertibles made small gains on buying encouraged by recovery of the stock market. The general tone of the market reflected easier money rates and the clearing of the atmosphere of apprehension over credit conditions. Total sales were $9,031,000.

A few new high records were established. Anaconda Copper is moving to a new peak at 154, or nearly 2 points above its previous high. Public Service of New Jersey 6% preferred, more than 2 points to a new top at 107, without influencing a general advance of the utility group.

Gains and losses were distributed throughout the rest of the industrial list. Issues active at higher levels included Barnsdall B, which advanced 2 points, and most of the other oils. Allegheny Steam 6½s, Goodyear Tire 8s, Loew 6s, United States Steel 5s, Wilson-Brunner Steel convertible 7s, National Dairy Products 5½s, International Paper 5s A and Paths Exchange 7s.

Price trends similarly were mixed in the rail group. Canadian National Railways 4½s of 1957 broke more than 6 points to a new low record 85, while the 4½s of 1935 made a fractional gain. Rock Island refunding 4s, New York Susquehanna and Western 4½s, Western Maryland 4s, St. Paul 5s and others improved in the face of declines of Missouri Pacific issues, Erie 4s, Oregon Short Line 4s and Prince 6½s.

Strength of Latin-American issues was a feature of the irregular foreign list. United States government obligations again were soft.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the zeros is omitted when the sales is even, and both low and close when same as high.

The following information has been summarized from a letter dated January 4, 1929, from Mr. E. M. Nutting, Vice-President of the Seaboard Dairy Credit Corporation:

BUSINESS

The Company and its predecessor, Seaboard Acceptance Co., have since May 1925 been engaged in the business of making secured loans on milk producing dairy cattle. The Company fills a distinct economic need and the business is an essential industry, fundamentally sound and but little affected by market fluctuations and periodic variations in demand. The business of the Company is based entirely upon well secured loans on dairy cows, always guaranteed by one and usually two names. The loan in no case exceeds two-thirds of the value of the security. Dairy cows produce sufficient net return to pay off the loan and are free from any material depreciation while held as security. Since its inception the Company and its predecessor operating under the same management, have made a profit in each year of operation. Total volume of loans to date exceeds $12,000,000 upon which the credit losses have been less than 1/10 of 1%.

The Company's loans are of two classes:

(A) Monthly installment contracts purchased from dealers financing the dairymen's purchase of milk producing cows.

(B) Temporary loans made to approved dealers desiring to purchase milk producing cows for resale to dairymen. Advances are made against a bill of sale after the dealer has pledged either cash or sufficient additional collateral.

In both classes of loans title to the cow is held by the Company until the loan is paid.

In addition to income from financing the Company derives revenue for its services in connection with auction by dealers of dairy cows, the shipment or sale of which the Company is financing.

EARNINGS

Annual net earnings of the predecessor Company, after the deduction of all charges, including Federal Income Taxes, but before interest on bank loans, based upon the accounts certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., Public Accountants, for the two years and nine months ending September 30, 1928, and applying there against the average amount of capital used, gives the following results:

	Net Earnings	Av. Amt. of Capital Used
1926	$89,441.44	$18,500
1927	202,391.94	1,141,500
1928	307,571.89	1,287,000

Net earnings for the year 1928 were more than 3¼ times the dividend requirements on this issue of Preferred Stock, and at the rate of $2.70 per share on the Common Stock.

PREFERRED STOCK EQUITY

At the completion of this financing as shown by the balance sheet prepared by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., the outstanding Series A Preferred Stock will have an equity of over $198 per share.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

Proceeds from the sale of this stock will be used for the purpose of retiring outstanding bank loans and to provide additional working capital for the Company.

The 1928 assessed valuation of the land, exclusive of improvements, in this district was $1,570,220. The limits of the city were extended in 1928, and the total assessed valuation of the municipality for this year is $11,586,280.00.

These bonds are issued for the construction and installation of sidewalks, curbs, gutters, lights and grading of streets in the district, which lies between Southern Avenue and the northerly limits of the City of Lynwood, and is bounded on the West by Long Beach Boulevard and on the East by Atlantic Avenue.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Advancing prices marked today's trading on the San Francisco Stock Exchange, bulges sending a number of the issues to new record highs.

The vitality exhibited was all the more astonishing in view of the cautious wire letters sent out by brokerage houses this morning, that the market was approaching a crucial period and that prices would probably take a reactionary trend.

Today's trading was another proof of the axiom that the market can be relied upon to do the unexpected. Hesitancy was the way to buy, although a few of the gains were lost on the afternoon trading.

New record highs were registered in Clorox, American Motors Transportation, and Magnin.

Clorox opened at 47, advanced to 50 and eased to 49½, netting 3¾ on the day's trading. Magnin started at 38½, climbed to 39 and settled to close at 38¾, a gain of 2¾. American Motors Transportation opened at 32, dropped to 30½ and then up to 34 before closing at 33½.

Crown Zellerbach opened at 84½, touched 85, dipped to 84¾, and recovered to 84¾ up ¾. Byron Jackson started at 83½, sold off to 83 and moved up to 84½, closing at 84, a gain of ½ point. Under the leadership of Standard Oil of California, the oil stocks were strong. Standard opened at 50½, touched 50 7/8 and closed at 50¾, appreciation ¼. Union Oil rose from 38 to 38½, up ½, and Union Associates from 41 to 41¾, up ¾. Richfield strengthened from 49 to 49½, while Shell Union was off ¼ at 29¾.

In the banking issues Trans-America started at 131½, touched 132, fell back to 131¼ and closed at 131¾, off ¼. The American Commerce receded from 143 to 142, off 3 points from the close of yesterday.

Total bonds, $1000; stocks, 71,930 shares of $5,128,000 market value.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Uneasiness which characterized trading in Tuesday's session was dispelled as an undertone of confidence crept into operations yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. General trading showed a tendency to strengthen while industrial, bank and oil stocks were in better demand at increased prices. Price cutting by independent service station owners failed to place additional pressure on the oil group and quotations presented a better appearance over the previous session.

Irregularity of Boisa Chica Oil "A" was attributed to a series of rumors concerning the probable exchange of stock in the newly completed merger with Gilmore & Athey. The stock showed weakness at the opening, declining to 3.30, but support was supplied later in the day and the final sale was recorded at 3.50, up 20 cents net. Rio Grande new was traded in considerable volume and showed a net gain of 1¼ net. Other gains recorded in the oil group included Signal, Barnsdall, Richfield, Standard and Pacific Western.

Piggly Wiggly Western, Trans-America Corporation and Pacific Finance common were the features of the miscellaneous group, each recording a fractional gain over yesterday's close.

Bank stocks were in slight demand with prices fractionally lower, while the industrial list presented a series of price changes generally in advance of the previous day's trading. BLAIR & Co.

Steel Rails and Gold Spikes welded a Continent, May 10, 1869

Shortly after the inauguration of President Grant, a railroad tie of polished laurel from California was set in place at Promontory Summit, Utah. It bore the inscription, "The last tie laid on the completion of the Pacific Railroad, May 10, 1869". The driving of two gold and two silver spikes completed the formality of joining two bands of steel rails which were the first to span the American continent.

Among the notable group of early railroad builders present at this historic ceremony was John I. Blair, a pioneer both in constructing and financing American railroads. He was one of the founders of the Chicago North Western system . . . he helped build the Lackawanna and the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri railroads. He raised capital in the East to build railroads, East and West.

John I. Blair founded Blair & Company, now a national and international banking organization. This organization has since been associated with the development of such railroads as Missouri Pacific, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian National and Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio.

For a generation Blair & Company has assisted in constructive financing, both domestic and foreign. The benefits of this unusually broad experience and intimate knowledge are available to investors.

STOCKS RENEW UPWARD TREND

tion. Wall street also awaits the action of the Bank of England tomorrow with some trepidation. If the bank raises its rediscount rate, a rise in the New York rate in the not far-distant future will be regarded as a practical certainty.

Bankers were inclined to the opinion today, however, that the New York Reserve Bank will await the results of the increases in its bankers' acceptance rates, and that a jump in its rediscount rate would be preceded by increases in the rates of the four reserve banks still on a 4 1-2 rate.

The day's news was notably bullish. The steel trade reviews reported a marked acceleration in activity, with Chicago mills running at 87 per cent of capacity, and the average for United States Steel Corporation mills, 86 per cent. F. W. Woolworth increased its dividend rate from $5 to $6 annually, and Archer Daniels Midland declared a 100 per cent stock dividend in addition to raising its annual rate from $3 to $4. In the petroleum industry, Standard of New Jersey arranged to acquire Beacon Oil, and there was a rumor that Superior and Louisiana would merge.

Steel shares were prominent in the upturn. United States Steel forged ahead 6 points, in anticipation that its unfilled tonnage report tomorrow will be particularly favorable. Bethlehem, Colorado Fuel and Iron and Vanadium also forged ahead. A. M. Byers moved up on granting of rights.

Motors also took a definite turn for the better, with the General Motors old stock mounting more than 9 points to 204 3-4 on its last day of trading. Only the new stock will be traded in beginning tomorrow. The old reached a peak of 224 3-4 last year. Chrysler, Studebaker, Packard and Pierce-Arrow issues also forged ahead.

Merchandising shares made the most striking gains, led by National Bellas Hess, which made an extreme gain of more than 14 points. May Department Stores gained nearly 8 points. Coppers also showed renewed strength. Curtiss and Wright aeros made extreme gains of about 6 points.

General American Tank Car touched a new peak at 102, up more than 6 points, in expectation of a 6 per cent stock dividend declaration in addition to the regular cash dividend at the January 25 meeting, and as a result of new buying by the railroads. Some of the amusement shares were strong, particularly Loew's. There were unconfirmed rumors of a merger with Fox, although the buying was largely attributed to improved earnings.

Sinclair Oil encountered good buying on reports that dividends will be resumed after a 5-year lapse at the next meeting. Superior and Louisiana improved on merger talk, but Beacon encountered selling on the announcement of acquisition by Standard of New Jersey.

Radio made an extreme gain of about 12 points, but lost half of it. Case Threshing sold off 15 points at one time, while Archer Daniels Midland and Woolworth encountered "selling on the good news" of the dividend actions. National Lead yielded 4 points.

The commodity markets were generally firm. Cotton overcame early heaviness and closed with most positions substantially higher on bullish reports from dry goods markets, although trading was dull. Wheat was strong on reports that the weather had damaged the winter crop, and corn improved as storms hampered the movement to the markets.

Foreign exchanges were quiet, with sterling slightly firmer, although a number of European currencies eased.

Corn Futures Climb to New High on Crop

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—There was a material increase in speculative interest in grains. Houses that have heretofore been confining their operations almost exclusively to the stock market came into the corn market as free buyers and with general buying by shorts and commission houses, all deliveries advanced to a new high on the crop. The finish was at the best figures with net gains of 2¾@3c, with March 91@91⅛, and May 94@94⅛. Wheat at the top showed 3¾@3⅝c over the low of last Saturday and is now back to above the price from which the recent sharp decline started. The close was at 1.16⅛@1.16⅝ on March, and 1.19⅛@1.19¾ on May, with net gains of 1¼@1⅜c. March oats acted tight and closed 1⅛c higher at 49⅛c, the best figure on the crop, while the deferred futures were ⅛@1c higher, May being 49¾@49⅝, and July 47¾, the latter selling at a new high for the season. Rye was dull but firmer, and closed 1⅛@1⅛c higher with March 1.04⅛, May 1.08⅝.

A pronounced shortage in food grains in Europe has been the basis for the strong undertone which has prevailed in the American corn market for a considerable period, but the speculative trade has been too light to absorb the profit-taking that appeared on the bulges. However, there was much less pressure than anticipated during the day and aggressive buying uncovered stop-loss orders, and sellers of daily and weekly offers were forced to protect themselves on the way up. Many bulls were caught without any holdings of grain of consequence and there was free buying to reinstate recently sold out lines.

Aggregate production of corn, oats and barley in European countries that have reported so far in 1928, was 52,765,000 tons, or nearly 1,000,000 tons under the relatively small crops of 1927, and over 7,000,000 tons less than in 1926. The corn crop alone shows a decrease of about 25 per cent compared with 1927. There was an almost utter absence of old corn in either Europe or North America before the new crop becomes available and stocks of old grain in Argentina are now unusually small and the crop in the latter country is at the critical period of its development with rain needed. Buenos Aires May closed ⅝c higher at 83⅜, Rosario 1⅛c higher at 82⅛. Old crop months were 1⅛@2⅛c higher in Argentina.

European demand for cash corn was more active with sales of 200,000 bushels at the seaboard, and local handlers sold 35,000 bushels to exporters. The bulge in futures brought in a marked increase in country offerings to arrive, with purchases placed at 300,000 bushels to come here.

A heavily oversold condition was regarded as existing in all of the leading wheat markets of the world, and foreigners have permitted supplies of cash wheat to decrease to a point where it was imperative to come in as heavy buyers. In the past three days export sales of North American wheat have exceeded 4,000,000 bushels, largely Manitobas, and the removal of hedges against this grain has been a factor in bringing about a higher level of values. There was heavy spreading and backspreading under way between here and Winnipeg during the day. The latter closed 1½c higher, with Liverpool up 1¼d, and Buenos Aires was 1⅛c higher with May at 1.14⅛. Pressing and thawing weather prevailed over a good part of the winter wheat belt.

Despite selling of lard by packing interests, buying by commission houses and shorts was of sufficient magnitude to absorb the offerings and with the advance of corn, there was increased buying of lard futures which carried prices up and made the close 8c higher for the day. Short ribs were marked up to 10@12½c with light trading, and January bellies gained 2½c, while March lost 8c and other futures were unchanged.

Commission houses and shorts were on the buying side of oats, and trade was the largest in some time. Strength in corn and lack of pressure of cash grain were the main influences. Action of wheat was the main factor in rye.

The Bullard Company (formerly The Bullard Machine Tool Company) is the outgrowth of a business which was established in Bridgeport, Conn., in 1880, and is today one of the leading manufacturers in the United States of high speed automatic labor saving machinery. The field for the Company's products is unusually broad and embraces practically every industry in which iron and steel products are made. Bullard machines are in use by important railroad companies throughout the country and by such industrial corporations as American Can Company, Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Ford Motor Company, General Electric Company, General Motors Corporation, Otis Elevator Company, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and Wright Aeronautical Corporation.

Since 1901 the Company has paid dividends on its common stock in every year but five. Net profits, as certified by Messrs. Arthur Andersen & Co., excluding (a) net profits or losses from operations of an automobile bumper division which was discontinued in January, 1928, and (b) interest and amortization charges on funded debt which has been retired, but after all other charges, including depreciation, and State and Federal income taxes at present rates, for the three years and ten months ended October 31, 1928, have been at the annual rate of $2.83 per share on the common stock now outstanding, and for the ten months ended October 31, 1928, were at the annual rate of over $5.00 per share. The volume of unfilled orders now on hand is greatly in excess of a year ago.

A supply of water, which has been one of the big problems at Kettleman Hills, may be made available through plans being worked out by the Petroleum Securities Company. These plans include drilling of a water well on the Kettleman Plains and piping the water to the oil field, where it would be available to other operators.

A move was on foot several weeks ago among the operators to form a water company, the capital stock to be furnished by the operators, but this plan was abandoned, because Standard and Milham, put in their own system. However, neither has more than enough for its own requirements. Should Petroleum Securities discover an ample supply of water it would turn over the well to a separate corporation, according to reports.

The water difficulty has been a particularly serious one to the smaller operators. It is estimated that Standard's private water system cost approximately $75,000, the water being piped about fifteen miles.

New Permits Granted

Signal Hill again led Santa Fe Springs in new permits granted during the past week by the State Mining Bureau with four for the former and three for the latter. All Signal Hill permits were granted for the Signal Syndicate Number Four's No. 9 well, the Cordary-Davis Oil Company's No. 1, the Petroleum Company's Security No. 2 and the Italo Petroleum Corporation's Acme No. 4. At Santa Fe Springs permits were granted for the General Petroleum Corporation's Anderson No. 153-D, the General Petroleum Corporation's Santa Fe No. 160-B and the Richfield Oil Company's Howard No. 4.

Kern county locations include the Southern California Gas Company's No. 1, the Symark Oil Company's No. 1 and the Elmer Company's No. 1. The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company got a permit for its No. 22 at Kern River.

In the Midway field permits were granted for the North American Consolidated Oil Company's No. 32, the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company's No. 19 and the Republic Petroleum Corporation's No. 33.

Other permits granted include the Standard Oil Company's Emery No 43 at Coyote Hills, the George W. Johnson's Stein No. 1 at Richfield, the Barnsdall Oil Company's Rosecrans No. 5-A at Rosecrans, the Union Oil Company's Higbie No. 1 at Lawndale, the Shell Oil Company's Taylor-Lloyd No. 1 in Ventura county, the Shell Oil Company's Union Sugar No. A-1 in Santa Barbara county, the Ohio Oil Company's No. 23 at Belridge, the Texas Company's Aldridge No. 1 at McKittrick, the General Petroleum Corporation's Heisen No. 11 at Poso Creek, the George F. Getty, Inc., Armstrong No. 1 in Fresno county and the Paragon Oil Company's No. 19 at Coalinga.

New Union Producer

The shallowest of the deep-zone wells at Santa Fe Springs was placed on production yesterday by the Union Oil Company, which completed its Bell No. 33 at a depth of only 5400 feet. The well produced at the rate of 5300 barrels per day. This is regarded as almost at the top of the Nordstrom zone.

The first water cut in the flow was 29 per cent, but the drillers believe that it will clean itself to a great extent within twenty-four hours. The well has a considerable showing of gas, but it had not been gauged last night.

The company got an approval on its water shut-off in the Alexander No. 10 in the same field yesterday and the well is due for a production test within two or three days. It is down 5558 feet.

The crew is ready to drill out the cement in the company's Alexander No. 11 at 5530 feet. A water shut-off with eight and five-eighths-inch casing failed, but success was scored by running in a string of smaller casing.

Ventura Avenue Well

A flow estimated at more than 3300 barrels a day, based on a production of 1000 barrels during the first seven hours, was started yesterday in the Shell Oil Company's Edison No. 24 in the Ventura-avenue field. The oil tested 31 deg. gravity and had a cut of only 1.1 per cent in the initial flow. The tubing pressure was 450 pounds while the casing pressure was only 150 pounds. The well is 7318 feet deep.

The Shell Company will make an effort today to put its Hutton No. 10 at Signal Hill on production. The well is down 7500 feet and tubing was set yesterday.

At Santa Fe Springs the Shell's G.H.M. No. 19 is drilling ahead after getting a successful water shut-off yesterday. It is down 5720 feet and an effort will be made to put it on production early next week.

Starks New Well

The Petroleum Securities Company is preparing to start drilling at Kettleman Hills, on a section adjoining the Milham Exploration Company's discovery well. Road is being built to the location and as soon as possible the foundation and derrick materials will begin moving in.

The well is to be situated 330 feet north and west from the southwest corner of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 35, 17-21, being the section adjoining and north of the present production.

Two New Producers

The Petroleum Company has just completed two new producers at Signal Hill. The Beck No. 4 was completed for a flow of 2000 barrels of 24 deg. gravity oil with a cut of 2 per cent. The company's Hawkeye No. 2 was completed for a production of 1500 barrels a day of 27 deg. gravity oil with a cut of 2 per cent.

Well is Sanded

The Richfield Oil Company's Henry & Hamilton No. 1 on the edge of the Seacliff field, which started flowing by heads two days ago, developed a sand bridge yesterday and the operators are cleaning out the hole. The well developed an initial flow at the rate of 300 barrels a day, which tapered off considerably before sanding up, and it is planned to try to deepen the hole for better production.

MERCHANT SHIP BOOSTER CALLS

Veteran Builder of Vessels Arrives at Port

Large American Trade Fleet Viewed as Urgent

Says Jones-White Act Move in Right Direction

Restoration of the nation's merchant marine to its former leading position has been assured by the new Jones-White Bill, but the task is one that will necessitate every American business man putting his shoulders squarely to the wheel, in the belief of Sven Anderson, dean of American shipbuilders, who arrived here yesterday aboard the Panama-Mail liner Colombia, to spend the winter in Southern California.

Mr. Anderson, who for thirty years was an executive of the great Sparrows' Point (Md.) yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, during the World War was general manager of that plant when it turned out more than 200 ships for the government. Many of the present-day shipbuilding practices were evolved by Mr. Anderson during his long career and the present system of handling hull plating is the product of his ingenuity. Though retired from his profession, he has very decided views about America's future on the seas:

"There have been powerful agencies that have held back development of our merchant fleet since the war, but now, with the passage of the Jones-White bill, we are back on the right road," he declared. "Maintenance of a merchant marine second to none is absolutely necessary to the economic safety of the United States.

"That is because we have the largest foreign trade in the world, more than $9,000,000,000 in 1928, yet barely one-fifth of this great trade was carried in American ships. Foreign interests and methods will destroy the great world commercial structure that American business has built up since the World War unless we can insure transport of our products by the existence of an efficient American merchant fleet on the trade routes of the world.

"But we are now on the right road. The commercial interests of the nation are beginning to see that their goods must travel—whenever possible—in American ships. The campaign of education—to make the farmer, the rancher, the manufacturer and the importer shipminded—now has a national impetus. Government aid in the form of loans for ship construction and mail contracts will also prove of great assistance."

Mr. Anderson also declared that maintenance of a strong Navy is imperative in maintenance of America's commercial prestige. A "strong fleet in being" also lends an economic factor invaluable in international relations, he added.

VETERAN SKIPPER DIES EN ROUTE TO PORT

News of the death of Capt. Edward W. Bates aboard the Panama Mail liner Colombia while off Corinto, Nicaragua, on December 29, last, was received with genuine regret in local shipping circles yesterday upon arrival of the Colombia.

Capt. Bates, who has lived at his old home at Portland, Me., since retirement, was a veteran of Pacific seaways for the last fifty years, when he came to San Pedro aboard a clipper ship via Cape Horn. He was en route here for an extended visit, when he died suddenly aboard the Colombia from a heart attack. The remains were returned here pending instructions from Capt. Bates's niece, Miss Bessie Doughty of Portland.

A new candidate for the post of shipping commissioner at Los Angeles Harbor has risen in the person of Capt. John Rylander of 741 Fortieth street, San Pedro, and master of the Isthmian steamer Steelmaker.

Telegrams said to be from Walter Brown, assistant Secretary of Commerce at Washington, were seen yesterday, indicating that Rylander's application is progressing, if it has not, in fact, reached the point of approval.

The last known was that Thomas Ball of Wilmington, a foreman for the Los Angeles Steamship Company, had been nominated by Senator Shortridge for the job. That was two months ago.

Both hold commissions in the Naval Reserve Corps, a requirement for the job, and both served during the war. Capt. Rylander was a lieutenant on the Buena Ventura during the war, and is a lieutenant-commander in the reserves.

He was reticent yesterday about mentioning his possible appointment, but in view of the telegram from Washington, the news became generally public. He continued north yesterday as master of the Steelmaker, but is expected to resign on this coast.

Confirmation was obtained yesterday that the Los Angeles Steamship Company has acquired another vessel, the Shipping Board steamer Mursa. At least records on file at the Customs Building show that company as the new owner. The report has been current for some time.

What disposition is to be made of the Mursa is not known, executives of the company being unavailable yesterday. The steamer is 402 feet long, 53 feet of beam, 32.2 deep and has a draft of 26.5 feet. Her deadweight tonnage is 9400. The Mursa was built by the Moore Shipbuilding Company at Oakland in 1920.

First mail on McCormick Line ships to South America under the Jones-White Act will go out on the steamer West Camargo today. The vessel will take on several hundred tons of manufactures here to complete loading, and will embark a dozen passengers.

Isthmian Line's steamer Steelmaker yesterday completed her first visit here since her wreck in the South Seas. She has an entire new crew excepting Chief Engineer Erwin. She dropped 3800 tons of east coast steel and left for Monterey to discharge tin plate for the American Can Company. Capt. John Rylander is on the bridge.

Wrigley's tug Captain William went to William Muller's boat yards at Wilmington yesterday for a new rudder. She struck an obstacle at North Island several days ago while towing gravel for the Federal government.

On motion of Commissioner Crawford, the Harbor Commission yesterday voted that the resolution passed December 28, last, reducing free time for foreign and offshore incoming cargo from ten to five days shall be canceled pending a hearing of protests by shipping interests.

The board also modified its order fixing free time for dockage of naval and government vessels at twenty-four hours and thereafter charging them at the same rate as commercial craft. On motion of Commissioner Spear, the resolution was modified to make exceptions at the discretion of the general manager and that all wharfage charges be eliminated except in case of handling oil and such commodities as the general manager shall deem advisable.

HUNTINGTON ADMISSIONS IN DEMAND

Library Announces All Sunday Tickets Given Out for Next Three Months

Tickets for Sunday admissions to the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery have been allotted for January, February and March, it was announced yesterday. So great has been the demand for Sunday admissions to the gallery that no more applications can be accepted until March 1. Tickets for admissions on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, however, are available at short notice.

Gallery officials announce that cards of admission will be mailed to anyone sending a written request, specifying the number of tickets desired. Any number up to five cards will be sent. Each request must be accompanied by a stamped envelope. Suggestion is made at the gallery that requests be for tickets for the earliest date available rather than for a specific day. Week-day hours are 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

During December, 8953 visitors were admitted at the art gallery in San Marino. The total for 1928 exceeded 110,000 visitors. The exhibition was open 255 days between January 27 and December 31, making the daily average about 430 visitors. When the gallery first was opened to the public it was thought that three days a week would suffice. So great was the response that the number of open days was increased.

HEARING ANNOUNCED

The City Council will hear protests today against the confirmation of the assessments for the widening of First street in San Pedro between Harbor Boulevard and Mesa street and of Fries avenue in Wilmington between Anaheim street and a point 651.48 feet south of A street.

TEACHER POINTS ORATION'S VALUE

Roosevelt High Expects 500 Entries in Contest

Miss Ludwig Calls Move Potent Red Antidote

Constitutional History Tells About Magna Charta

Seated at a desk piled high with orations on the Constitution of the United States, Ella A. Ludwig, head of the civics department of the Roosevelt High School, yesterday discussed the value of the National Oratorical Contest in secondary schools.

"I know of no single assignment for a pupil that can be of greater benefit in American education than the writing of one of these orations," she said. "While we do not compel pupils to enter the contest, I require the perusal of at least five references on the Constitution and here in these neatly prepared orations you see the result. More than 400 pupils out of a total enrollment of 1650 have entered the contest in this school and we expect about 100 more to enter early this semester.

FIGHTS BOLSHEVISM

"There is no denying that Bolshevism and undesirable propaganda are ever seeking an underhanded foothold in our public schools, as seen in efforts to undermine the Boy Scout movement and the R.O.T.C., and the oratorical contest on the Constitution is doing more to combat the bad influences than anything I know.

"I am a Southerner, coming from the Blair family of Virginia, and I do not hesitate to say that the need for guardianship of patriotism among pupils is urgent and must never be allowed to lag. This is particularly true in public schools with a heavy percentage of foreign element. The sixth annual contest this year has awakened the greatest interest yet. The results are gratifying."

KING AGREES TO CHARTER

In a discussion of constitutional history James A. Van Oedol of the American Bar Association says:

"A landmark along the course over which liberty has come to us was established when King John's barons, goaded by his oppressive measures, assembled late in 1214 and solemnly vowed to withdraw their allegiance from the crown and openly rebel unless the King, by formal charter, recognized the ancient liberties of England. Actual rebellion did take place to the extent that on June 15 following, when confronted by an armed force superior to anything he could muster, King John reluctantly agreed to the Magna Charta, often referred to as the corner-stone of English freedom. It was a formidable document of sixty-three articles, dealing largely with the feudal customs and duties which have long since ceased to exist; but the thing of most interest here is the fact that it contained numerous other provisions and guarantees to those Englishmen which became the heritage of their descendants in the American colonies and which are now enshrined in the American Declaration of Independence and our Constitution. Magna Charta recognized that law and not the will of the monarch is the basis of the state, that the subjects of a state posses certain inalienable rights of which no king or government can deprive them, except by due process of law.

BEGINNING OF WRITTEN LAW

"In short, Magna Charta marks the transition from the age of traditional rights preserved in the nation's memory to the age of fundamental written law. It never was the intention of King John to live up to the pledges contained in that document and his scheming and that of his successors to circumvent the charter and the struggle of Parliament to obtain its fulfillment, mark the events of the next eighty years and bring us to landmark number two.

"The foundations of that institution are understood to date back to the time when the Norman kings who, following the custom of their predecessors, the Saxons, called about them as councilors certain great men of the realm, nobles and ecclesiastics for advice, and for a time this body was known as the Great Council. It later developed in the House of Lords, a body of hereditary legislators, but it was not until 1295 that the first House of Commons was regularly summoned by the King's writ and that assembly of Lords and Commons is known as the 'Model Parliament.'

"At this point it is well to take a look at the general structure of the British government as now constituted; we can then more readily compare it with our own.

"The British plan is constitutional and hereditary monarchy, with the

GAS-PRICE WAR SPREADS

Independents' Conflict Now State-wide in Scope; Observers Say Cuts Cannot Last Long

Automobile owners throughout Los Angeles county an dother parts of the State were effecting savings in operating costs yesterday as the war between independent gasoline station operators went on in earnest. With the gas price ranging from 14½ to 17½ cents a gallon, according to the location of the station, there was no sign of a let-up in the battle for supremacy in the automobile fuel field.

The San Francisco sector was added to the territory affected by the war yesterday and prices there are said to have been cut by 200 dealers from 20½ cents to 18½ and 17½ cents.

NEW POLICY

The price war was precipitated when the larger oil companies announced their new policy of leasing service stations to employees and dropping from the retail marketing field. According to reports, the oil companies have contracted to sell gasoline to the independent operators at a price approximately 14½ cents, or a differential of 6 cents from the old retail price of 20½ cents.

Under the new arrangement the oil companies themselves are not engaged in a price-slashing struggle, but the war is entirely between the independent operators who are cutting down their margin of profit or, in some cases, selling at losses.

The first instance where an oil company is said to have felt the effects of the reductions is reported from Oakland, where city officials demanded lower rates on contract gasoline.

CAN'T LAST LONG

The General Petroleum Company contracted to deliver gasoline to the city of Oakland at a price 4 cents under the current retail price. When a demand for rates at 11 cents per gallon was made by the City Auditor he was met with the reply that the retail price was 21 cents and that individual service stations were quoting a price of 18 cents on their own responsibility.

Although there were no signs of a let-up in the war yesterday, it was generally conceded in financial circles that the independent operaters are not secure enough in their financial positions to continue the battle over a period of any great duration and that the war either must cease or many of them will be forced out of business.

ROCK PLANT ACTION WILL BE DELAYED

City Planning Commission Will Get Proposal for Zone Curb Next Week

Action by the City Planning Commission on the resolution of the City Council proposing an amendment to the residence zoning ordinance to prevent unlimited expansion of heavy industrials will be postponed beyond today's meeting, it was learned yesterday.

The resolution, which is pointed at the proposed establishment of a cement quarrying plant and mill at Santa Ynez Canyon, and which was originated in the Council, was referred to that body's City Planning Committee and now must go back through the Council for reference to the City Planning Commission for recommendation and report. The commission will not receive it in time to act on it today, but is expected to have it in time for its meeting next week.

Promoters of the cement plant are reported to be back of the incorporation of the Los Angeles Portland Cement Company, articles of incorporation for which were filed with the County Clerk's office yesterday.

PROTESTS DUE TODAY

The City Council today will hear protests against the ordinances of intention for the improvement of Penrose avenue between Wildwood street and Clybourne avenue, and of Wabash avenue between Evergreen avenue and Soto street.

Damage at Santa Fe Springs Set at $1,000,000

Sea of Green Mud Belched Over Entire District

Cement was being forced down oil wells surrounding the two gigantic blazing gushers at Santa Fe Springs last night to prevent the fire, which is estimated to have caused nearly $1,000,000 damage, from spreading to thickly studded neighboring derricks.

A sea of green mud, belched up by the two outlaw wells from the 3500-foot level, have made streets surrounding the conflagration for a distance of nearly half a mile in all directions veritable canals of the sticky mass.

MEN WALLOW IN MUD

Engineers wallowed hip-deep in the mud as they directed the men laying high-pressure pipes for cementing the neighboring wells and the crews in tractors and scrapers battling the creeping clay.

The present double-barreled gasser fire is the third fire to strike the Santa Fe field within a period of four months. Another well belonging to the Getty Oil Company blew in and ignited in September, 1928, and burned for two months. The second outlaw, the Bell View gusher, repeated a few days after the Getty fire was put out and balked engineers for three weeks before it could be capped.

The fire started at 3 a.m. yesterday morning, when the General Petroleum well No. 145-C blew in and friction caused by the tremendous force of gas ignited the oil and gas. After this well had burned for several hours the resultant relief in pressure caused mudding in Getty Oil Company's well No. 20, which is 200 feet away, and it blew in at 1 o'clock. It was ignited thirty minutes later by flames from the General Petroleum well.

DERRICK TOPPLES

The steel derrick erected at Getty well No. 2, situated between the two burning wells, withstood the heat until shortly after 3 p.m. when it crashed after the flames had reduced its strength at the base. The derrick cut an engine house half in two when it fell and workmen frantically were endeavoring to prevent ignition of the well.

A definite plan to conquer the flames had not been decided on last night, according to R. A. Sperry, general manager of the General Petroleum Company, but it will be several days before workmen can clear away debris sufficiently to permit active combat of the flames. In the meantime, all efforts will be directed toward saving the other six wells, five of which are owned by the General Petroleum Company and one by the Getty company.

DAMAGE HEAVY

Two of the wells were being cemented last night and the flow of others had been shut off. Should the danger increase all wells will be cemented, it is said.

The burning wells are within a few hundred feet of the General Petroleum Company's main pumping station and cottages of employees. Water is being sprayed on these to prevent a spread of the fire and the Los Angeles county fire department has been called out for this purpose.

The pillars of flame were shooting 180 feet in the air last night and lighted up the whole Santa Fe Springs district and the roar and vibration from the wells shook buildings for a mile around.

The will is a joint document signed by both the deceased and Mrs. Harding providing that on the death of either one of them the property shall go to the survivor. On the death of both the property goes to Laurine H. Woolwine, daughter; James E. Woolwine, Jr., grandson; Helen Woolwine, granddaughter, and Julia E. Thompson, sister.

IT IS a hopeful sign of the times that Mr. Will Durant, the philosopher, spoke to a packed house in Los Angeles—and in one of the largest theaters in town.

PEPPING UP OUR WANTS

I wish I could feel Mr. Durant's optimism. As it looks to me the whole world is headed for a terrific bump.

Life has become a frightful struggle to get money to buy that which we do not need or really want. Mass production is keyed up to such speed that industrial life can keep on going only by inventing new desires for our hearts. The necessities of life are passe.

They have to induce us to drop one half-eaten brown cookie by dangling another—a beautiful pink one—before our eyes.

PINK GASOLINE

Pink typewriters are a case in point. I see red when I see pink.

So many competent, well-made typewriters are fighting for buyers that they have to paint them pink to catch the eye. Just so they are tinting gasoline scarlet and violet and green to attract a surfeited, satiated, catered-to race of motor-car drivers.

Here's the anomaly—the satiric contradictions. They break down the "safes resistance" of our blase, overcivilized, overfed hearts by appealing to the child—to the crude savage in us.

NEW RESERVE BANK NEAR

Congressional Committee Approves $800,000 Appropriation for Federal Building Here

Construction of an $800,000 new Federal Reserve Bank Building in Los Angeles was assured when the Congressional Committee on Banks and Currency reported favorably on the appropriation yesterday. The building will be erected at Tenth and Olive streets.

The ground was purchased by the Federal Reserve Board almost a year ago and plans were submitted by the local architect firm of Donald and John Parkinson. Final adoption of the bill by the House of Representatives is assured, according to word received from Representative Crail.

The present quarters of the Federal Reserve Bank, at Third and Spring streets, long have been considered too small, as more than 250 clerks and officials are employed.

The bank in Los Angeles is a branch of the main district bank in San Francisco. In some respects the branch bank does a larger business than the main bank, it is asserted by officials.

Details of the new building are not to be made public until the plans are approved, but it is known that it will be five stories high, with two basements. The great vaults are to be located in the sub-basement. Besides providing adequate quarters the new building will be considered an addition to the modern architecture of the city.

PARADE TODAY COMMEMORATES AMERICAN OCCUPATION OF CITY

Story and map of the final occupation of Los Angeles, January 10, 1847, by American forces will be found on the editorial page.

Commemorating today the eighty-second anniversary of the American occupation of Los Angeles, a parade will leave the City Hall at noon, proceed north on Main street, circle the historic Plaza and assemble in front of the old Avila adobe which was American headquarters in 1847, when California was taken from Mexico.

Efforts are being made to establish today's celebration as an annual event and also has as an object the perpetuation of the old adobe landmark.

Fifty men of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, under the command of Capt. T. Gardiner Brown, will lead the parade, followed by a detachment of Native Sons attired in the uniforms of California Regulars of 1847. The uniforms are being loaned by the Western Costume Company for the occasion. The Los Angeles firemen's band will furnish the music.

From the platform of the adobe dwelling on Olivera street President Bonelli of the City Council will act as master of ceremonies, introduce Superior Judge Schauer, a Native Son, who will recount the history of the acquisition of California from Mexico, and Capt. Brown, who will pay tribute in Spanish to the Mexican soldiers who fell in the conflict.

MUSEUM ANNOUNCES GIFTS

Directors Hear Report on Research Expedition in Nevada Excavating for Indian Relics

New gifts to the Southwest Museum totaling $75,000 were announced yesterday at the annual meeting of the institution's board of directors. A telegram was received at the session from M. R. Harrington, director of research, announcing that excavation work had been started by the museum's expedition seeking Indian relics in Moapa Valley, Southern Nevada.

Enthusiasm greeted the report of Joseph Scott, president of the board; Dr. James A. B. Scherer, director of the museum, and Charles Amstem, treasurer of the board. The latter revealed that for the first time in its history, the museum closed a year without a deficit or a debt.

A number of important gifts to the institution were announced. The largest was an additional $45,000 from the estate of Dr. Norman Bridge. The most important new bequest was that of $20,000 left by the late William R. Staats.

A nominating committee consisting of Rt. Rev. J. J. Cantwell, Dr. Robert A. Millikan and Col. H. O. Wheeler, named directors for the class of 1936. New directors elected to fill vacancies are Gen. Charles McC. Reeve of Pasadena, and Stewart O'Melveny, E. P. Clark and Mrs. Lee A. Phillips were re-elected as were the officers. These are Joseph Scott, president of the board, and H. C. Balch, M. H. Newmark and John Treanor, vice-presidents. The Moapa Valley expedition to uncover relics of ancient Indian tribes was announced as the museum's most important work of the year.

Bandit Slays Pursuing Clerk After Spring Street Hold-up

Shoe Salesman Shot Down by Escaping Robber

Murder Follows Bold Raid on Business House

Nervy Man Collars Fugitive Accused of Crime

Murder followed a hold-up repulse at the corner of Spring and Third streets last night while crowds were passing on their way home from work. Abraham Sandelman, 27 years of age, of 211 South Eastman avenue, employed in the Beacon Shoe Company store at 205 South Spring, pursued the bandit into the street, throwing a box of shoes at him. The hold-up man wheeled and fired five shots. One penetrated Sandelman's heart, two lodged in his abdomen and one struck his right arm. Sandelman fell, while the spectators scattered in alarm and the slayer fled.

DAN REILLY

Traffic Policeman J. J. Engbrech, hearing shots, ran to the scene from his post at Third and Spring streets. He pursued in the direction the killer had escaped, and saw the man scaling a nine-foot wall at the rear of a parking yard a half block from the scene of the shooting.

OFFICER J. J. ENGBRECHT

When Engbrech and Policeman J. J. Stambler reached the other side of the wall, at the rear of the Kleine Clothing Company's store, they found R. Jamison, an employee of the company, holding a prisoner. The man gave his name as Dan Reilly, a transient from St. Louis. At Central Police Station, he was booked on a charge of suspicion of murder.

Detective Lieutenant Frank Condaffer, who examined the prisoner, said that Reilly admitted having

He Can Strike Match With Pitched Shoe

He can light a match with a horseshoe pitched for a distance of forty feet, and then can extinguish it by pitching another shoe. He can throw thirty-nine ringers out of forty attempted, at the standard horseshoe pitching distance. These and more are stunts performed by "Putt" Mossman, who will show his prowess in the ancient barnyard game in a special exhibition at Exposition Park Saturday at 2 p.m.

Mossman, who is only 21 years of age, was recognized as the world's champion horseshoe pitcher for the years 1924-5-6, and is the holder of nine world's records in the popular game. He is known as the world's greatest trick exhibition pitcher.

Tuttle and His Wife Separate

The film colony received another surprise yesterday when it was learned that Frank Tuttle, Paramount film director, and his wife, Mrs. Fredericka Statte Tuttle, have separated. News of the rift became known when the director took up quarters at a hotel.

When asked about the separation Tuttle had little to say other than to admit that he and his wife have parted. Mrs. Tuttle declined to discuss the situation.

They were married November 16, 1915, and have two children. Mrs. Tuttle is at the family residence, 2330 Cheremoya avenue. Before he became a director, Tuttle was a magazine editor.

LECTURES AT WOODBURY

Accounting systems of the Union Oil Company were described to the accounting classes at Woodbury College today by A. H. Hand, Woodbury alumnus and general auditor of the Union Oil Company. Mr. Hand also gave the students advice on making their way quickly to executive positions. He is only 28 years of age, but has held various administrative offices.

ARBUCKLE'S ROADHOUSE UNDER FIRE

Culver City Council to Hear Proprietor's Side on Nuisance Complaints

Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle has been cited to appear before the Culver City Council next Monday night, according to a report, to show cause why the Plantation Cafe, a roadhouse on Washington Boulevard, of which he is the proprietor, should not be abated as a public nuisance. The complaint is said to have risen from objections of residents in the vicinity of the roadhouse, who assert the noise from the place disturbs them, and that the city's closing law, under which such establishments are ordered to close at 2:30 a.m., is being violated.

Earlier this week the Culver City Council considered the complaints, and a "joker" is said to have been discovered in a city ordinance, designed originally to regulate a certain outdoor dancing place on Washington Boulevard. This ordinance placed 9:30 p.m. as the closing hour, and due to the wording, according to interpretations of persons interested in the present case, indoor as well as outdoor establishments can be closed at that early curfew hour. This, if enforced, would work a hardship on many cabarets, it is declared.

The matter is expected to come up next Monday night, when the Arbuckle charges are aired before the Council. The Plantation is one of the largest establishments on the "gay white way" of Washington Boulevard, and the effort to have it padlocked officially has roused wide interest in the Culver City section as well as in Los Angeles.

RAIL PROGRESS REPORTED

Grading has been completed 50 per cent and boulevard paving 20 per cent, according to the weekly progress report by General Manager Edwards to the Harbor Board yesterday on the permanent Santa Fe Railroad connection with the port belt line.

APPAREL BUYERS GREETED

Largest Group Yet Assembled Sees Opening of Spring Style Event by Manufacturers

Bringing to Los Angeles the greatest aggregation of foreign buyers ever assembled the Associated Apparel Manufacturers of the city opened their ninth annual spring style event yesterday at the Biltmore. The entire third floor was turned over to the exhibitors who are showing everything in women's wear from diaphanous evening gowns to smart wool bathing suits.

Many of the 2000 visitors registered at the association's headquarters have come from the Atlantic States, and fully 80 per cent are from outside California. The register revealed the names of merchants and buyers from New York, Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake, Minneapolis, Dallas, Seattle, Spokane and St. Louis. Among the foreign countries listed are New Zealand, Mexico, Bolivia, Canada and several merchants in Honolulu had sent representatives.

CIRCULAR SKIRT

There is little change in the styles from those prevailing for the past two years. Slowly the circular skirt is creeping in and displacing the straight-line silhouette that has been so marked in recent years.

Ensembles dominate the spring models for street, afternoon and evening wear. This is true not only of those designs to be worn by the maid and matron, but for the small persons 2 to 4 years of age.

Transparent velvet is on the wane for spring and summer wear at least. Designers predict its return to favor in the autumn, but just now shimmering metalized fabrics of delicate textures are taking its place.

Silver metalised cloth and tulle, enhanced with French silk flowers or motifs of transparent velvet are shown. Printed chiffons, which found such favor last year, will hold the popular fancy. Exquisitely designed printed chiffon taffetas for afternoon and evening are unusually smart.

Perhaps the newest note is the all-over Belgian lace dresses for evening wear. These all are form-fitting . . . in fact, the trend is strongly toward the princess body . . . with full, or circularised skirt. When the skirt is of tulle it is enhanced by graduated ruffles, none more than three inches wide, and edged with silver or gold thread.

BATHING SUITS

Bathing suits show a short snappy circular skirt in two colors, the flare achieved by the godet of contrasting fabric or design. This skirt is separate and intended only for beach wear.

Bankok and felt still continue in favor for spring hats. There is little change from the winter design, but the close-fitting model still is popular.

Coats furred in mole skin, broadtail so fine and soft as to resemble a woven fabric, caracul and sustiki, a striped fur which appears akin to Indian tree rat in color though of a deeper pelt, dominate the show. The materials used are many and various in weight, color and design. Coats are modeled both with the straight line, and with the slightly flaring skirt and smoothly fitting body, which have been seen late in the winter.

The exhibition will continue throughout the week, and a banquet and style show will be given tomorrow night.

CHICAGOAN'S BAIL TAKEN AS FORFEIT

Asserted Gangster Fails to Show Up for Trial on Vagrancy Charge Here

Bail of $2000 posted by Ray Armando, asserted Chicago gangster, to insure his appearance for trial on vagrancy charges, was ordered forfeited yesterday by Municipal Judge Sheldon. When Attorney Chandos Bush explained that Armando is supposed to be in Chicago, Judge Sheldon ordered a bench warrant for his arrest issued and fixed bail on the warrant at $5000.

Armando was convicted of vagrancy by a jury in Judge Sheldon's court August 13, last, along with several other asserted gangsters, each of whom was sentenced to serve six months in jail by Judge Sheldon. All appealed to Superior Court and the verdict in Armando's case was reversed, that of the others being confirmed. Retrial of Armando had been set for yesterday by Judge Sheldon.

All the defendants were arrested by police in connection with the murder of Augie Palambo last August.

governmental power vested in the sovereign and two houses of Parliament. The fundamental maxim upon which the right of succession depends is that the Crown, by common law and by constitutional custom, is hereditary but that the right of inheritance may from time to time be changed or limited by Parliament.

"From this to the next landmark is more than 300 years of stirring history, civil and religious strife, the passing of the houses of Lancaster, York, Tudors and Stuarts, including the Commonwealth under Cromwell. That period also saw the feudal system—that distinctive germanic one in which the estate in lands was based on military service—rapidly growing in disfavor though not actually abolished by Parliament until 1660.

"Not all English rulers during that time were bad; some did their best to rule wisely, and considering their day did fairly well. The Stuarts, who insisted so stubbornly upon ruling England according to their own personal wishes, independently of the laws, helped to set landmark No. 3, the 'Petition of Rights,' which will be discussed tomorrow."

Bankruptcy of Cafe Confessed

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in United States District Court yesterday by the officers of the Cafe Hungarian, Inc., with main offices at Third and Hill streets.

It was stated in the petition that the organization operates two cafes in Los Angeles. It is recited that the company has liabilities of $20,675, of which $16,595 is unsecured, and has assets of $30,200, of which $30,000 constitutes stock in trade.

It will include the building of pavements, curbs, gutters, a curtain wall and a water system, and the cost will be $126,200.

Another of yesterday's awards is for the paving of streets in the La Brea avenue and Venice Boulevard improvement district, the building of sidewalks, gutters and curbs, and the installation of sanitary sewers, a water system and ornamental light conduits. The contract was awarded for $75,178.

BEQUESTS OF ACTRESS SUSTAINED

Lydia Dickson Declared by Jury to Have Been Sound of Mind Making Will

After a trial before Superior Judge Collier and a jury which lasted ten days the court directed the jury to return a verdict finding that the late Lydia Dickson, actress, was of sound and disposing mind when she made her last will and testament on March 19, 1928.

The will, which disposed of the estate of Miss Dickson, consisting of property valued at $50,000, was contested by several aunts and uncles. Under the terms of the document the property was left to close friends of Miss Dickson in Los Angeles and elsewhere.

The actress died on April 2, 1928. She made her will less than a month before she died, leaving her property to friends. The beneficiaries are Isabelle Lowe Foster, Great Neck, Long Island; Ella Cowan, Mabel Pickling, Harold Sinton, Victoria Hale Miljohn and Isabelle Priest.

The contestants, who sought to break the will on the grounds undue influence was used by Isabelle Priest when Miss Dickson drew it, were Ella Dickson, Alice T. Dickson, aunts, and Lewis Clifton Dickson, Robert C. Dickson and Frank Dickson, uncles.

When the trial began on motion of attorneys for the proponents of the will the question of "undue influence" was dropped, which left only the one of "competency" of the actress at the time she made her will. The court, after much testimony was taken, directed the jury to find a verdict declaring Miss Dickson competent, thereby upholding the will.

During the heyday of her career Miss Dickson played with Raymond Hitchcock in "The Old Soak," with Thomas Wise in "The Old Homestead" and with many other famous actors in well-known plays.

What a funny way to escape a COLD

Prevent a cold by rinsing the hands with Listerine before each meal? Sounds strange doesn't it? Not when you know the facts, however.

During the day your hands accumulate germs. Ordinary washing with soap and water doesn't destroy them. So, carried to the mouth on food, they develop, attacking the mucous membrane. A cold or sore throat or both frequently follows.

Full strength Listerine, is powerful against germs—kills most varieties in 15 seconds. Therefore its use on the hands before each meal is simply another wise precaution against colds and sore throat. Mothers handling children's food should particularly bear this in mind. Write for our great free book, "Personal Hygiene." Address S-48, Lambert Co., St. Louis, Mo.

And for SORE THROAT

Listerine halts the progress of sore throat, quickly checks sore throat germs in 7 gargles. At the first symptoms of a cold, gargle with full strength Listerine frequently.

FUMES KILL SPRINT STAR

Nathaniel Rucker, colored sophomore sprint star of the University of Southern California, died at 1:30 p.m. yesterday at his home, 617 Bay street, Santa Monica, as a result of gas poisoning. Rucker had left a gas heater on when he went to bed in a boarding-house at 1276 West Thirty-fifth street, last Saturday night and was found lying on the floor overcome by fumes Sunday afternoon. He was taken to the General Hospital and later removed to his home.

Rucker last year starred on the freshman track squad, having tied with "Sandy" Wehner for high-point honors for the season. This year he had been training consistently since September, besides working his way through school. He was 20 years of age and was taking a pre-dental course.

warned already by Smith to make sure before accepting information regarding the land as bona fide.

A number of land areas, already specified as coming under the section designated in the Boulder dam bill, have been closed to homesteaders by the Federal Land Office. Most of these are in Coachella and Imperial valleys. It was stated by Smith that it will take many years to complete the dam and that it will be several years before the Reclamation Department will be able to state what sections will be benefited by the building of the dam.

It was also stated that areas along the Colorado River will have to be large enough to warrant the building of a diversion dam to receive the benefits of the water. Such section, even, it was stated, will have to be lower than such a dam.

WEST POINT CORPS' TRIP WEST URGED

City Council Takes First Step in Drive to Bring Cadets Here This Year

The City Council yesterday took the first step in a campaign to persuade the War Department to send the entire Cadet Corps of the United States Military Academy to this city next December so that the citizens of the city may see it in review, when it adopted a resolution introduced by Councilman Alber which urged the co-operation of various public bodies to this end.

The resolution points out that when the West Point football team went to Chicago in 1927 to play the Annapolis team the entire West Point cadet personnel was sent along with the team. It asks that a similar course be adopted when the West Point football team comes west next December to play the Stanford team at Palo Alto. It urges that the Cadet Corps be permitted to visit not only this city, but San Francisco and San Diego, so that the citizens of these three cities may have an opportunity to see them on parade.

Copies of the resolution will be sent not only to the Chief of Staff of the United States Army and the commanding officer of the Military Academy, but also to the Stanford authorities and to the chambers of commerce of the three cities named, in order to enlist the aid of these organizations in the effort to bring the cadets to the Coast.

TRAILFINDER BOYS TO DICUSS CAMPS

More than 100 boy "chiefs" of the Trailfinders will meet tomorrow evening at 1827 North Vine street, Hollywood. The meeting is to plan camping trips. Places of interest which the youngsters will visit on their camping trips during the next few months include Yosemite Valley, the Indian country of Arizona, Big Pines Park, High Sierras, and many mountain and beach regions around Los Angeles.

Neighbors are people who wonder when that darn party will end.

NEW CHURCH WILL GO UP DUE TO GIFT

Fund of $50,000 Goes to Rev. Neal Dodd's Flock for Building Structure

A gift of $50,000, to be used in erecting a new temple for the Church of St. Mary of the Angels, was announced by Rev. Neal Dodd, vicar of the church, at the annual parish meeting yesterday. The name of the donor will not be revealed for several weeks, Mr. Dodd said. Following the announcement a committee was appointed to take up the matter of selecting a location for the new church, the site of the present edifice being considered too small for the new building.

Following addresses by Dr. W. B. Stevens, bishop of the diocese, and Charles A. Stevenson, warden emeritus, officers for 1929 were elected as follows: Levering Moore, warden; Robert J. Dell, treasurer; Carlton Monroe Winslow, clerk.

Founded eleven years ago by ten charter members, the Church of St. Mary of the Angels, attended largely by motion-picture actors and actresses, has grown to a membership of about 300. Services are conducted every Sunday at 1743 North New Hampshire avenue.

AMPHIBIAN HOP PLANNED

First of Navy's New Sikorskys Slated to Fly Across Continent Within Two Months

The first transcontinental flight of a Navy amphibian plane will be made within the next two months, when the first of the new Sikorsky sequiplane amphibians being built for fleet use will be flown from Anacostia, D. C., to the local base by Lieut. Rutledge Irvine and Lieut. (junior grade) A. R. Mead.

The new plane is to be used as a general utility machine with the aircraft squadrons and its primary use will be the daily transport of mail and passengers between San Pedro and San Diego. The new Navy-Sikorskys are the standard commercial design, similar to the Sikorsky amphibian now being used by Western Air Express on the Los Angeles-Catalina run, equipped to carry the pilot and mechanic in side-by-side seats with an enclosed cabin directly behind them accommodating eight passengers.

Two Pratt and Whitney Wasp radial air-cooled engines of 450-horsepower each drive the sequiplane amphibian, which is designed to fly on one motor in case of trouble with the other. On the overland flight here from the East, Lieuts. Irvine and Mead will be accompanied by Chief Aviation Pilot F. H. Sheets and Aviation Machinist's Mate W. H. Gerkman.

The Sikorsky is the first to be delivered of approximately 150 new planes which the Navy will receive from manufacturers under existing ♦contracts during 1929. These include aircraft for practically every purpose in fleet tactics, including Loening amphibian scouts; Vought Corsair fighters-observers; Corsair amphibian scouts; a Fokker trimotored transport plane—similar to the Question Mark; Boeing fighters; Douglas twin-motored scouting and bombing planes and Keystone training planes.

The battleship Colorado, having completed her annual overhaul at the Puget Sound Navy Yard, is due back at San Pedro tomorrow after an absence of nearly two months. The Colorado will spend a busy week in port, taking aboard stores and supplies for the cruise to Panama, on which the battle fleet will depart next Tuesday.

Today's Bible Text

Say among the heathen that the Lord reigneth: the world also shall be established that it shall not be moved: He shall judge the people righteously. Psalm xcvi:10.

OUGHT TO BE HOT

The mercury was at 36 degrees below zero at Devil's Lake the other day. Thus proving that you can't always tell the climate of a place by its name.

ERRANDS OF PEACE

Gen. Frank R. McCoy, who commanded the American visitation in Nicaragua, will represent this country in the Bolivian peace parley. It is understood, however, that he does not feel the necessity of taking the American marines along with him.

ROUND THE WORLD

Admiral Moffat now asserts that a nonstop flight around the world by monoplane is possible. It has been shown that refueling in midair is no great hazard. But who wants to go around the world with never a stop? There is no use in a citizen of Los Angeles going home by way of London, Constantinople, Bombay and Manila. He might as well stay here. The only joy of a journey is the ability to stop some place. It is fair enough to know that it would be possible to speed around this old sphere without even stopping for lunch, but no one would be weak enough to enjoy it. What do they have hotels in Europe for?

PITY THE POOR PRISONER

In a spirit of sentimentalism and good will a correspondent asks for better treatment and higher consideration for our malefactors. Just because a man has made a false step and been committed to prison it does not mean that society has been freed of its obligation to him. He still has a heart to save and a body to be ministered to. The idea seems to be to make our penitentiaries more comfortable and attractive. So far as we know there is not a single golf course at San Quentin. There may be links, but they are of the ball and chain variety. It is mighty tough for a golfer to be confined in an institution where he hasn't even the ghost of a chance to exercise his mashie. What the nation needs is bigger and better golf courses at its prisons.

HOW TO EAT 'EM

An orange-eating contest was recently featured at the luncheon of the Lions' Club. Miss Florence Loomis, one of the sixteen musicians competing, qualified for first place.

The others ate oranges just as rapidly; but she did the deed most gracefully. According to reports she peeled and quartered her fruit and then daintily conveyed each section to her lips. She accounted for quantity in a quality way.

Some persons take an orange, peel it and cut it up into hash called fruit frappe. This is taken painlessly by a large number of folks. Yet others squeeze the gizzard out of it and absorb it through a straw like lemonade. This has its ardent and therapeutic advocates. The only difficulty is, the machinery may not always be handy.

The winner's way also has one drawback. In quartering an orange, a section sometimes goes off half-cocked and wounds the victim on the shirt front. Halved oranges at breakfast, even when approached cautiously with a spoon, have also been too much in the public eye. This weakness should be corrected.

The demonstration shows progress in the right direction; reform is conceded. It may inspire some to find a bigger and better way. California has been a trifle lax. She has devoted herself to the culture, but has fallen down on the consumption end. Throwing the golden balls at the public from the rear of a Pullman or automobile is picturesque, but insufficient. The State should furnish a stainless as well as a painless method of absorption.

We heartily commend the orthodox orchard manner of halving the orange at the midriff. Then dive into it headfirst! The fingers may be flooded and the face suffused; but it supplies the same ecstasy as eating a watermelon in the ancient and accepted fashion.

This system is vivacious as well as efficient. Indeed, there is little left to be desired, save the skin of both orange and eater. There is no patent on the process. It is so simple a child may use it.

YOUNG'S MESSAGE AND BUDGET

A budget boosting State expenditures to $344,000,000 for the fiscal years 1929-1931, and a message in which no very definite stand is taken on anything, is Gov. Young's contribution to the work of the State Legislature just assembled at Sacramento. Southern California, as usual, fares rather poorly at the hands of the Governor, less in what he said than in what he failed to say. It had been hoped that a definite tax revision program including a low rate upon intangibles would be urged, but on this the message merely promises that the Tax Commission will file a report soon.

It may be a matter of no great consequence to Northern California at what rate intangibles are to be taxed, but it is of enormous importance here, since so many Southern California visitors now hold eastern securities and will not maintain legal residence or declare their securities for taxation until they are assured the rate will not be confiscatory. The moment a fair rate is fixed the potential wealth of this section will be greatly augmented. This, therefore, is a matter on which the Legislature should not delay, since delay costs money.

It will be a shock to the motorists who have paid willingly a gasoline tax in the belief that the money would be spent for roads, to learn that it is being used instead for an indirect contribution to the State's general fund. The interest on the accumulated balance of gas tax money, instead of being added to the road fund, is to be used for the support of the tax-eating politicians, it is revealed. This may be lawful, but it has the appearance of sharp practice. In addition to being inequitable it tempts the lawmakers to let the road fund accumulate instead of spending it for needed highways.

The budget provision for highways is $54,923,490, divided 45 per cent to the south, which provides 58 per cent of the money, and 55 per cent to the north, which provides 42 per cent of the money. It is true this inequity is fixed by statute, to which the people of California agreed. A fairer division cannot be had until, by a real reapportionment, the southern counties obtain a just proportion of the members of the legislature and thereby the voting strength necessary to get its dues.

Speaking of reapportionment, it may be noted that apparently the Governor regards the matter as settled, since he did not refer to it in his message. But reapportionment will never be settled until it is settled right.

Gov. Young advocates, rather timidly, a whole new Constitution for the State of California. There is no State which has changed its Constitution as frequently as has this one, and if perfection could be obtained by a process of amendment the California Constitution ought to be a superior structure by now. In fact, it is only a crazy quilt. The Governor does not hit at the root of the trouble by his suggestion that a recasting is desirable. What is needed is a short and simple fundamental law which leaves details to be worked out by the Legislature and does not attempt to prescribe the minutiae. The Governor wants more home rule for counties to relieve the Legislature from the burden of determining the number and salaries of minor county office holders. In principle, there can be no objection to this.

On the whole the messages reflect an amiable and well-meaning executive who has listened to a lot of poor advice, feels instinctively that the advice is bad, but is uncertain just what to do about it. The State will survive, but it will not be improved by this situation.

COOKS

With the girls taking over the steering wheels, the elevators, athletics, governors' chairs, jobs of all kinds, even farming out their babies to others and harvesting scholastic degrees, the boys are swinging to domesticity. Somebody has to keep house!

So a class for turning out cooks has been formed among the boys at Manual Arts High School. It began with the youth consulting their teacher, Miss Elliott, on diet. From this innocent beginning, new territory was taken in in all directions, and to nutrition were added the duties of a host, table manners, the mystic laws of invitations, financing and budgeting a family, savings and investments along with the legal points that safeguard a home. A full-sized section of the curriculum has been taken over.

The boys do not even flinch at child care and are taking it up seriously. Relations with women enter into their discussions with blunt frankness and petting has been put onto the chutes to the garbage can. Community problems of health, sanitation, city planning, art, literature and music, are all included in the course.

The study descends, or ascends as the case may be, to clothes, care of the person—even to ties and socks. House furnishing is not even denied.

But it is reported that the boys enjoy cooking most of all. A high-priced chef from one of the largest hotels of the city was induced to come and talk with the boys. In turn he became an enthusiast and turned over his kitchen as well as his $25,000 information freely. That kitchen became a buzzing laboratory jammed with bustling youth anxious to acquire first hand the mysteries of domestic service.

Indeed, the whole thing is assuming the amazing proportions of a movement and the girls will have to look out for their discarded jobs. With one gender swinging into the open and the other closing in on the home base, a silent social revolution is in progress.

Whether the male and female are gradually exchanging jobs and garbs for good, only time can tell. At least the male will have something to eat!

WORLD VISION

Herbert Hoover hopes also to visit Cuba and Porto Rico before he takes up life in the White House. This should make him rather familiar with all our Latin-American contacts and territorial problems before going into the big job. It is said that he has already had a little touch with Hawaii, the Philippines and Alaska. At any rate he has seen more of the world than any man who ever sat in the seats of the mighty.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

HOUSES reveal personality far more than most of us realize. So do grounds, though sometimes that is mainly the personality of your gardener.

There are thousands of beautiful and distinctive homes in Southern California, some magnificent, some very modest. There are so many, indeed, that to attract unusual notice a place must suggest positive genius rather than mere talent.

Passing the northern end of Sycamore Grove yesterday our attention was arrested by a house which seemed to suggest that friendly, simple and very artistic people dwelt there. While we paused, irresolute, a burst of music came from somewhere in the rear. Not radio music, but real, honest-to-goodness human music. That settled it. We rang the bell.

But we got no answer. So we strolled around the house. There half a dozen earnest young men were exercising band instruments, led by an older man who fairly exuded energy and enthusiasm. But at sight of us he stopped.

"Why, hello, Lee!" he exclaimed. "I've been wondering if you'd ever find me. I've been intending to call you up—but have been too all fired busy."

Then we recognized Dr. E. M. Hiner, whom we hadn't seen for years.

They All Come Here

Hiner's Third Regiment Band used to be the best loved organization in Kansas City. It went to the Spanish War with the city's own, and they returned to play park concerts for all the public, playing in a different park every night. As a kid, we were ready at any time to walk a mile to hear "Doc" Hiner's band, and people who knew were just as enthusiastic. John Philip Sousa and Theodore Thomas knew the band and its leader and loved them well.

Ill health in his family brought Dr. Hiner to California nine years ago. But this city is so big, so full of varied interests, that we didn't know that.

The House That Love Built

"We didn't know you were here," we explained. "We were just attracted by the house and grounds."

"Hooray! cried the doctor. "That pleases us a lot, for Mama and I built this all by ourselves. We drove over into the arroyo with an old car and brought all the stones for it, and then helped build it, too. Everything else here is built by us, with the help of some of my boys. I don't just teach boys to play instruments, I teach 'em to work and save money. The head of my big band school in Kansas City now used to be a hotel bellboy. We build all our music racks, our walks, our seats, our barbecue ovens. I give extra instruction to the boys for helping me build things and they all feel it is their place. See our assembly hall over there. Sousa Nook, we call it. We built that, and Sousa came out to dedicate it. When I bought this place nine years ago it was a public dump, and it's cost mighty little to make it what it is. Just work and love and enthusiasm. I couldn't saw a board when we started. I hadn't an idea of how to mix concrete or lay cement. I've learned so that now my boys learn music and manual training together."

It Looks and Sounds So Easy

We went away feeling that everyone in California ought to have a lovely home. The "makin's" are on almost every lot—if it doesn't yield boulders it probably will make fine adobe bricks. We also left with a hearty invitation to bring the wife next time. But we're scared to do that. We're scared that after seeing what the Hiners have done she'll wonder why we don't create a charming home to express our artistic soul, if any.

Orange Grove and Santa Rosa

I drove to Altadena
When Christmas Lane was bright
And all my days my thoughts shall praise
That lane of beauteous light.
And then I drove down Orange Grove,
Where millionaires are found,
And could not see one Christmas tree
In any palace ground.

Sad seemed the gloomy mansions
Set back amid the trees.
No childish laughter sounded there,
No song made sweet the breeze.
Dark were the lifeless windows—
Unhonored by the great
Seemed Christmas! . . . After Christmas Lane
It seemed so desolate.

It is easy to be a good executive, if you aren't jealous of your hired man's superior ability.

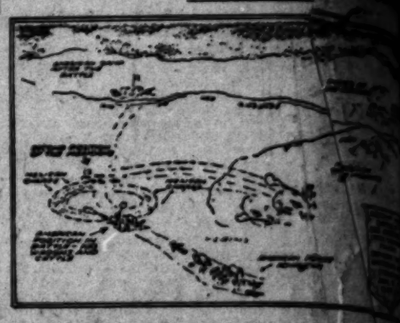
EIGHTY TWO YEARS



(This map was drawn by Lieut. W. H. Emory [illegible] topography of the country as then conceived. It shows the [illegible] marines and Kearny's dragoons to the position where the [illegible] place where they camped after the defeat of the Mexicans [illegible] morning into Los Angeles.)

To the Editor of The Times:

January 10, 1847, is the date of final [illegible] Los Angeles, eighty-two years ago at this [illegible] their lives in payment for what we possess today.

The retaking of Los Angeles stands unique because of the extraordinary percentage of [illegible] wounded out of the number engaged. On December [illegible] marines joined Kearny's badly defeated [illegible] the expedition started toward Los Angeles. [illegible] men were severely cut with lance wounds. [illegible] dragging their cannons by hand, some [illegible] on mules, none were properly equipped. It was [illegible] they were days and days making just a few miles. [illegible] people in the city of Los Angeles know or care [illegible] certain Christmastime in 1846?

On January 10, 1929, Los Angeles should honor January 10, 1847. It would appear to me that if the public was educated along the lines of patriotism and the history of their city—all civic matters would move with less effort. The ignorance of most of the people in Los Angeles for their history is pathetic and tragic. It is a history to be proud of and surely the men who made this history must have believed that a patriotism equal to their own would live after them. Los Angeles today is like a great tree which has attained a fine growth, her people are so busy decorating the top branches that they do not see the roots decaying under the ground. She is a transient, orphan city, her birthplace now the gutter, her grandparents too shabby to associate with. If January 10 means nothing to us, it will mean nothing to our children and to our children's children.

CHRISTINE STERLING.

Mrs. Sterling's appeal for better recognition of Los Angeles' historic date should move every patriotic citizen of the Southwest to acquaint himself with the stirring events and the almost forgotten heroism that culminated on January 10, 1847, in the capture of Los Angeles by the little band of interpid Americans under Gens. Kearny and Stockton. The following description of the Battle of Los Angeles is taken from the official dispatches of Lieut. W. H. Emory, topographical engineer with the Kearny expedition from Fort Leavenworth to San Diego.

"As we advanced, Flores deployed his forces making a horse shoe in our front, and opened his nine-pounders on our right flank and two smaller pieces on our front. The shot from the nine-pounders was so annoying that we halted to silence them. In about fifteen minutes this was done and the order "forward" again given, when the enemy came down on our flank in a scattering sort of charge. Our men held their fire till the Californians (Mexicans) were about a hundred yards distant. This fire knocked many out of their saddles and checked them. A round of grape was then fired upon them and they scattered. The Californians, the most expert horsemen in the world, stripped the dead horses on the field without dismounting and carried off most of their saddles and bridles and all their dead and wounded on horseback to the hills to the right.

"It was now about 3 o'clock [illegible] and the [illegible] tant. It was [illegible] the river [illegible] ter the two [illegible] After we had [illegible] the enemy [illegible] hills and [illegible] four pieces [illegible] toward the [illegible] suppose they [illegible] whipped.

"Just as we had [illegible] camp a flag [illegible] Mr. Earle, a [illegible] man, an Englishman [illegible] radio, the owner [illegible] eria at the Alamitos [illegible] into farms. [illegible] behalf of the [illegible] surrender their [illegible] Angels, provided [illegible] spect property. [illegible] This was agreed to, [illegible] together [illegible] Gen. Flores, who [illegible] broken his parole [illegible] the town in the [illegible] should have died [illegible] an attack."

Lieut. Emory's [illegible] the first three days [illegible] geles is quaint and [illegible] It rained [illegible] days, which [illegible] to start work on [illegible] planned to erect. [illegible]

"We drank today [illegible] the country which [illegible] leaving no [illegible] on the stomach. [illegible] profusion of grapes [illegible] peare, resembling [illegible] Bermagot pear, but [illegible] larger." The fort [illegible] with the aid of [illegible] the Congress.

Here are his comments [illegible] Angeles as he found it [illegible] day when it passed [illegible] into the possession of [illegible] States:

"The population of [illegible] and its [illegible] 9000, that of the [illegible] about 1800. It is the [illegible] wealth and popular [illegible] Mexico California [illegible] has, therefore, been [illegible] government. Close [illegible] base of the [illegible] manding the pass [illegible] cut off at the north [illegible] at Santa Barbara, [illegible] ter of the military [illegible] Californians. Here [illegible] lutions have had [illegible] and it is the point [illegible] any Mexican force [illegible] would be directed. It [illegible] fore, desirable [illegible] which, in case of [illegible] enable a small garrison [illegible] out, till aid might [illegible] San Diego. San Francisco [illegible] Monterey, places [illegible] tined to become [illegible] American settlement."

The Midwinter

LONG BEACH, Jan. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have seen and read every Midwinter number of your popular daily, each one of which was a paragon for its time, but the acme of typographical architecture, editorial preparation, descriptive word painting, technique and originality in display and arrangement, complete covering and lucid presentation of every interest—industrial, commercial, financial, horticultural, agricultural, social, educational—pertaining to the supremacy of the Southwest, has certainly been demonstrated in the issue of January 2, 1929.

This last Midwinter edition is the outstanding achievement in a record of unsurpassed service to the community by the Los Angeles Times which it has so ably, consistently and constructively maintained through its constant presentation of reliable facts for public consumption. The reputation of The Times for doing great things has been greatly augmented by its current Midwinter number, and the accruing benefit to the State cannot alone be measured in dollars and cents, but by the character and worthiness of the people the publication will bring to the Golden West. Judging The Times by its works, it is full 100 per cent, and if further evidence is needed to clinch this statement, look at any of its daily issues and then at Los Angeles city, the latter's greatness being largely due to the unswerving and dependable course of The Times.

C. W. FLEMING.

As a result of the sending of nearly 100,000 "friendship school bags" by the school-children of the United States to those in Mexico, a course in international friendship has been established in Mexican primary schools.

GOLF IN CALIFORNIA

The Riviera Country Club in Santa Monica Canyon will for three days, starting tomorrow, be a focal point for all devotees of the once exclusively Scottish but now pre-eminently Californian game of golf. On one of the most difficult courses in the country, and, therefore, for the onlookers one of the most spectacular, the $10,000 Open Golf Tournament, climaxing a series of tournaments held throughout the West, will crown a professional champion for the coming year. An additional interest is infused in this annual contest by the promised likelihood of an international finish, should the final combatants be the British champion, Walter Hagen, and our own Los Angeles close contender, Horton Smith.

In any case the coming Riviera tourney is certain to be hotly contested since the big boys are all on edge to win the coveted first honors. California now attracts 95 per cent of the leading American golfers, both amateur and professional, and the best of them will be competing for this blue ribbon of the golf world. The next professional tourney will be held at Santa Barbara late in the year and the national amateur championship will be decided at Del Monte, thus giving California in 1929 the majority of the major tournaments.

Golf may have had its birth among Scotland's meadows, but it has become so thoroughly acclimated, naturalized and perfected amid California hills and valleys that its devotees in the West outnumber and threaten to outplay the braw laddies of its native heath. Indeed, golf, unconsciously and with no desire of our sportsmen so to use it, has become one of the big advertising assets of our California playgrounds in Eastern and Middle-Western States. The advantage of being able to play in comfort all the year 'round and of fixing tournament dates with little fear of interference by rain and weather has given this delightful sport a start here that it will inevitably increase with every coming season.

WEALTH BECOMES COMMON

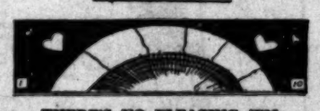
Carl Snyder, publicist for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, estimates that there are between 30,000 and 40,000 persons in this country who may be classed as millionaires. In 1914 there were but 7000. This would indicate that during and since the war the people of the United States have prospered prodigiously.

Twenty years ago the report that there were 30,000 millionaires in America would have raised a great howl from the radicals and there were plenty of other people who would have regarded the increase in the number of persons of great wealth with alarm. But today the truth is well known among all classes that, while the list of millionaires has been growing rapidly of late years and there has been such a general expansion of wealth that the number who possess from $100,000 to $200,000 is very large, the masses also have prospered. The per capita wealth in 1904 was $1318. In the succeeding eighteen years it grew to $2918, or more than double. Since then it has increased steadily.

A writer in the London Chronicle not long ago used the simile, "as thick as millionaires in America," and there has been much European comment; often of an ironical nature, on the commonness of wealth in this country. But the laugh has been on Europe, and not on us, and it is a sardonic and not a hearty one. For had Europe settled its differences without that desolating, wealth-destroying war it would not have been in so sorry a case.

The reason why the per capita wealth of America has doubled and may soon be trebled in so short a time is plain. The more millionaires the more industries, the more workmen and the better purchasing power of the whole population. Also, as has been shown by our own national experience, the less unrest and the less tendency toward Socialism and other Utopian dreams such as were rife twenty years ago.

Wealth is an evil only when it is abused, and a good part, at least, of our millionaires are using theirs to the best industrial and cultural advantage—an advantage that is shared by all people of good sense, energy and thrift.



THERE'S NO PLEASING 'EM

By James J. Montague

The Eskimo says to his sweetheart
As they sit on the billow-rocked floe,
"My love I confess all the wealth I possess
Is a half pound of tallow or so.
My lot is to toil for my living
With my spear and my dog and my boat;
If my igloo you share you'll have nothing to wear
This year but a sea otter coat."
And the lady most probably says, with a tear,
"I thought we'd have tallow to eat all the year."

The Eskimo says to his darling,
"My means are exceedingly small;
The invoice reveals that a few thousand seals
And a half ton of ivory is all.
But if you will dwell in my igloo
And the future turns out as I plan,
Some day we may hope to have dinner on soap
And coal oil right out of the can."
And the lady most probably said with disdain:
"Mere ivory and seals! Man you must be insane!"

The Eskimo says to his girl friend,
"Be my dear little bride, I implore,
Our cottage of ice will be cozy and nice
With great polar-bear rugs on the floor.
It is lined with the pelts of black sable
And marten and ermine and mink,
We'll have fat eider duck and young reindeer for chuck
And abundance of coal tar to drink."
But the lady returns with a sigh of distress
"Oh, I so hoped to have a new calico dress!"

POOR ADVERTISING

The advertiser who is wise has much respect for human eyes, and won't offend them with an ad that makes the pained beholder sad. As I drive round the section lines I see a lot of shabby signs; old wooden signs, all out of plumb, announcing Jimpson's chewing gum; old signs of tin, that creak and groan, as they are by the zephyrs blown; announcements painted on the rocks, concerning Johnson's paper socks; great blurbs upon the roofs of barns and on the cliffs o'er gloomy tarns; they all look dingy, gray and cheap, and fit to make an artist weep. And even if the signs were bright, and most attractive to the sight, they represent a sinful waste in these warm days of eager haste. In olden times when people rode in wagons, glances were bestowed upon the wayside signs, no doubt; they entertained the passing scout, who had no other thing to do than read the divers signs in view. When driving seven miles an hour, a man could read of pancake flour, and spavin cures and liver pads, and get a kick from all such ads. But now we hit up forty miles in cars of dashing modern styles, and have no time to read the sign that recommends a feed for swine, a bargain sale in wooden pails, a potion for ingrowing nails. We merely see the signs of tin, the signs of wood, as past we spin, and think it is a foul disgrace the smiling landscape to deface. The signs along the right of way make some one savage every day; and any ad that stirs men's bile is just a frost, and not worth while.

JURY PICKED TO TRY NORTHCOTT

Selfish Men Accepted by Defense Unexpectedly

Teachers and Business Men Form Trial Body

Two Alternates to be Chosen This Morning

BY JAMES M. KENDRICK
"Times" Staff Representative

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 9.—After selection of two alternate jurors is completed tomorrow morning, Gordon Stewart Northcott will hear the charges of the State's evidence against him for the asserted murders of Walter Collins, boy on his Wineville chicken ranch. The jury which will hold the life or death of the youth was accepted shortly before tonight's adjournment, and is composed entirely of [illegible]

Dr. C. S. Dickson, county Coroner, [illegible] appointed by Superior Judge [illegible] when this afternoon to subpoena [illegible] venire of ten from which the two [illegible] alternates will be drawn tomorrow morning.

Twelve ranchers and business men [illegible] on the jury, which was suddenly and unexpectedly accepted by both prosecution and defense at [illegible] o'clock this afternoon, a half-hour before court adjourned.

THE CHOSEN JURY

They are Louis A. F. Maes, J. A. [illegible], Louis Lind, William Beecher, [illegible] C. Sharp, Howard Boylon, Ray [illegible], A. H. Peck, George E. Morris, George W. Hart, Neil Earles and [illegible] Brunk, who sit in the jury [illegible] in the order named.

During the noon recess today [illegible] strenuously objected to an [illegible] by alienists appointed [illegible] the instance of Northcott's counsel.

Dr. W. B. Wells, State, Riverside [illegible] and city health officer, and [illegible] C. Woodworth from the State Asylum for the Insane at Patton, attempted to make a complete examination but were frustrated in their [illegible] by Northcott, the accused [illegible], who would not submit to [illegible] but a few queries the medical experts made to him.

After court adjournment, however, Northcott was induced by Attorney [illegible] to resubmit to the scientists' examination. A report on their findings, they stated, probably will be [illegible] to the court tomorrow.

CAMPBELL FIRST WITNESS

When the jury was chosen tonight [illegible] prosecution had used but four of [illegible] peremptory challenges, while [illegible] men had exhausted all but four [illegible] of its allotment.

Leo Campbell of Puente, who discovered the body of the headless [illegible], whom Northcott's nephew, [illegible] Clark, accuses him of having murdered and decapitated, is scheduled to be the State's first witness.

Immediately following Deputy [illegible] Crossthorn, Brewster, Mennen and Chief Bright of the Los Angeles Sheriff's office are scheduled to follow in order.

From questions propounded to various jurymen, it appeared that the prosecution probably will attempt to get Northcott's various confessions, which he later repudiated, into testimony in the case.

The acceptance of the jury came with startling suddenness to courtroom observers immediately following the defense's acceptance of the last man of the second venire drawn Monday. When Savay completed questioning Charles Brunk, the last talesman called, he went to the counsel table for a conference.

INDIAN FILM EXTRA ACCUSED

Wife Declares She Was Thrown Out

Red Wing and His Wife, Rose Marie

A COMPLAINT charging Robert Red Wing, Indian film extra, with petty theft, was issued yesterday by Deputy City Prosecutor Obotiner at the request of Rose Marie Red Wing, his wife. Red Wing declared that her husband, following a family quarrel, threw her out of her home at 1454 Crown Hill avenue at 11 p.m. on the 2nd inst. and refused to allow her to return.

She charges theft of five dresses by her husband as a result of his refusal to allow her to return and obtain her clothing. Since then she has been living at 5015 South Park avenue, she said.

ment part in the consultation and it appeared that he directed his attorneys to accept the jury as it then stood. Savay returned to the witness stand, from where he had been questioning veniremen, and announced that he accepted the jury as it then stood. The prosecution, which previously had stated that "any jury would be satisfactory," also accepted.

Within five minutes the body that will decide whether Northcott killed a Mexican and Louis and Nelson Winslow was sworn in by Judge Freeman.

Northcott's trial for the murder of Walter Collins, for whose slaying his mother pleaded guilty and was sentenced to San Quentin for life, will be postponed tomorrow by Judge Freeman, the court announced tonight. The trial was set for the 10th inst., when Northcott was arraigned.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Menzies of Los Angeles, who has played a large part in the investigation of the asserted murder orgy at Northcott's farm, appeared here today for the first time since the trial started and indicated that he has new evidence to be used against the youth. The Los Angeles prosecutor did not sit at the counsel table but took a seat in the witness section of the courtroom.

J. McKinley Cameron, attorney of Calgary, Can., probably will play an important part in the trial, it was learned today when Dave Sokol, one of the defense counsel, said that a motion to allow Cameron to practice in California courts will be made to Judge Freeman tomorrow. As a matter of courtesy, prosecuting attorneys said the motion on behalf of a foreign attorney usually is granted.

Northcott's personal request that women be included on the jury failed miserably at the outset of today's session. From the start either prosecution or defense challenged women as fast as they were seated in the box.

James H. Quinn, who was the State's officer in the extradition fight to return Northcott from Canada, where he fled after young Clark's arrest on an immigration charge August 31, last, was reported today to be improving. The officer, who has been working as a special investigator for Sheriff Sweeters in the Northcott investigation, is confined to the Riverside County Hospital with nervous prostration.

DAMAGE CLAIM APPROVED

The Navy Department at Washington yesterday notified the Harbor Board that it has approved the claim of $87.16 for damages to Berth 56 by water barge No. 30 on June 27, 1928, and that the claim will be submitted to Congress for an appropriation. The department explained that it has no funds for damages.

OIL DEAL FIGHT WON BY HEIRS

Fortune Awarded in Case of Pennsylvanians

Valuable Coalinga Drilling Lease Involved

Litigation Carried on After Principals' Death

As the result of an interlocutory judgment of accounting filed in the Superior Court yesterday a fortune goes to the heirs of two men from a California oil deal the pair figured in a number of years ago. The decree was signed by Superior Judge McDonnell.

The men who figured in the deal were the late Samuel F. Glatfelter and Frank M. Borton of York, Pa.

The action, followed by the entry of the judgment yesterday, involved a valuable oil lease in the heart of the Coalinga oil fields. It was begun many years ago by Glatfelter and finished after his death by relatives. Both he and Borton asserted they had been defrauded into parting with their interest in the land in question.

AMOUNT INVOLVED

Under the terms of the judgment Attorney Guy R. Crump will act as referee to determine the value of the oil stock asserted to have been given in payment for the lease and, according to Attorney Charles L. Nichols, representing the estates, the accounting will net approximately $100,000 for the heirs of Glatfelter and Borton.

A trial of the suit was held several months ago. The action was brought against Robert Hays Smith, well-known San Francisco business man and oil operator, and I. L. Bryner of Los Angeles.

At the hearing it was asserted that during their lifetime Glatfelter and Borton had an interest in a drilling lease on twenty acres of oil land in the Coalinga field. The lease, it was asserted, was managed by Smith and Bryner, who, according to the complaint, sent telegrams to the eastern men recommending its sale for $12,000.

SALE SANCTIONED

Glatfelter and Borton, it further was contended, agreed to the sale of the lease and received their share of the $12,000. Later, it was asserted, they discovered that the sale was not made, but that the lease was disposed of partly by the payment of 158,000 shares of stock in the Section Seven Oil Company and that large profits resulted. Damages amounting to $20,000 were awarded by Judge McConnell in addition to a one-ninth share in the profits which are to be determined by the accounting and the value to be fixed on the stock in the Section Seven Oil Company.

The defendants in their defense of the action endeavored to show that Glatfelter and Borton had been informed that the $12,000 sale never was carried out.

The litigation was carried on in the case following the death of the two Pennsylvania men by Ida A. Glatfelter and Bertha C. Borton.

Urban to Take Culver's Place in Association

Clarence Urban, real-estate dealer, has been elected president of the Greater Washington Boulevard Association to succeed Harry H. Culver. Mr. Culver resigns to assume his duties as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which will necessitate almost continuous absence from the city during the present year.

The Greater Washington Boulevard Association was organized some five years ago.

Mrs. Josephine Tague, formerly secretary to Mr. Culver, was named as secretary of the association, with headquarters at 5350 West Washington Boulevard, in the offices of Urban.

Other officers appointed are as follows. W. Elmo Reavis of the Pacific Library Binding Company, first vice-president; W. L. Pollard, second vice-president, and B. L. Vickrey, third vice-president.

Besides Mr. Culver, the following members of the board of directors were present at Monday's meeting: G. D. Robertson, Clarence Urban, W. Elmo Reavis, W. L. Pollard and B. L. Vickrey.

Banker Too Critical, Wife States in Suit

Leo M. Meeker, local banker, became highly critical of his wife, Mrs. Memba C. Meeker, because she forgot to bring sugar for the lemonade when they went on a picnic, according to the wife in her amended complaint for a divorce on file in the Superior Court yesterday. He also called her uncomplimentary names and threw things at her on other occasions, she asserts.

Mrs. Meeker, recently was made the defendant in a suit for $100,000 wherein she is accused of stealing the affections of Frank P. Crook from his wife, Vina M. Crook.

Crouse Wedding Plans Revealed

When John Carl Crouse, young Mason and an employee of The Times' engraving department, decided to keep his coming wedding a secret he evidently forgot, for once, that he works on a newspaper. Mr. Crouse will leave Los Angeles next Saturday morning with his bride, Miss Mary Beaty, for Riverside, and the wedding ceremony will be performed at the Mission Inn. E. F. Otto will be best man and a sister of Miss Beaty will be bridesmaid.

A wedding breakfast will be served at the Mission Inn following the ceremony. Miss Beaty, formerly of Indiana, Pa., is employed with the West Coast Theaters. Mr. and Mrs. Crouse will live in Hollywood.

ANNULMENT GRANTED TO EX-GENERAL

German Officer Appears in Court to Straighten Out Marital Tangle

Dr. Otto Von Prillwitz, who was a general in the Prussian army during the World War, came before Superior Judge Hazlett yesterday seeking an annulment of his marriage with Clara Von Prillwitz. The annulment was granted.

Under the questioning of his counsel, Attorney Lane Donahue, the plaintiff asserted that he received a divorce from his first wife in February, 1928, and married his second wife in September of the same year at Tia Juana. He told the court he was unfamiliar with the laws of California and was unaware of the one compelling a divorced person to wait one year after receiving a divorce before remarrying.

Poison, Rifle and Knife Used in Ending Life

H. J. Benedict, president of the Pacific Van and Storage Company, 2000 South Main street, and real estate operator, was found dead in a small coupe at 3639 Northland Drive in the Angeles Mesa district yesterday morning with his wrists slashed, an empty lysol bottle by his side and a .22 caliber rifle clasped in his hands.

Deputy Sheriffs Guasti and Purrier reported that Benedict apparently had swallowed the lysol, slashed his wrists and then shot himself in the head to make certain of ending his life.

HEARING CONTINUED

The hearing of protests against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of streets in the Park Drive and Ewing street improvement district was continued yesterday by the City Council to February 6.

Trouble Laid to Failing Starter

Failure of the self-starter on an automobile owned by Olin Naves to function properly when the motor "died" in traffic at Washington Boulevard and Flower street was the indirect cause of a charge of failure to stop and render aid following an accident filed against him yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson. This was brought out by deputy sheriffs.

According to the officers, when the engine stopped Naves placed the car in gear and pushed it to start the motor. The car started with a jerk and struck Avis Johnson, a high-school student, before the driver could leap into the seat and gain control, officers assert.

Naves then grabbed the wheel and fled, driving north on Hope street until he crashed into another automobile and was captured by Deputy Sheriffs Hastings and Lowin, it is charged.

ILLINOIS MEETING MONDAY

Albert and Lucile Biaha, radio entertainers from Chicago, will play the accordion and the concertina at the meeting of the Illinois Association to be held Monday in the Veterans' Hall, 346 South Hill street.

Wampas Ball Tickets' Sale to Start Soon

Ticket sale for the 1929 Wampas frolic, to be given this year at the Shrine Auditorium, February 12, will be opened to the public next Tuesday, Wampas officials announced last night.

Reservations in advance are being accepted at the Hollywood headquarters of the Wampas, 6805 Hollywood Boulevard, in the Baine Studio Building, GRanite 7375.

The allocation of tickets will be made in the order of reservations received, with the earliest calls assured of the most favored seats among the Shrine Auditorium's 6500 seats.

SETBACK UNOPPOSED

There being no protests yesterday to the City Council against the proposal to establish a setback on Andrita street between West Avenue Thirty-three and the Glendale and Montrose right of way, the Council instructed the City Council to prepare the necessary ordinance.

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

In honor of Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff, who returned recently after eighteen months abroad, Mr. and Mrs. James Rathwell Page are giving a dinner at their home in Windsor Boulevard tomorrow evening, while next Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Russell McDonnell Taylor is giving a luncheon in her honor at her home in Berkeley Square.

Mrs. Holterhoff's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Royal Mosher (Leila Holterhoff) still are in Vienna, but plan to return to Los Angeles for a visit in April.

Formal Debut

One of the loveliest of the New Year's affairs was the formal debut party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Nathaniel W. Myrick and her sister, Mrs. John D. Mott, at the Myrick home in West Twenty-eighth street in honor of the charming young daughter of the former, Miss Elsy Jane Myrick, who made her bow to Dame Society and formally was presented to her mother's and aunt's friends.

The house was a bower of early spring flowers, the young debutante, who was graduated from Marlborough School, being the recipient of many lovely blossoms sent by admiring friends, a Dresden motif being effectively carried out in the flowers and appointments of the dining-room and tea table.

Mrs. Myrick received her guests in a black gown, while Mrs. Mott was in orchid. Miss Myrick was charming in a white tulle gown fashioned in bouffant model longer in the back than front, a corsage of orchids completing the dainty costume.

Assisting the hostesses and presiding at the tea urns during the hours 4 to 6 o'clock were Mrs. Henry W. McKee, Mrs. Burton Edmund Green, Mrs. Roland [illegible] Bishop, Mrs. William Th[illegible]d Bishop, Mrs. Jefferson Paul Chandler, Mrs. Ernest Albert Bryant, Mrs. Herman Henneberger, Mrs. William May Garland, Mrs. Herman Janss, Mrs. Daniel Grant, Mrs. Georgi Neville Warwick, Mrs. Erwin S. Miss Myrick is actively interested in many of the philanthropic activities and was one of the young girls who assisted at the recent pageant at the Ambassador, which was given by the Assistance League.

He was graduated from Stanford University and is a member of the Chi Psi Fraternity.

Miss Reynolds is an alumna of Marlborough School. The wedding is to be an event of the first part of February.

Many lovely affairs are being planned to honor the popular young bride-elect, before the wedding, among the hostesses being Mrs. Lynn Helm, Jr., Mrs. Alfred Harrison, Miss Peggy Quinlan, and Mrs. Richard McCune, although the exact dates have not yet been arranged.

The wedding will take place in April, soon after the return of the fleet from its winter cruise.

Dinner Party

Mrs. Amalia Earles gave an elaborately appointed dinner and reception at her home, 4901 Pasadena avenue, honoring Mme. Emma Loeffler De Zaruba, the house being decorated with masses of flowers. A great silver bowl, filled with American beauty roses, formed the centerpiece of the table. Those included were Mme. De Zaruba, Mrs. Max Klass, Mrs. Isabelle Kirgan, Mrs. Ruth Bundy, Nils Crisander, Charles De Zaruba, John Schulte, Bertram and the four Earles midgets of the Doll family. An impromptu program followed the dinner.

Boos-Nelson

The marriage of Miss Mary Lou Boos, daughter of Mrs. William P. Reid and the late Horace Boos, to Emmett Byrne Nelson was solemnized last evening, the ceremony taking place at the Reid home in Hudson avenue, with Rev. John M. Scheeffle officiating, before an improvised altar of white flowers and ferns arranged in the living-room.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white marquisette with insets at the sides and long sleeves of pale ecru lace embroidered in seed pearls. A cap of lace with seed pearls and orange blossoms completed the exquisite costume, and she carried an arm shower of white roses, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Annie Lou Jungquist, maid of honor, wore a gown of pale green chiffon and carried salmon-hued rosebuds, while Miss Celia Loyd and Miss Portia Phillips, bridesmaids, wore frocks of pale yellow chiffon and carried arm bouquets of harmonizing flowers.

Harold Piercy served Mr. Nelson as best man and Kenneth Williamson and Lawrence Raymond ushered.

After a brief wedding trip motoring to Coronado and San Diego Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will return to make their home at 658 South La Jolla avenue. Mrs. Nelson attended the Girls' Collegiate and Cumnock Schools, later being graduated from the Orton School, while Mr. Nelson claims Occidental College as his alma mater, and is affiliated with Chi Rho Fraternity.

Holiday Party

Among the pleasant social functions among the younger set during the recent holidays was the luncheon with which Miss Grace Fulmer entertained for her adopted daughter, Miss Mary Jane Fulmer, at her home, 627 South St. Andrews Place.

Miss Fulmer is a junior at Marlborough School, and with her young classmates enjoyed the afternoon of bunco following the luncheon. Those included were Miss Catherine Clift, Miss Mary Hargreave, Miss Kathleen Thorburn, Miss Beatrice Seaton, Miss Mary Marsh, Miss Rose Campbell, Miss Carrie Louise and the honoree.

In the Desert

Recuperating from continued flu, Mrs. Harold Boyd Hershman (Winifred Jones) and her father, Mattison Boyd Jones of Belaire, Glendale, are enjoying a delightful sojourn at El Mirador, Palm Springs. Mrs. Hershman came from her home in Pittsburgh with her young son, Oliver Sylvester Hershman, in the late fall to visit with her parents, but on account of illness was not able to return home for Christmas. Mr. Hershman coming out in December to pass the holidays with his family.

Mrs. Hershman will remain for several weeks longer before returning east, and hopes to be able to participate in the many social functions her many friends are planning for her before leaving.

Wintering Here

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Poirer of Honolulu will pass the remainder of the winter at the Arcady in Wilshire Boulevard, planning to motor to New York in April, sailing for France May 10 aboard the Ile de France, remaining in Europe for five months, returning here November 1.

SHE MAKES HER DEBUT AT TEA

[Curtis Biltmore studios]

Miss Elsy Jane Myrick

ONE of the attractive members of the younger set is Miss Elsy Jane Myrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel W. Myrick of West Twenty-eighth street, who made her formal debut yesterday afternoon at a tea with which her mother and aunt, Mrs. John G. Mott, entertained at the Myrick home, the hours being from 4 to 6 o'clock. Three hundred invitations were issued.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 2 years, pre-natal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema outfits for the new baby, nursing, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stool and bath, and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

THE TALKING MOTHER

It is an amazing tenacity with which mothers cling to methods of discipline which are on the face of them useless. The expenditure of energy and voice power which goes into scolding and threatening a heedless child is simply enormous, quite aside from the evil consequences of such threats.

Two children came to a recent clinic, the oldest near 2 and the baby about 8 months. While the baby was being examined the older proceeded to explore the place. Never have I seen such an energetic child. He climbed under the table with his feet sticking out. He shook the bed violently on which the baby lay. He discovered the glass jar of thermometers and the gauze squares with which to wipe them. He was under everyone's feet and here, there and everywhere in the space of a breath.

And after him went the mother's voice. Her first words were: "Now don't touch anything in here!" When she saw him climbing on the scales she shrieked at him, "Get down or the lady will put you in the cellar."

While the doctor examined his sister he grabbed the tongue depressers and sent them clattering all over the floor. While these were being thrown in the wastebasket, he hid under the doctor's desk. His mother yanked him out, shook him, told him in a loud voice that the doctor would slap him in the face, spoke again of the cellar, and reiterated to anyone whose eye she caught that he was a terrible child and she couldn't do a thing with him, which was fairly obvious. And during that whole time he ran around utterly oblivious of her.

CURIOSITY DEMANDS SATISFACTION

By the time she left everyone felt as if he had been through a war. Undoubtedly he was a trial. Such monumental energy and curiosity and such a constant warfare between mother and child. He, like a butterfly on the wing, flitted from object to object, getting as much as he could out of it before she discovered him and dragged him away. The scenes in the home must be appalling.

Knowing, as she must, that her threats and her talking are utterly wasted, the mother goes on using them. She has accepted the burden of a curious and energetic child as if he were a load from which she could not rid herself. It has never occurred to her that all of this is as natural as childhood. That all but sick children are curious and impelled by that curiosity to do a great many things which are annoying to their elders. Growing muscles demand exercise; curiosity demands to be satisfied. If a child is put in a room and has no outlet for these natural urges he finds some. It isn't "terrible or mean or naughty"—it is just an urge so great that even constant thwarting can't quite kill it.

This is just a blind mother struggling with a situation which never gets any better because she never meets it and accepts it and gives the child things to do which are harmless and still satisfying to him. She just talks.

Wash and dry the rice and add to the shortening after removing the onion. Cook the rice until slightly browned stirring constantly; then add the cooked onions, tomatoes, and chopped green peppers and seasoning. Oil a baking dish, place the mixture in it and bake until the rice is tender.

BAKED FISH IN CRUST

Clean a medium sized fish, wipe it dry and score with a sharp knife three or four times on each side, dredge with salt, paprika, and finely chopped parsley. Make a short pie crust, roll out about one-half an inch thick, wrap the fish in it, pinch the edges together and place in a baking dish. Bake from thirty to forty minutes. Then work in one at a time the egg yolks and mix in the flour, when well worked together, add the finely ground almonds, knead together for at least fifteen minutes, oil a baking dish and spread the bottom and sides with the almond mixture, allowing enough to cover the top. Peel and slice the apples, and stew until tender in water and add a fourth of a cupful of sugar. Mash slightly and pour into the center of the baking dish. Cover the top with the almond paste. Bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes. Serve with cream.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

Author of "The Four Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

NOW IS THE TIME

Human beings are social creatures. An individual is only a cell in the great organism of society. Each of us is dependent upon the other. This fact has been recognized by intelligent people everywhere since the origin of the first government. It underlies every system of ethics. We cannot obtain a full measure of life's happiness until we realize that we benefit ourselves best when we help others most. We rise or fall with those with whom we associate ourselves.

The hermit who withdraws himself from society does not have the temptations to do evil, but, on the other hand, he does not have the opportunities to do good.

Many years ago Confucius stated a negative law of ethics: "You should not do unto others as you would not have others do unto you." This law has been the foundation of every subsequent law for human betterment. This was afterward even more beautifully expressed in the Golden Rule: "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." If each of us obeyed this law to its fullest extent, we would need no others.

We must understand that in order to obtain the greatest value from life we cannot waste it on passing whims and appetites. We can't be successful members of society or enjoy the society of others to the fullest extent unless we play our own part well in the great drama of life. He who is wasteful of his own powers or self-improvement, and is careless of those personal habits which destroy health and character, not only injures himself but injures society as well.

It was once humorously stated that the time might come when we would place our criminals in hospitals to be cured and our sick people in jail for neglecting their duties. This will hardly be necessary, because a sick person certainly suffers enough. Nature has devised the punishment for the neglect of natural laws. The presence of sickness all about is an indication of how ignorant the great masses of humanity are concerning the simplest rules of health.

The consequences of destructive actions are not always immediately apparent. It is in our infancy and youth that the seeds of either disease or of success are sown, and in our later years the crop is harvested.

It is important that one should select the best of friends and companions, for we are like the chameleon, an animal that takes on the color of its surroundings. The examples of others can be our inspiration, and none of us are too obscure or humble for our example, either for good or evil, to be reflected in our companions. It is our responsibility to always live up to the best in ourselves. Those who obey the laws of health and live in a clean, upright manner will induce others to do likewise.

Many people waste their opportunities day after day, hoping that in some far distant future they will be rewarded for the misery they are experiencing now. The important truth is to remember that now is the only time in which we will ever be happy; that is, the actual, ever-present now, with its problems and opportunities. The goal of happiness may indeed lie beyond the grave, but the better part of wisdom is for each one of us to take advantage of our present opportunities for self-improvement and helping our fellows so that we can wholesomely enjoy every moment of the ever-present now.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Lumbago

Question: E. M. H. asks: "Will you please state the cause and cure of lumbago? I have been troubled with serious attacks off and on for years."

Answer: Here are some of the causes: Rheumatism of lower spine; subluxation of lumbar vertebrae; uterine congestion; prostatic disorders; occupational strain; after-results of injury; prolapsus of abdominal organs. The cure, of course, would depend upon which one of these causes was responsible.

Starches and Proteins

Q.: D. D. L. writes: "I notice you say not to mix starches and proteins. When should one eat potatoes? I notice you say not with meats. Would eggs go well with potatoes and bread. Should one eat bread with vegetables?"

A.: It is best to use potatoes as the main food at a meal, using some on the nonstarchy vegetables in combination. Eggs should not be used with either potatoes or bread, but also with the nonstarchy vegetables or with toast and stewed fruit as I often recommend for breakfast. It is best to use real whole-wheat bread as the principal part of the meal, using three or four slices in combinations also with cooked and raw nonstarchy vegetables.

Loose Joints

Q.: H. J. L. writes: "Kindly tell me why the bones in my arms, also my ankles seem to go right out of their sockets when I walk or when I throw my arms out quickly. My arms and legs seem to get out of joint, which is very painful. It doesn't last very long, only often."

A.: Where the looseness of the joints is noticed all over the body it is a sign of mineral starvation. You need more foods containing the bone-building materials. These are found in the nonstarchy vegetables and also in the whole grains.

"The River Gambler" will be a story of the Mississippi River, with Colman in the character of a gambler. It will be an all-talking production. Samuel Goldwyn plans to send a troupe to the Mississippi to film the exterior sequences.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

RELATED TOYS

By Agnes Lyne

In choosing the child's toys if is a good idea, now that Christmas is past, to plan them so that they will work in with such play materials as he already has, or to make a selection of related toys. With those it will be possible for him to work out play schemes more fully than if his toys are a miscellaneous collection chosen at random.

Suppose the 4-year-old already has blocks and a good little wagon. If his interest seems to lie along those lines it is a fine idea to give him the play materials with which to develop a farm. One might well present him with some celluloid cows, chickens, sheep and whatever other farm yard animals are available. A team of horses is necessary to draw his wagon and do the fetching and hauling.

With these toys as a nucleus he can invent an endless variety of plays. The blocks will be to build into barns and stables, they will form fences for the pastures and barn yard, they may even, with an enterprising youngster, be the tracks of a near-by railroad to which he takes the morning milk. He will feed the chickens and gather eggs. He will hitch his horses to their wagon and drive them to your door with a load of vegetables which he will sell you with fine seriousness.

This type of thing could be worked out by the child in all sorts of activities. The materials for housebuilding and furnishing, and for railroading have a great appeal for most children. It is worthwhile studying the enthusiasm of your particular child and then to give him materials which will stimulate him to rich play experience in the phase of interest which is uppermost at the time.

The advantage of related toys is that they allow the child to elaborate his play activities as fully as he wishes. Thus he is helped to organize his understanding of the world about him. He relates cause and effect in a chain of happenings, and understands far more vividly than he otherwise would many of the common processes that are related to his daily life.

PRESENTS RESENTED

Another man bought Mrs. Helen Parsons flowers, a pocketbook and wearing apparel, her husband, Hugh Parsons, testified before Superior Judge Bowron yesterday when asking for a divorce. Parsons told the court that when he asked his wife concerning the presents given her she told him she did not love him any more. She left him on May 17, 1928, he said. A decree was granted.

DEL MAIZ

The New Sweet Corn

Each ear is carefully inspected

It was the only way to accomplish the desired result. Growing and packing methods of the old-established varieties of corn, had reached the limit. To get a better corn, we had to evolve a distinctly new breed. It took 12 years of intensive seed culturing before we obtained the perfect new corn we sought.

Now it is yours to enjoy, as you've never before enjoyed a canned corn. That tasty, fresh corn flavor that is so unique—the absence of cob and other tough particles—the tall DEL MAIZ kernels prevent that, as they permit a full, clean cut, and oh, what delicious morsels they are, embedded in the rich corn cream!

And every can of DEL MAIZ is identical. Our different system of growing and packing insures that. No more "hit and miss" with DEL MAIZ. It is grown, only under the supervision of our own experts. Each ear is carefully inspected, washed in clear running water, husked and packed in sanitary cans by automatic machinery.

No wonder it is so delicious, and delights everyone as no canned corn ever did.

ALAS, POOR JAKE, THEY KNEW HIM WELL

Funeral Rites Conducted for Electrolier in Sherman

He Was Always Good Fellow When Lit Up

PUBLIC funeral services were conducted yesterday at Clarke street and Santa Monica Boulevard, Sherman, for Jacques Electrolier, known as one of the community's most useful members.

And although the lamenting residents had no Marc Antony to do obsequious honors to Jake, as he was familiarly known, what the tributes lacked in polish was made up by the sincerity and solemnity of the mourners. Jake's grave was dug in the cement sidewalk in front of the drug store at Clarke street and Santa Monica Boulevard, the last resting place being marked by a neat cross fashioned of two-by-fours. The mound was covered with floral decorations laid there tenderly by those of the community whom Jake had served so well.

As the mourners stood about the drug store and contemplated the grave, they recalled that Jake Electrolier had been one of the best street lamps that ever helped to light up Santa Monica Boulevard.

"Yes," observed Bill Hurley, "Jake was always at his best when he was lit up."

This met with ready assent from Al Billings and Al Hornlund, two other prominent mourners.

It was recalled that Jake met his doom along with a long line of his brethren at the hands of some street contractor two weeks before Christmas, at a time when the merchants had festooned Jake and his fellow lamps with holiday decorations. Out there they say, "It's the County Supervisors who are responsible for this. We are in the county and why they should tear down these lights and leave us in the dark throughout the Christmas holidays and do absolutely nothing to help us out is beyond us."

The Board of Supervisors appeared to be as nearly overwhelmed with grief over Jake's departure as the citizens. Supervisor Graves recalled that the change in the lighting system was made on petition from the district itself and said he does not feel justified in asking the rest of the county to pay for a temporary lighting system until the new lights are in.

NEW BUS PLANS APPROVED

Motor Coach Company Wins Backing in Effort to Extend and Enlarge Service

Approval has been given by the Board of Public Utilities to the application to the California Railroad Commission by the Motor Coach Company for extension and enlargement of its present service between Santa Monica and Long Beach, for a through service between Santa Monica and San Diego and intermediate points; also for a through service between Long Beach and San Francisco by coast cities.

The company seeks to consolidate the operative rights asked with its present operative rights and service. The San Diego route proposed is from 717 Santa Monica Boulevard, Santa Monica, along the present route to Del Rey, El Segundo, Manhattan Beach, Hermosa Beach, Redondo Beach and then by the coast highway to Walteria and South Lomita to Gaffey Junction; thence over the present route into San Pedro by way of Fifth and Front streets to the Harbor Boulevard in Wilmington; thence northerly over Anaheim Boulevard to Long Beach, and then the coast highway to Seal Beach, Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach, Serra, Oceanside, Del Mar, La Jolla and San Diego.

The applicant does not seek to engage in local business between Serra and San Diego and intermediate points, or between Serra and Long Beach or intermediate points, but desires to carry passengers and baggage between any point north of Serra in one direction and south of Serra in the other, leaving both Santa Monica and San Diego at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Four other bus companies now operate between the points it is proposed to serve, or some of them.

The company seeks to handle passenger and baggage business at any point south of El Rio or north of that point on the San Francisco route, but not local business between the points named. It is proposed to have busses leave Long Beach and San Francisco at 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. daily. Two other bus companies operate over parts of the route asked in the application.

CHANGES IN ROUTES GRANTED TO TWO LINES

Applications of the Pioneer Stages and the Original Stage Line to change the routing of their vehicles, the former in the Hollywood district and the latter in San Fernando Valley, have been approved by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation.

The Pioneer stages were given permission to reroute their line westerly on Sunset Boulevard to Wilcox avenue, northerly on Wilcox to Hollywood Boulevard, to No. 6715, thence through the station to that point northerly and easterly to Las Palmas, north on Las Palmas to Franklin, west on Franklin to Highland, thence northerly over Highland and Cahuenga to join with the present route.

The Original Stage Line was permitted to reroute its busses to operate southerly over Highland avenue to Franklin avenue, thence easterly on Franklin avenue to Las Palmas, thence southerly on Las Palmas to the entrance of a parking station at the northwest corner of Las Palmas and Hollywood Boulevard, near which a waiting station is to be erected. Leaving the station the line is to proceed westerly on Hollywood Boulevard to Highland avenue, thence northerly on Highland avenue to Cahuenga avenue, tying in with the original route.

PLEA MADE IN DRIVE TO AID LEPERS

British Physician Tells Local Society of Work in India's Leprosoriums

Fear, ignorance and apathy on the part of Christian peoples are largely responsible for the fact that one out of every 700 persons in the world is afflicted with leprosy, a disease easily curable in its early stages, according to Sir William Wanless, credited with having cured thousands of lepers. He spoke at the First Methodist Church yesterday before Los Angeles chapter, American Mission to Lepers.

Dr. Wanless, who founded the famous Hospital for Lepers at Miraj, India, and whose forty years of medical service in that country has been gratefully recognized by the British government, in his address yesterday exploded many popular theories concerning leprosy.

Dr. Wanless said the hospital, which he founded has trained, within the last thirty years, more than 200 competent physicians who have gone forth to work in leprosoriums in various parts of India, founded by the American Mission to Lepers and which are operated by American churches of various denominations. William M. Danner is general secretary of the American Mission in New York City.

"The Christian world is waking up to the great need for leprosoriums and for homes in which patients can be cared for pending and following operations at the hospitals," said Dr. Wanless. "Seventy of these leprosoriums have been established by the American Mission. The British government not only has established 4000 medical institutions throughout India but is materially aiding the American Mission in its work."

Mrs. J. Franklin Kelly, president of the Los Angeles chapter, said there are 800,000 lepers living in lands under the American flag and she pleaded with her audience to lend hearty support to the effort to heal these unfortunates, as well as the thousands of lepers in Asia and Africa. The board of directors of the Los Angeles chapter includes members of every religious denomination, Mrs. Kelly said.

SEIZURE OF LEGISLATOR GOES OVER

Judge Delays Issuing of Warrant for Badham in Primary Expense Case

No bench warrant for the arrest of Assemblyman Willard E. Badham will be issued at present, Municipal Judge Sheldon indicated yesterday when he ignored the motion of Deputy City Prosecutor Eberhard for a warrant and continued the case until this morning. Badham was to be tried on charges of failing to file a list of his expenses at the primary election, as required by law.

Frank M. Smith, attorney for Badham, declared that his client is in Sacramento attending the session of the State Legislature and that he has been sworn in as a member of the Assembly. As such, Smith declared, his client is exempt from arrest on a misdemeanor charge. He requested a continuance until May 15, next, at which time he declared Badham will be in the city and can be tried. He exhibited a telegram from Badham in support of his statements.

Judge Sheldon ruled the telegram not a proper legal showing for granting the continuance and continued the case until today to give Smith a chance to obtain an affidavit that his client actually is attending the meeting of the Legislature as a member.

Fake Solicitors Provoke Warning

Solicitors of magazines who say they are working for scholarships at the University of Southern California, and who assert that they have the indorsement of that institution, were the subject of a warning issued yesterday by Col. Warren B. Bovard, vice-president and comptroller. According to Col. Bovard, the University of Southern California does not indorse magazines or give scholarships for subscriptions to any publication, and persons soliciting subscriptions under this guise are endeavoring to mislead the public.

Persons legitimately attempting to obtain magazine subscriptions for companies that reward them by providing tuition for the university of the solicitors' choice, are well provided with means of identification by these concerns, according to Col. Bovard.

Savant's Study Just Cabbages

Cabbages are only cabbages in the United States and Europe, but in the Orient there are so many varieties that Dr. Yoshitada Yabe has found it both worth while and interesting to spend his lifetime studying them. Dr. Yabe is professor of botany in the Tokio Higher Normal College. He was a guest yesterday at the Clark Hotel.

"The cabbages grown in the United States are descendants of the European variety and they are all much the same," Dr. Yabe said. "The cabbages of Japan and China grow in so many varieties that they have not yet all been classified by scientists engaged in research work.

"From the botanical standpoint some interesting discoveries about the oriental cabbages are impending and Japan may soon have something important to give to the world."

Dr. Yabe is just completing a year's tour of the world. He has visited laboratories and done research work in Russia, England, Germany and the eastern part of the United States.

DEFENSE LEAGUE TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Third Street Defense League will be conducted in the Commonwealth Avenue School, Third street and Commonwealth avenue, tomorrow at 8 p.m. A report on the Third street proceedings thus far will be presented. Judge Hewitt will be the speaker. All members of the Virgil Defense League also are asked to attend as Judge Hewitt, who is acting in that case, will report on it.

Officers Say Shooting Laid to 'Razzberry'

Fifty grievances listed in a memorandum yesterday were cited by officers as motives for the shooting of V. J. Collore, an executive of Blake, Moffett & Towne, by Reginald J. Coulter, a truck driver, according to Bonner Richardson, head of Dist.-Atty. Fitts's complaint department.

The memorandum which officers state they found on the person of Coulter shortly after the shooting, was one of the principal links in the chain of evidence on which a complaint was issued charging the truck driver with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

One of the grievances set forth in the memorandum, the officers state, is that Collore once gave Coulter the army razzberry.

The board opened eight bids on oils and greases for Harbor Department use for the next six months and two bids on paving at Berth 174, Mormon Island. PLOT IN LIQUOR POISONING SEEN

Blinded Woman May Have Been Victim of Revenge

Mrs. Sanford Former Secret Agent of Government

Sister Here from Texas Gives Officers New Clew

That Mrs. Thelma Sanford, 19 years of age, blinded by what is believed to have been wood alcohol, may have been the victim of enemies who trailed her here to "get" her because of her asserted activities as a special investigator for the United States Customs Service, was suspected by police yesterday because of information furnished by her sister, Mrs. C. R. Burns.

Mrs. Burns arrived here yesterday from El Paso in response to a telegram received Sunday last informing her of her sister's condition. She at once had Mrs. Sanford removed to the Sylvan Lodge Sanatorium, where her condition, late yesterday, was reported unchanged.

Mrs. Burns was interviewed at the hospital by Detective Lieutenants Corsini and Jones of the police homicide squad. She told the detectives, they say, that both she and her sister had been employed by the customs service as special investigators, and had been instrumental in the conviction of numerous Federal and county officers. She intimated that the lives of both herself and her sister repeatedly had been threatened.

LITTLE HOPE GIVEN

Mrs. Sanford, the detectives state, was asleep when they arrived at the hospital and authorities there would not allow them to question her. She still is totally blind, it is said. According to Dr. E. Harrison the woman has apparently little chance of recovering her eyesight, even though the poisonous liquor she is believed to have taken does not prove fatal.

While the information furnished by the victim's sister led police along a new line of investigation, search was continued for a man known as "Jack." This man, according to the police report, furnished a half-pint of alcohol to friends of Mrs. Sanford, from which, it was at first believed, she obtained the liquor which caused her to go blind.

NEW CLEW INVESTIGATED

In the belief that Mrs. Sanford may have partaken of the deadly potion prior to her visit to the Meyler apartment, Detectives Corsini and Jones left Central Police Station late last evening to check a report of another asserted bootlegger's visit to the hotel at which Mrs. Sanford was living. Investigation of this report, details of which the detectives will not disclose, may result, they say, in a substantiation of the theory that Mrs. Sanford's condition was the work of persons seeking revenge for her work as an investigator for the customs service.

The victim's mother, Mrs. Elisabeth McDaniels, lives in El Paso, Tex. Mrs. Sanford stated that her husband, Raymond Sanford, was absent on a business visit in Dallas, Tex. He was notified, it is reported, and is expected to arrive here today to assist in the investigation.

Aged Man Dies of Crash Injury

An unidentified man about 80 years of age was struck by the automobile of W. A. Lady, 703 Euclid avenue, Santa Monica, yesterday afternoon and suffered injuries from which he died later in the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. The aged man was knocked about thirty feet by the automobile, but witnesses told the police that the accident was unavoidable.

The police in their efforts to identify the man are working on the theory that he was a Civil War veteran. The accident occurred at West Pico Boulevard and Costello street, Sawtelle.

Wife Falls Dead Saluting Spouse

As she stepped out on to the front porch of her home at 1428 Sunset Boulevard to wave good-by to her husband when he left for work yesterday, Mrs. C. W. Banta, 61 years of age, fell down the steps.

When her husband rushed back to her side she was unconscious. When a rescue squad from the fire department arrived a few moments later she was dead, according to police. It is believed she died from heart disease.

HARBOR TONNAGE RANKS THIRD

Shipping Board Report Shows Jump From Sixth Place in Year's Time

Attention of the Harbor Commission yesterday was drawn to the fact that the United States Shipping Board's comparative statement for 1928 placed Los Angeles third in the nation in the volume of foreign commerce handled over its wharves. General Manager Edwards sent in a communication to this effect, stating that in 1927 Los Angeles Harbor was in sixth place in foreign commerce.

The Shipping Board, Edwards reported, found that the port of New York and that of New Orleans were the only two leading this port in the volume of foreign commerce last year. Los Angeles led all other ports on the Pacific in the volume of foreign shipments. The communication was placed on file.

ATTORNEY DIES AFTER AUTO CRASH

H. M. Wisler Was Friend of Taft and Dawes and Active in G.O.P. Affairs

Henry Miller Wisler, well-known Los Angeles attorney and active in the councils of the Republican party, died yesterday afternoon at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he had been unconscious as the result of a fractured skull suffered Saturday morning when he was struck by an automobile as he was standing in a safety zone at Sixth and Hill streets. A Coroner's inquest, it was announced, will be conducted today.

Born in Mifflin, Pa., June 6, 1854, Mr. Wisler was graduated from the Cincinnati Law School in the same class with Vice-President Dawes during the period that Chief Justice Taft was enrolled at the school. These friendships had endured, as did that with President McKinley. During last summer Mr. Wisler sustained his record of having been a participant in every Republican convention since Blaine's nomination, by attending the convention at Kansas City.

During a residence in Chicago Mr. Wisler became one of the founders of the Hamilton Club and he also became a Thirty-second-Degree Mason. Los Angeles became his permanent home in 1905, and in late years he resided at 2102 Fourth avenue. He leaves a daughter, Miss Helen Wisler, who has just retired from the presidency of the Women's Overseas League, and a son, Bond Wisler. His law offices were in the Consolidated Realty Building, where he was associated with Carl D. Davis. No plans for the funeral were announced pending the findings of the Coroner's jury.

Navy Cutters Seek Sailor's Body in Harbor

Twenty navy motor boats and cutters patroled the waters off Long Beach yesterday afternoon in a search for the body of Jlaude Ellsworth McCall, reported drowned off a naval gig. McCall, who was 17 years of age, was a seaman, second class, of the crew of the U.S.S. New Mexico.

As one of the crew of the captain's gig, he put Capt. H. B. Lorimer ashore at the Long Beach pier yesterday. While the gig was dashing back to the warship, McCall went aft. That was the last seen of him.

After ten minutes his absence was noted and a search made. The gig retraced its course, but the seaman was not sighted. Other gigs and cutters from the warships joined the search. A motor boat crew from the U.S.S. Idaho recovered McCall's trousers from the water. The disappearance is considered mystifying inasmuch as the ocean was calm and McCall was a strong swimmer.

His father is Elijah McCall of Mecca, Ind. An older brother is a member of the same gig crew, but was ashore yesterday at the time of Claude's disappearance.

Japanese Girl Object of Quest

Search for a mysterious Japanese girl, believed to be hiding in Los Angeles, fearing that her husband will pursue and kill her, was undertaken yesterday by the Sheriff's office following the interception of a telegram in which the girl is asserted to have told her fears to a friend in Chicago. The telegram was signed "San."

The message was taken to the Western Union office by a Japanese, who gave his name as Takeko, and said he lived at 4252 Produce street. He was questioned, but declined to say anything except that San, a very beautiful Japanese girl, had given him the message to send.

Efforts to learn more of the girl at the Produce-street address failed and officers last night were attempting to ascertain her whereabouts through F. S. Idaka of 1431 Solon Place, Chicago, to whom the telegram was addressed.

COMMERCIAL BOARD CHOOSES DIRECTORS

A new board of directors of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles was elected yesterday to serve for 1929. Those elected are J. R. Coffman, E. A. Coons, P. H. Ducker, Fred A. Hooper, Walter Moore, Jr.; Elmer S. Nelson, C. H. O'Connor, E. Clair Overholtzer, A. E. Slaught and H. B. Wright. The new board will meet at the Commercial Board headquarters in the Rives-Strong Building next Monday to elect officers for the year.

ANCIENT IDOLS REACH HERE

Panama Held First Seat of Civilization

Religious Figures of Solid Gold

Dr. Ernest Forbes, noted archeologist, and Mrs. Forbes, who arrived here yesterday exhibiting idols found in burial grounds asserted to be more than 30,000 years old.

PROOF indicating that Central America was the scene of the world's first civilization was brought back yesterday from Panama by Dr. Ernest Forbes, American archeologist, in the form of several dozen idols of solid virgin gold, all recovered from ancient burial grounds in the Cocle district of the Isthmus. Dr. Forbes, accompanied by Mrs. Forbes, returned aboard the Panama Mail liner Colombia.

Among his new treasures, Dr. Forbes displayed a six-inch shark burial guard, with movable scales; a statuette of an executioner priest with ax, and a frog idol of the ancient reptile worshipers. All are in perfect state of preservation and Dr. Forbes declared they have an archeological value in excess of $50,000. They will be loaned to the De Young Museum, San Francisco.

Dr. Forbes estimates his latest finds were created prior to 10,000 B.C., when, he said, ancient civilizations are known to have flourished in Panama many centuries before that of the Incas and Mayas.

Dr. Forbes possesses the largest collection of Central and South American antiquities in existence, almost all of which he has collected on numerous expeditions.

Textile Agent Dies of Illness

William P. Murphy, 63 years of age, for the last twenty-five years Pacific Coast representative of eastern textile mills, died of pneumonia yesterday after a short illness at his home, 1041 Citrus street. He came to Los Angeles sixteen years ago.

He leaves his wife, to whom he was married in 1916, and two children, by a former marriage, J. Willard Murphy of this city and Mrs. Mayre Richmond of Shawnee, Okla. Mr. Murphy was a member of the Masonic Lodge of Newton, Kan.; the Los Angeles chapter of the Royal Arch Masons; of the Los Angeles Commandery No. 9, Knights Templar and of Al Malaikah Temple, Mystic Shrine. He also was a member of the Modern Woodmen of the World.

Funeral services under the auspices of the Knights Templar will be conducted at Bresee's chapel Saturday at 2 p.m. Interment will be in Inglewood Cemetery.

Britton Given Council Backing

Mayor Cryer's nomination of Clifford Britton to the post on the Civil Service Commission made vacant by the death of George J. Stoneman was confirmed by unanimous vote of the City Council yesterday. Mr. Britton will assume his duties at once.

MOTHER FINDS BABES DEAD

Long Beach Father Leaves Note Telling of His Smothering of Children and Then Disappears

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 9.—"You will meet the babies in heaven," read the note Joseph Duer, 38 years of age, of 6022 Olive street, North Long Beach, left for his wife tonight after he had smothered their two children, Dorothy, 2½ years of age, and Charlotte, 9 months of age. Duer, an employee of the postoffice and a former school superintendent in Kansas, fled after the asserted double infanticide.

Mrs. Duer, who arrived home at 6 o'clock tonight, found the note on the dining-room table. The bedroom was locked so she shouted for neighbors who, in turn, called the police. Detective Sergeants Springer and Blunt broke down the bedroom door and upon entering the room found the two little girls under a blanket, wrapped in each other's arms. A towel lay near by. This, the police said, had been used either to strangle the children or to smother them.

Duer, the police said, evidently had intended to commit suicide after he had killed his children. No trace of him could be found, so the police immediately got in touch with the police of Los Angeles and of towns in the vicinity of Long Beach. It is thought he might have reached one of the docks and jumped into the ocean.

Mrs. Duer told the police that her husband had not been satisfied with his position and that he had brooded over the fact that he could not get a good job since they came here from Kansas. This brooding, she said, took the form of melancholia and undermined his health to such an extent that he suffered an attack of influenza, from which he only recently recovered. She told the police she thought his mind had become deranged.

Vreelund Rites Set for Today

Funeral services for Arthur J. Vreeland, 30 years of age, will be conducted today at 10 a.m. Burial will be in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mr. Vreeland lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vreeland of 226 South Prairie avenue, Hawthorne. He also leaves three brothers, Guy, William and Charles, Jr. He was a member of the Christian Church and the Railway Men's Brotherhood.

Patética Escena en los Funerales del Gran Duque Nicolás

CANNES (Francia), Enero 9.—Hoy se efectuaron aquí las ceremonias fúnebres en honor del gran duque Nicolás, cuyo cuerpo ha sido depositado por el pronto en una cripta de la iglesita rusa ante 200 significados miembros de la nobleza rusa y de otros países europeos.

Cinco mil desterrados rusos, por lo menos, de todas las clases sociales llenaban el cementerio y las callejuelas vecinas, pues el tamaño de la iglesia les vedaba la entrada en ella.

La escena fue de lo más patética, pues los oficiales rusos se presentaron con uniformes comidos de la polilla, y muchas de las señoras iban pobremente vestidas. Daban señales de privación hasta los miembros de la antigua casa real rusa.

La Prensa de Boulder Será Estudiada por los Mejicanos

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Enero 9.—Si bien los funcionarios mejicanos han estado sumamente cautos y se han abstenido de comentar o criticar la votación del proyecto de ley sobre la presa de Boulder, y ni los periódicos han comentado gran cosa el asunto, sino que casi se han limitado a publicar los mensajes de Washington acerca de esa cuestión, sábese de cierto que el gobierno no ha dejado pasar inadvertido el asunto de la construcción de la citada obra hidráulica.

Salvo la declaración del ministro de Relaciones Estrada, hecha al aprobarse el proyecto de ley de la presa, de que éste daría lugar a conversaciones diplomáticas con los Estados Unidos, declaración confirmada a poco andar, con igual brevedad, por el presidente Portes Gil, Méjico no ha publicado oficialmente nada que arroje luz sobre su actitud a ese respecto.

Créese, con todo, que si bien Méjico admite tácitamente el derecho de los Estados Unidos para hacer lo que les plazca con las aguas de un río que corre por su territorio, prevalece, no obstante, la impresión de que la República Mejicana habrá de echar mano de alguna disposición del derecho internacional para cuestionar la facultad de desviar el curso de un río cuyo cauce natural recorre territorios de los dos países, cuando la desviación afecta desfavorablemente a terrenos que están más allá de la frontera de los Estados Unidos.

La Hermana del Ex-Káiser en Apretos Económicos

BERLIN, Enero 8.—La hermana del que fue káiser alemán, y que al presente se llama la señora Alexander Subkoff, ha entablado hoy acción judicial en los tribunales de Munich contra el príncipe Adolfo, jefe de la antigua casa reinante de Schaumbeg-Lippe. Su objeto es hacerse de dinero, pues se está viendo en apuros pecuniarios debido, en parte, a los derroches de su joven esposo ruso, y en parte, a malaconsejadas inversiones, entre otras, la compra de cuadras de caballos de carrera a un precio exorbitante.

Un Terrible Temporal Demora a un Vapor de la Cunard

NUEVA YORK, Enero 9.—El Mauretania, transatlántico de la línea Cunard, entró en dársena hoy con un día de retraso, después de la travesía más procelosa que ha visto su capitán, el señor S. G. S. McNeil, en los treinta y cinco años que tiene de experiencia marítima.

Los golpes de mar estrellaron ventanas, volteraron botes salvavidas y causaron desperfecto en el puente. Sólo durante diecisiete horas fue posible marchar a toda velocidad, y hubo períodos en que tuvo que reducirse la velocidad a cuatro nudos.

WILL LAID TO CHURCH INFLUENCE

J. M. Whitney's Daughter Contests His Bequest as Wrongly Obtained

Influences brought to bear on him by fellow-members of his church are given as the reason for the late Joseph M. Whitney making a will in which he left one-fourth of his estate to a church organization, according to a contest filed in the Probate Court yesterday.

Whitney, according to the records, died at Montebello on November 18, 1927, at 80 years of age. He left an estate valued at $18,148.

The contest in court was filed by Clara Louise Pelkey, his daughter, who asserts she is the only legal heir and entitled to the estate left by her father.

The daughter was left all the property with the exception of one-fourth of the estate, which is left to the Seventh-Day Adventists' Association of Southern California, and bequests of $500 to Irving Barnhart, Jr., a grandson, and $500 to Mary E. Ray.

The contestant asserts in her petition that her father, because of his advanced age, was susceptible to the influences of others, particularly members of the church he attended. He was attended during his illness by Dr. L. J. Ottis, a member of the same church. He, with Dr. Volney Lucas and George W. Reaser, it is asserted, represented to Whitney that it was his duty to give a large part of his property to the church. The complaint further asserts that several years ago the aged man was induced to donate valuable property to the organization for a church edifice.

Undercover Man Held on Charges

Charles M. Tripp, alias Don Tripp, said to be an undercover agent for the police vice squad, was arrested yesterday at Central Police Station by Deputy United States Marshal Walsh on a charge of impersonating a government officer.

Tripp is accused of representing to numerous persons at Dallas, Tex., that he was connected with the United States Department of Agriculture. In this manner he is said to have ingratiated himself with cattlemen and obtained several thousand dollars. He was placed in the County Jail in lieu of $3500 bail pending hearing on removal to Texas.

UNION SLUGGER SUSPECT TAKEN

Victim of Trade War Attack Identifies Prisoner

Accused Involves Officials in Confession, Say Police

Organization Heads Directed Assaults, He Admits

Arrest and confession of an asserted slugger, ex-convict and robber yesterday further entangled officials of the cleaners, and dyers' union in the conspiracy to terrorize and extort money from independent dyers, police say. The arrest was made by Detective Lieutenant Hynes and his bomb squad while they were conducting a search for Charles M. Murphy, president of the union.

The arrested man is James Delaney, asserted to have been a close associate of Murphy and other union officials. His chief "hangout" is said to be the headquarters of the union.

LOOKING FOR MURPHY

Delaney was taken in a midnight raid conducted by Lieut. Hynes at 1726 North Chevy Chase Drive. The detectives had been informed that Murphy might be found there. Delaney, who had been sought for the slugging of Frank Janovich, a cleaner and dyer at 1137 West Manchester street, last August, was supposed to have fled to Chicago. He told the detectives he returned to Los Angeles several weeks ago.

He readily admitted that he had "worked" for the union officials and that he was an intimate friend of Murphy. He denied knowing Murphy's whereabouts, saying he had not seen him for a week. Delaney's admission that he had been in the employ of union leaders is the second within a week naming Murphy as leader of a group sought by the police for asserted outrages against independents.

IDENTIFIED BY VICTIM

Delaney was identified by Janovich as the man who lured him to a house at Eighty-third street and Vermont avenue last summer on the pretext of having some clothing to be cleaned. The house was vacant and when Janovich appeared Delaney is said to have dragged him through the door and hammered him with a blackjack.

"This is what all of you are going to get," Delaney exclaimed as he began beating him, Janovich told the police.

The beating of Janovich is but one of a long series of such outrages, according to Lieut. Hynes, who expects to round up the entire gang of sluggers and acid throwers. Threats from the union leaders have so intimidated most of the victims that they are reluctant to inform the police, Lieut. Hynes declared. The victims fear their homes and places of business will be destroyed by bombs, the police say.

A score of victims, however, are to be brought to police headquarters to look at Delaney in an effort to connect him with other beatings administered to proprietors of cleaning establishments.

BEFORE GRAND JURY

The police expect to lay evidence before the grand jury tending to connect the union extortionists with an organized group of cleaners in a conspiracy to drive out of business and competition small independent concerns.

The organized group is asserted to have furnished funds to the acid throwers and sluggers of the union.

In the meantime the police are continuing their search for Murphy, president of the union.

Woman Posing as Man and Girl Companion Held

Accused of posing as a man, Catherine Wing, 24 years of age, was arrested by Department of Justice agents last night. She and Stella Harper, 19, were booked at the County Jail on a charge of suspicion of violating the Mann Act. It is said by the police that the two young women have lived together in rooms at the rear of a barber shop at Pico and Figueroa streets. For the past four years, the officers charge, Catherine has posed successfully as a man barber. They also conducted a barber shop at Wilmar. Both originally came from Mammoth, Utah.

The arresting officer said Miss Wing's sex was suspected some time ago when she was involved in a liquor arrest at South Gate. The Department of Justice agents who made the arrest last night declined to give any details.

Church Amity Leader Here

Michael Williams, president of the Calvert Association, arrived at the Biltmore yesterday to open a branch of the organization in Los Angeles. The association is composed largely of Catholic laymen and its purpose is to promulgate a better understanding and feeling between the members of different sects. A number of prominent Protestant leaders are included in its roster of active members.

The association has a membership of more than 5000 people in eastern States and is spreading rapidly westward, according to Williams. Besides a branch in Los Angeles other branches will probably be started soon elsewhere on the Pacific Coast, he said.

An annual celebration in honor of the landing of John Calvert and his associates and the founding of Marpland in 1634 is sponsored in several cities by the Calverts and a third centennial pageant in Maryland in 1934 already is being planned, Williams declared.

The Commonweal, a New York magazine of which Williams is the editor, is sponsored by the association.

U.S.C. GETS GIFT FROM BANK HF

Ben R. Meyer Presents $25,000 to Endowment Fund of Local University

Another substantial gift to the semicentenial fund of the University of Southern California was announced yesterday by the Semicentennial Commission, when it made public the subscription of $25,000 from Ben R. Meyer. He is president of the Union Bank and Trust Company and a Los Angeles business leader. He is a member of the university's board of trustees and also of the administrative board of the Semicentenial Commission which is in charge of the task of raising $10,000,000 for the university's building and endowment program.

BEN R. MEYER.

By the terms of the gift the university is enabled to devote it to any purpose that the administration may decide upon.

"The University of Southern California is distinctly a community institution," Meyer said in transmitting his gift, "and as such deserves the whole-hearted material support of those, who are interested in advancing the welfare of our community. Every great city of America supports a first-rate university, which has grown and developed with the city."

State Closes in Lasker Case

Taking of testimony in the trial of A. I. Lasker, indicted on charges of grand theft and making false entries in the books of the Lasker Finance Corporation, reached the halfway mark yesterday in Judge Wilson's court when the State announced the conclusion of its case.

The defense got under way during the afternoon session after Judge Wilson had dismissed two of the counts against Lasker. The dismissal was made on technical grounds, with the court recommending that the two counts be resubmitted to the county grand jury for further consideration.

Lasker still is facing five counts of making false entries and three of grand theft in connection with his management of the affairs of the corporation that bore his name.

He also was indicted in connection with the charges filed against former Dist.-Atty. Keyes. This accusation charges Lasker with obtaining illegally a dismissal of previous charges filed against him during an investigation of his conduct of the business of the finance company.

FUNERAL HELD FOR RICKARD

Simple Services Mark Final Rites for Promoter

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Tex Rickard was buried today after funeral services in a crepe-draped Madison Square Garden he leaves behind as a monument to his vision. After brief and simple services, which were in marked contrast to the spectacular things in which the sports promoter dealt in life, his body was interred in a cemetery where a wife and child rest.

DENVER "PRO" SHATTERS SUNSET FIELDS RECORD

Danny Williams Leads Qualifiers at Fox Hills With 141; Seaver Stars Over Lakeside Course

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

If his putter will function only half the time, watch out for Johnny Rogers from Denver, Colo., in the Los Angeles $10,000 open!

This brilliant golfer from the Rocky Mountain district, who is acclaimed as one of the longest wood and iron shots in the country today, yesterday morning shattered his second course record in the past two weeks, when he stamped over the Sunset Fields course No. 1 in 69 strokes, three under par. That breaks the old mark by one stroke. Johnny first stepped into the limelight at the Virginia Country Club a couple of weeks ago, when he scored a 66 for a new Virginia record, to finish second to Walter Hagen in the Long Beach $5000 open.

CHARLES SEAVER

Johnny wound up with a 73 for a thirty-six-hole total of 142 to tie for second place with John Juner of Portland, Or., in the open qualifying round, which attracted a field of 315 starters.

First place in the thirty-six-hole test, however, went to Danny Williams of the Shackamaxon Golf Club, New Jersey, who toured the Fox Hills east course in 72-69—141, one stroke under par.

Frank Rodia of Seattle slipped into third place at Bel-Air with 74-69—143. A number of fine scores were turned in over the Westwood course, Johnny Golden, La Jolla $2500 open winner, scored 72-73—144. Francis Gallett of Milwaukee, Wis., shot a brace of 73's for a 146 total, and Chet Beer of Bakersfield registered 74-73—147 over the same course.

Rial Rolfe from the Ridgemoor Golf Club of Chicago, who qualified at Fox Hills, was low amateur with 71-75—146. He was trailed by Charles Seaver of the Los Angeles Country Club, runner-up in the Southern California amateur, who turned in cards of 74-73—147 over the difficult Lakeside layout.

Other low qualifiers were Bob MacDonald, noted Chicago professional, 76-71—147; Tom Stevens of the California Country Club, 73-75—148; Weller Noble, low-handicap amateur from the San Gabriel Country Club, 73-75—148, and Charlie (Beau) Guest of Detroit, 73-75—148.

But getting back to Rogers.

CALLAND POLISHES UP U.S.C. DEFENSE FOR CRUCIAL TWO-GAME SERIES WITH BEARS

BY BOB RAY

Satisfied with the Trojans' offensive ability but still a bit dubious about their defensive play, Coach Leo Calland will today send the University of Southern California cagers through a final workout to prepare them for their crucial two-game series with the California Bears that opens tomorrow night at the Olympic Auditorium.

LEO CALLAND

Calland has been perfecting the Trojan defense for the past week and believes that his athletes will be able to make it tough on the Bears' basketeers when they work the ball into U.S.C. territory.

The week-end's clashes between U.S.C. and California will be in the nature of grudge battles, for the Bears are out to regain their basketball ascendency that the Trojans so rudely took away from them last year. California fans still claim that they had a better quintet than the Trojans last year but that they were handicapped in their series with U.S.C. because some of the Bear cagers were also on the football squad and could not join the basketball practice until after the grid game with Pennsylvania on New Year's Day. This year none of the Bear casaba wafters came to Pasadena with the grid team, so they should have their teamwork down just as well as the Trojans, although Coach Nibs Price was not able to take charge of the practice until after the New Year's game. While Price was absent, though, Hap Houvenin, a former Bear cage star, took charge of the workouts. In their practice games so far the Bear five has won two out of three from Kansas and more recently thoroughly squelched the strong

TWO-MAN RACING CARS TO REPLACE TINY SPEEDSTERS

BY JAY R. VESSELS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—They set the calendar back eight years in American racing today by ordering the two-man car back into the picture at the annual 500-mile races at Indianapolis.

E. V. RICKENBACKER

Effective in 1930 by order of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, the old twin-seated racer, with lean power but with far more color, will replace the tiny machines that since 1922 have annually demolished speed records in the big brick saucer of the Indianapolis motor speedway.

The decision brings victory to automobile manufacturers, most of whom have been crowded from the motor-racing limelight. The builders, in the opinion of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, chairman of the A.A.A. contest board and president of the Indianapolis motors speedway, will deliver "in the near future" with two-man cars capable of equalling if not bettering the dizzy marks of 120 miles an hour and faster, established by the smaller racers.

One of the major benefits anticipated under the move is an ultimate increase in the number of drivers qualified to compete in headline events. The main source of supply was eliminated with the advent of the smaller machines in that mechanics, many of whom were capable drivers under the old system, no longer were available.

The change will mean an increase in the size of the engine from the present class of ninety-one and one-half cubic inches piston displacement to a maximum of 366 cubic inches, the equivalent of the European six-litre class.

Competing cars must weigh at least 1750 pounds, must have two independently operated systems of brakes, one system effective on all four wheels, and must

JONES BEATS DAVISCOURT IN STAR GRAPPLING DUEL

Paul Jones, chesty Texan mat star, defeated Dick Daviscourt, veteran of the wrestling game, last night in Lou Daro's Olympic mat show by taking two out of three falls. Jones won the third fall of the evening and his second straight in short order, putting Daviscourt flat on the mat in nine minutes and twenty seconds with a straight-arm scissors.

PAUL JONES

This win puts Jones in line for a match with Strangler Lewis, ex-champion, on the 23rd inst.

Daviscourt took the first fall after thirty-five minutes and twenty-five seconds of hectic wrestling with a double wristlock. Dick got in bad with the crowd by searching Jones for hidden guns, knives, or hockey sticks before the bout started. He claimed Jones didn't like him.

The boys then started playing hop, skip and jump, Daviscourt doing the hopping and skipping, while Jones did the jumping. All over, around outside and inside the ring went the boys. Finally Paul heaved the heavier Daviscourt into Al Jolson's lap, who was at the ringside. Al gave out one "Mammy," which put Dick back in the ring.

After exchanging left hooks Dick ran full tilt into Jones, who flopped to the mat. Daviscourt jumped on him and much to the dismay of the fans clamped on a double wrist lock which gave him the first fall.

The second fall of the evening went to Jones with a cowboy hook scissors after twenty-three minutes and thirty-three seconds of rough milling. Jones hooked on to Daviscourt like a boa constrictor and kept applying the pressure. After about seven minutes of this Dick fell down and gave in while the 6500 fans present cheered.

Big Pete Sauer defeated Billy Shaw, Utah redhead, in the semi-wind-up, taking forty-one minutes to turn the trick. The winning fall was a body slam. It was a wild, fast bout, jammed full of the type

TENNIS MOGULS PROPOSE TO STAMP OUT PLAYER-WRITERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Members of future American Davis Cup or Wightman Cup teams would be prohibited from writing tennis articles for newspapers and magazines or giving interviews, if the recommendation of the executive committee is approved at the annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association in Boston February 8-9, next.

BILL TILDEN

The recommendation, growing out of the experience with "Big Bill" Tilden prior to the Davis Cup challenge round last summer, is aimed at removing any possibility of propriety or amateur rule violation in the journalistic activities of members of international tennis teams.

Challenges have been filed by the United States for both the Davis cup and Wightman cup matches this year. The Davis Cup challenge to France provides for preliminary competition in the American zone. The Wightman Cup matches with England, for women, will be played here.

Representatives of France, England, and the United States will meet in London to consider revision of the present regulations governing the date and place of the intersone Davis Cup tie. It is the proposal of the United States that if the winners cannot agree between themselves, the event be held in the country of the Davis Cup championship nation.

Samuel H. Collom of Philadelphia has been nominated for a second term as president of the U.S.L.T.A. The other nominations are: Louis B. Dalley, New York, for vice-president; James C. Stewart, Chicago, for secretary; and Louis J. Carruthers, New York, for treasurer.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 9.—Austin Clapp, erstwhile member of the American Olympic team and Hollywood Athletic Club natator, was yesterday unanimously elected captain of the Stanford freshmen swimming team. Ogden Driggs, cardinal middle-distance ace, was named captain of the varsity swimming team, and Frank Booth of El Segundo, was chosen to lead the freshman water polo outfit.

The swimming and water polo teams will take a trip south to meet the California Bruins, U.S.C. and one of the athletic clubs of Los Angeles in March, according to tentative plans.

Occidental Athletic Teams to Meet Trojans in All Four Major Sport Events

TIGERS SIGN ANCIENT FOES

Tennis Teams Also to Meet in Hard Schedule

Annual Baseball Series is Included Again

Track Squads Will Battle in Dual Affair

Occidental College will meet the University of Southern California in every major sport activity during the athletic season of 1929, it was revealed yesterday, when basketball, track, baseball and tennis schedules of the Tiger varsity squads displayed the Trojans as an opponent of the Eagle Rock institution.

Joseph A. Pipal

Just recently did Graduate Manager Phil Ellsworth at Oxy announce the final arrangements completed that will bring together Oxy's classy cage quintet and that of the Southern California Trojans. The teams clash Tuesday, the 22nd inst., at Southern California. The Tigers are displaying one of the strongest quintets in the Southern Conference and expect to offer plenty of stiff competition for the Trojans.

The usual three-game ball series between these institutions will take place this year, the first on February 6 at Oxy. The second game comes on March 1 at Southern California and the final tilt at Oxy March 22. The two diamond nines have battled for the past four years with Oxy enjoying a slight advantage.

Even Coach Joe (Timberwolf) Pipal's Tiger trackmen will engage the Trojans in a dual meet at Patterson field. The date is March 23. U.C.L.A. appears on Pipal's 1929 track-and-field program also.

Trojan and Tiger tennis officials have also agreed upon a double tennis date this year, the first to take place at S.C. on March 5 and the second a return tilt at Oxy April 13. The dates are not yet definite and may be shifted a bit, however.

These are four major sports of this second semester but since Oxy's championship conference football eleven met S.C.'s mighty gridiron machine this past grid year, these two institutions will have clashed in all five major sport activities of the 1928-29 athletic season.

U.S.C. PREPARES FOR BEAR FIVE

Athens A. C. quintet, 56 to 28. Any team that scores 56 points in a game against such strong opposition as the Athens club has plenty of offense, so be prepared for a couple of high score battles when the Trojans and Bears get into action.

Capt. Verne Corbin, the lanky Bear center who has been an outstanding star on California varsities the past two seasons, is a basketball team in himself and is almost a cinch to be high-point man in one of the games. The rest of the Bears' starting line-up will probably find Lenny Stevens and Perry Ten Eyck, both two-year veterans, as forwards, and Canoy Gregory, another vet, and Joel Coffield at the guard positions. Coffield is the only athlete who did not play regularly last season and you'll remember him from the football season as Price's kick-off ace. Nibs used to send Coffield in just to kick off over the goal line so the opposition would not be able to get the ball back past the twenty-yard line.

Although he will not start, "Frenchy" Larrieu, up from last year's frosh, is a cinch to see some action as a forward. Larrieu, when we used to know him some nine years ago, was a little squirt who helped the Oakland Boys' Club win the 120-pound A.A.U. title. Frenchy was high-point man in the game against Athens A. C., ringing up 26 counters, which would indicate he is somewhat of a "dead-eye."

Calland has decided on his starting line for tomorrow night's opener and the tipoff will see Nibley and Cano as forwards, Mortensen at center, and Capt. Thomas and Lehners as guards. Cano was kept out of the L.A.A.C. game because of a couple of backfiring tonsils, but is again in shape and will start. This is the combination that has won nine straight games for the Trojans.

Calland will probably have an edge on Price in the matter of capable substitutes, for he has Frank Smith, who can play forward or center capably; Hirdler and Boelter, forwards, and Harris, a guard, to shoot into the fray in case any of his regulars show signs of weakening.

not be less than thirty-one inches across the base of the seat.

In another decision of far-reaching importance, the board ruled that hereafter anyone contesting for the world's speed crown on a straightaway course will not be required to have a reverse gear in his car. This brings the international sports commission of Europe into accord with the A.A.A. on the point.

The board made a concession to the dirt track racers by permitting them to eliminate reverse-mechanisms. It held, however, that "all big league speedway racing cars" still will be required to have a reverse.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWDY

A SHATTERED DREAM

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN went into the "red" to the tune of nearly $235,000 last year. And Tex Rickard died before he had a chance to come back. That is the saddest note in the passing of the world's greatest promoter—the man who made Madison Square Garden what it is today.

Since he inaugurated million-dollar gates back in 1921 with the Dempsey-Carpentier fight Rickard staged five, culminating with the second Dempsey-Tunney bout in Chicago.

His only flop was the Tunney-Heeney imbroglio last summer. Rickard's real thoughts on this fight never have been told—whether he sensed its slim chances of success or just took a gambler's flyer as he did in the old Klondike days.

But Rickard had planned to offset this setback—the only big reverse he had ever suffered in his life. His friend and pal, Jack Dempsey, was to make one more fight. Dempsey was the drawing power in each of the million-dollar gates, and Dempsey, ever ready to go out of his way for a friend, had consented against his own better judgment.

Dempsey, wobbly legs and all, would fight for his pal—and his pal's reputation.

And then death stepped in to disrupt and "best laid plans of men and mice."

His pal is dead.

KEARNS AND GIBSON

WHO will bloom to take Rickard's place is problematical.

Harry Pollok, who once managed Freddie Welsh and other ring celebrities, and is now associated with the James Woods Coffroth interests below the border, has two names in mind.

Two men who have the knowledge and ability to take over the duties of a big job in a big racket.

Billy Gibson and Jack Kearns. Pollok leans to the latter.

Both have managed two world's champions. They know big money, talk in big money, and have handled big money.

Gibson had Benny Leonard and Gene Tunney. Kearns had Dempsey and has Mickey Walker.

Kearns put Rickard over the hurdles for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in 1921.

He staged the ballyhoo and Rickard capitalized on it.

He saw big money before Rickard.

And still sees it. Try and get Kearns to let Mickey Walker risk his middleweight crown for less than $100,000.

Nobody knows what a heavyweight crown would have been worth in Kearns's eyes when Tunney and Dempsey fought the second time. Probably two-thirds of the $2,658,000 gate—or more.

Mr. Kearns may be a playboy in his jovial moments, but he certainly does know those telephone numbers in terms of money. And he keeps a finger on the public pulse.

A STRIBLING CHEER

ALTHOUGH the experts at large can't see Young Stribling for dust as a heavyweight contender several of the Atlanta journalists who came west with the Georgia Tech team say he is a much improved fighter.

They say he has cut out some of his wrestling tactics. Has learned to hit like a ton of brick. And isn't quite as acrobatic as of old.

This will be good news to San Franciscans who saw probably the worst bout in history when Young Stribling disgraced the city by the Golden Gate with a terrible exhibition up there four years ago.

AUTO RACING SAFE, SANE BY 1930, SAYS PILLSBURY

Automobile racing, the sport unparalleled in point of hazard, is about to become a safe-and-sane amusement without losing any of its spectacular nature, according to Arthur C. Pillsbury, field representative of the American Automobile Association and the man who admitted a score of "outlaw" pilots into the realm of organised racing so that they may compete in Sunday's sanctioned meeting at Ascot Speedway, under the sponsorship of Post 127, American Legion.

Between moments when he was tabulating the applications of drivers yesterday, Pillsbury found time to bring out briefly the projected program of the racing body, revolutionary in its many aspects.

"When Memorial Day, 1930, rolls around and the cars are lined up for the annual 500-mile classic at Indianapolis, they may appear like a modernised page from the past," Pillsbury said.

"Two-man jobs, none less than thirty-six inches wide across the body, will supplant the present one-man creations. The ninety-one cubic inch motor will appear insignificant beside those that will be tolerated in future, when up to 366 cubic inches will be allowed.

"The resulting speed will be somewhat slower, but the thrill of the old road-race days with the pilot and mechanician seated side by side will add a real punch.

"Superchargers — often discussed and lauded or rapped—will be taboo. The cars will be stock creations, such as the automobile purchaser may expect to find in a car that he buys. 'Flivvers' won't be equipped with twice the number of valves that are customarily found on stock machines. As a result better motor cars will be developed."

Today promises to be the most active in the present campaign for the Sunday race meeting. Upward of twenty drivers are giving their mounts last-minute adjustments. No detail is being overlooked that will enhance the speed of the cars, many of which will be sent through practice spins on the Alhambra-avenue oval before qualifying time trials at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Gloom Bumps Quaker Five

WHITTIER, Jan. 9.—Any golden dreams of garnering in the gonfalon of the Southern California College Conference this season, went glimmering this week when announcement was made that three of the five letter men around whom Coach Ray Johns hoped to build a championship basketball team were not "available," and the conference rules are adamant when it comes to playing less than five men on the court.

Capt. "Speed" Weaver, credited by many with being 75 per cent of the entire team, will not be in school this semester; he is a three sport athlete and was also captain of the 1928 football team at Whittier College. His loss is not alone a distinct one, but it is a calamity.

GODFREY FINED AND PUT ON BLACK LIST

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission today fined George Godfrey, Philadelphia negro heavyweight boxer, $1000, and indefinitely suspended him for fouling Al Walker, negro, of Jacksonville, Fla., in a bout here Monday night. The commission also announced that it had indefinitely suspended Walker for "unsatisfactory showing" in the bout.

The bout was stopped by the referee in the third round after Godfrey was alleged to have fouled Walker four times.

Y.M.C.A. Loses to Coast Club

LONG BEACH, Jan. 9.—After trailing by a 19-15 score at the end of a listless first half, the Pacific Coast Club hoopsters of Long Beach snapped out of their lethargy in the final period to throttle the Santa Monica Y.M.C.A. quintet by a 42-33 count in the opening round of the Southern California A.A.U., of which the Coast Club Shields are the reigning champions.

Bill Goertz, ex-U.C.L.A. ace, led the Coast Club assault with an even dozen points, all on close-in hook shots. Capt. Heckert, Pennsinger and Hepp were all highly instrumental in the win to amass three fielders apiece. Once the Shields found their stride, the Santa Monica team crumbled. The Y was outclassed from the start, but took advantage of the champions' blunders to score rather heavily. The Tolman brothers and Browne looked best for the losers.

In addition to the club victory the A.A.U. lead is shared by Los Angeles A. C., after its 37-31 triumph over Pasadena Athletic and Country Club, by the Studio Cleaners of Glendale, following its 29-19 decision over Chuck Kearney's Hollywood outfit, and by Alhambra A. C., by virtue of its 26-11 victory over San Diego A. C.

BRUINS POINT FOR STANFORD

Caddy Works Puts Squad Through Stiff Drill

Team Leaves for Palo Alto Game Tomorrow Night

Local Players Expect Hard Battle from Cards

Coach Caddy Works, basketball mentor at the University of California at Los Angeles, will do the final sharpening of the claws of his Bruin cage team tonight in the last practice session the local court men will have before embarking for Palo Alto tomorrow night to play Stanford on Saturday night in the Cardinals' pavilion. The Stanford game will mark the Bruins' entrance into their second Pacific Coast Conference basketball season.

The Los Angeles quintet will go into Saturday night's fray as the favorites to knock over the Redshirt five. The U.C.L.A. men have much the better record so far, having won six out of seven starts, while the Stanford hoopsters have dropped several court encounters on their practice schedule. However, "Husky" Hunt may spring several surprises on the Bruins in his first year as head basketball coach at the Palo Alto university.

In any case, Caddy Works is taking no chances on the Cards knocking the Bruins' championship aspirations this season, and he fully expects the game to be one of the toughest for his men this year. The overconfidence, bugaboo of athletic coaches is being effectively squelched by Works, and the locals' pet scoring plays and defense tactics will be smoothed off tonight in practice.

One of the main advantages of the local quintet will be the experienced men forming the starting line-up and also the veteran reserve material possessed by Coach Works. Of the probable starting line-up, composed of Dick Linthicum and Larry Wilde, forwards; Milo Young, center, and Capt. Sammy Balter and Bob Baker, guards, only Linthicum, who was high-point man with 16 digits in the North Dakota game, will be playing his first year in varsity basketball circles. Bill Woodroof, playing his third year as first-string center for the Bruins, and veteran forwards and guards, will bolster up the locals.

LANGFORD HERE FOR COLIMA GO

Chicago Negro Prepares for Battle at Olympic With Mexican Star

Walcott Langford opened training yesterday at the Main-street gymnasium. The Chicago negro looks to be in good shape. He defeated Frankie Schoell his last fight about a month ago.

The Langford-Bert Colima bout at the Olympic next Tuesday night is expected to give the lower scale of prices a better test. Substituting Delos Williams for Earl Mastro hurt business last Tuesday night. Fans returned over $1000 worth of seats the day of the fight.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams will build another opponent for Kid Francis in the Colima-Langford semi-wind-up between Charley Sullivan and Huerta Evans.

Evans said he would call off his planned tour to Australia if he defeats Sullivan. However, the Bakersfield bantam holds a decision over the little Cuban.

There will be two heavyweight bouts on the card that look good. Young Firpo from Idaho meets Marvin Rife in a six. Dynamite Jackson, sometimes known as Ernest Bendy, is down for one of the shorter goes. The first preliminary is between Jack McKnight and Ewell Paul.

Tommy Loughran may come to California immediately instead of two weeks ahead of the Armand Emanuel bout February 12. The champion wired the Olympic yesterday to forward transportation.

Ernie Peters leaves Chicago tomorrow for California. He boxes Newsboy Brown the 22nd inst. Nerown is training at the Main-street. He also has a gymnasium in his new home.

JONES DEFEATS RIVAL ON MAT

of action that the wrestling bugs like.

Sauer took the offensive most of the way, tossing the redhead out of the ring twice. After the final heave, Billy came back with a do-or-die spirit, but Referee McDonald intercepted most of it. Shaw came rushing at Pete, who grabbed him and put him over the ropes. The referee tried to separate the two and halfway succeeded. He got in between them, and Sauer, thinking he was Shaw, clamped a hold on him. Billy, on the other side, thought the opposite, and fastened on an arm lock. It looked bad for McDonald, but with a superhuman effort he broke both holds at the same time.

Sauer then proceeded to clamp on three headlocks in rapid succession, following it with a body slam. Shaw went up, then down and then out. Dr. Lloyd Mace examined him and refused to let him go on, so the match was awarded to Sauer.

In the curtain raiser Jack Roller and Kazuo Yoshimo went the limit to a draw. Both wrestlers were clad in kimonos, but Roller's kept falling off, much to the amusement of Yoshimo.

DANNY WILLIAMS SCORES 141 TO LEAD QUALIFIERS

as his putter. "Big shots" in the golfing world told us at Agua Caliente, when Rogers's name came up in discussion, that there is no finer or longer driver in the country, that his second shots are unapproachable. But he can't putt! When Rogers does get his putter working he turns in sub par cards for every round as he did at Virginia and again at Sunset Fields yesterday.

Bill Mehlhorn was telling us that Rogers is in much the same position as Leo Diegel was back in 1921. At that time the present national P.G.A. champion couldn't knock a ball in the cup to save his neck. And that is the reason Diegel now putts with the peculiar pendulum stroke, which is distinctly his own. Diegel invented that style of putting because he believed that it was impossible for him to sink the ball any other way. Here's hoping Rogers finds himself tomorrow morning when he faces the first eighteen-hole test at Riviera. Rogers is generally up in the money, but three-putt greens have been his nemesis so far.

Prominent amateurs and pros failed to qualify were as follows: At Wilshire—Danny Sangster of Potrero, Chuck Ward of Brentwood, and Rudy Wilhelm of Portland all amateurs. At Lakeside—Joe Novak, Bel-Air professional. At Sunset Fields—Willie Low, Lakeside professional. At Bel-Air—Harold and Russell Thompson of Oakmont, and Tony Longo of New York. At Rancho—E. S. Armstrong of Lakeside, former Southern California amateur champion. At Fox Hills—Sam Gayer of Chicago and Bill Jelliffe, low-handicap amateur of Girard.

A number of the favorites found the qualifying round no easy test. Arnold Stats of the San Gabriel Country Club shot a pair of 77's for a 154 total. H. Chandler Egan, former national amateur champion, went out and shot a 74 for his morning round at Lakeside, but slipped to an 82 in the afternoon and was fortunate to get in with a 156. Fay Coleman, Southern California amateur champion, scored an 82 for his morning round, coming back with a 75 for 157.

Cyril Walker of Detroit, slipped in among the select few to qualify at Lakeside by a single stroke. He shot an 81 in the morning and a 76 in the afternoon for 157. On the eighteenth green his second shot landed on the edge of the sand trap which flanks the green. His explosion shot was a beauty, the ball stopping five feet from the pin. He holed out with a par to qualify, but it was a narrow squeak.

The golfers who qualified today, however, will have to take a seat back of the golfing great who will play tomorrow at Riviera, the select forty who did not have to qualify. Numbered in that group are some of the outstanding golfers in the world, including Walter Hagen, the hands-down favorite; Tommy Armour, 1927 national open champion; Leo Diegel, national P.G.A. champion; Roland Hancock, runner-up in the national open; MacDonald Smith, 1926 Los Angeles open champion, and last, but not least, Mister Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., 20-year-old youngster, who has won the hearts of Southern California golf fans with his brilliant showing in the series of midwinter tournaments to date. A long driver, accurate iron shot and better than average putter, Smith must certainly be considered in the running even against such competition as he will face.

The favorites will be ranked tomorrow when the annual Calcutta pool and dinner are held at the Elks Club. Dinner will be at 6:30.

FILIPINO BOXERS SHOW ON HOLLYWOOD PROGRAM

BY KAY OWE

Five Filipinos fighting on the same bill should create plenty of action for the Hollywood American Legion stadium fight fans tomorrow night. That is Tom Gallery's opinion, and the reason he has cornered some of the best Filipino fighters in the game for the stadium show. Ignatio Fernandez has long been rated about the best featherweight on the Pacific Coast, and he is a contender for the title. Joey Thomas, his opponent, has yet to show how good he is before a Los Angeles fight crowd, but the boys in the racket who have been watching Thomas working out claim he is going to beat Fernandez.

Joey Thomas at one time was managed by Eddie Long, who handles Bud Taylor. He worked with Bud and learned a lot about fighting from Taylor, and he works a lot and looks a lot like Bud in action. He has just such a left hand that made Taylor unbeatable around here for a long time. Thomas being a featherweight also packs a punch, and there is where the fight fans think he will beat Fernandez.

Interest in the stadium show isn't confined to the main event. Speedy Dado, the Filipino flyweight, is just as classy a fighter as either of the main eventers. Dado is out after the flyweight championship, and if he hadn't been unfortunate in having one of his arms go bad there is no telling where he would be by this time. Dado takes the fight with Clayton Bouyd to see whether or not he is ready for Corporal Issy Schwartz, Newsboy Brown, Frankie Genaro and a few of the others who are laying claim to the title.

A third Filipino on the card who bears watching is Ed Torres, who fights a newcomer in Sammy Seamon. Torres is listed as the latest find among the Filipinos, and is being groomed for bigger things by Frank Churchill. Tommy Luna and Pastor Calope are the other Filipino fighters on the card, and they will appear in the four-rounders. Luna fights Rudy Cuyton and Calope meets Charley Kaiser.

Northwestern Severs A.A.U. Relationship

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (AP)—What is expected to precipitate a war between the National Amateur Athletic Union and colleges and universities over control of amateur sports broke out today, when Northwestern University announced it henceforth would schedule athletic meets with teams not subject to A.A.U. control.

The controversy between the A.A.U. and Northwestern was caused when the A.A.U. refused to sanction a swimming meet between Northwestern and the Chicago Athletic Association, because the Purple team competed in meets unauthorized by the A.A.U. last summer. The meet scheduled for tonight was promptly called off by the C.A.A.

The invading Utah Aggies handed the Loyola Lions a 23-20 setback last night in a close game played on the Lions' courts. Dillins for the invaders took high-point honors with 17 digits. Nealis, diminutive Lion forward, did most of the shooting for Loyola, accounting for 8 points. The line-ups:

Loyola (20)—Nealis (8.) f.; Tinley (3.) f.; Von Der Ahe (5.) c.; Donohue (4.) g.; Maurry, g.

Paavo Nurmi's Registration is Challenged

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Describing as "unfair to our American athletes" the plan of Paavo Nurmi to remain indefinitely in this country, training for the 1932 Olympics, Charles L. Ornstein of Washington, D. C., a member of the board of governors of the Amateur Athletic Union, today challenged the right of the Metropolitan A.A.U., to register the famous Finnish runner without authority from the national body.

Ornstein, in a telegram to Daniel J. Ferris, national secretary, questioned the policy as well as the authority of local officials in registering Nurmi under the same conditions as an American athlete.

Ferris explained that under international athletic law, athletes resident for a month or more in a foreign country automatically come under the jurisdiction of the national governing body of that country. He asserted the registration of Nurmi was referred to the Metropolitan A.A.U. because now resides in New York and is subject, therefore, to local jurisdiction. Ferris said he considered proper action had been taken and would notify Ornstein to this effect.

STRIBLING ADDS TO LIST OF KNOCKOUTS

DURHAM (N. C.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Young Stribling, contender for the heavyweight championship, knocked out Tommy Stone of Detroit here tonight in the second round. The Georgian weighed 187 and his opponent 184. It was Stribling's 241st fight and his 111th knockout.

Dentist Polo Star Removes Teeth by Foot

This is a story about a coming dentist who is looking for business.

Carlos Schuessler, University of Southern California dental student, has been playing water polo at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. He is a crack guard in the water and will soon be just as good at pulling molars. But that's ahead of the story, for Schuessler yanked out several front teeth for Ted Martin, fellow L.A.A.C. water polo player, at a recent practice. Carlos didn't pull Ted's teeth with his hands, however, for he used his feet. In a skirmish in the water Schuessler's feet got in front of Martin's face and Ted came up with several teeth missing.

RAJAH HORNSBY TELLS OF UPS AND DOWNS ON THE TRAIL TOWARD MAJOR LEAGUE GLORY

[Rogers Hornsby is one of baseball's famous figures. Next season he will be seen in a Chicago Cubs' uniform, at second base. His salary, it is said, will exceed $50,000 a year. Hornsby strikes here, for the first time, his own story of his remarkable climb from the sandlots to big league stardom. The story following is the third of the series.]

BY ROGERS HORNSBY

Written exclusively for The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance

There's an old saying that whatever is worth doing is worth doing well, and fathers and mothers have pounded it into their children for centuries.

ROGERS HORNSBY.

I don't doubt there are soundness and truth in the maxim, and I would give the same advice to boys myself. But at the same time, I would have a warm place in my heart for a boy who failed at the tasks because his day dreams interfered.

If boys ever stop having day dreams, then, when they grow up, they will not advance to such heights in business, science, art, and, I might add, baseball. The youthful dreamer may fail to be a good wood chopper or an expert cornhusker, but meanwhile he may be developing into a great financier or a scientist or even into a ball player.

The day dreams of youth, properly followed up, have brought many a man out of obscurity and made him a world figure.

My youthful day dreams were about baseball, and Ty Cobb was my ideal. He had risen to the heights in the game when I was just a lad in my late teens, and was longing for such a life. It was a bitter disappointment to me when my brother, a professional ball player in the Texas League, watched me in a game in which I thought I had played well, and only said: "Kid, you've got a lot to learn, but keep on hustling."

HAD LOT TO LEARN

I didn't know then that my brother really was impressed with my playing, and simply had put it that way so I wouldn't get a swelled head and quit trying. It was true, too, that I did have a lot to learn—only I didn't think so.

Anyway, I continued to try, because I loved to play ball and I felt an urge to make good, even if my brother didn't think I could.

Without my knowing it, my brother went to Joe Gardner, who owned the Dallas club, told him about me and asked that I be taken to Dallas the following spring and given a chance to show what I could do. Mr. Gardner agreed and it was about the happiest moment of my life when my brother came home and told me the good news.

I had visions of the big leagues right then and there. Maybe in another year or two I would be in the big show with Cobb and Eddie Collins and Christie Matthewson. I refused to quit dreaming even when my brother said, "Get out and hustle hard and maybe Dallas can place you as a regular in some Class B league."

I did hustle hard when spring training began, but I felt awfully small among those professionals, and no one seemed a bit interested in what I was doing. Regardless of that I continued to hustle and think about Cobb and wonder how soon I would get into the big league.

A JOLT FOR ROGERS

And then I got another jolt. Not long after the season opened a railroad ticket was handed me and I was told to report to the Hugo club of the Texas and Oklahoma League. It seemed so far from Hugo to New York or Chicago.

There was nothing to do but go, so I went. Mainly because I loved to play ball and now was a regular, I enjoyed it at Hugo. I studied hard on batting. I learned by constant experiment to handle a bat. I found I could get better results by holding it loosely until just time to smack the ball, when I would tighten my grasp with every ounce of strength. I learned to step into a pitched ball, to get the weight of my body into the drive, and so knock the ball to the far corners of the lot.

More trouble came. The Hugo club went broke in midseason, but the franchise was taken over by Dennison and we went on with the game. I loved the work. I gave everything I had. I was hitting better and better every day. And I always was thinking of Cobb and the big leagues.

And then in late August came the great thrill. The boss came to me and said: "Kid, pack up your things. You've been sold to St. Louis."

It was not easy to earn a living for a wife and five children. He heard of prospects further west, and in a covered wagon we migrated to Henrietta, Tex. There my life really started. All my recollections date back to Henrietta.

In 1880 when I was 10 years of age my father took sick. It was necessary for me to go to work. I went to live with a big cattleman named Jim Curtis at Cambridge, Clay county, Tex. That was not far from Henrietta. In fact, Cambridge soon thereafter practically ceased to exist. The two towns were bitter rivals.

One night a band of cowboys rode down on Cambridge and stole the postoffice, which they brought back and established at Henrietta. My mind is hazy on the details of this, but for years I remember the fact of Henrietta having stolen the postoffice from Cambridge being a matter of bitter controversy.

FIRST TRAGEDY

Jim Curtis was big-hearted and kind and so was his family. I did the chores and ran errands for the ranch. It was there that I faced my first tragedy.

One of my duties was to go down to the town and tell Mr. Curtis when dinner was ready—dinner was served at 12 o'clock. At that hour the cowboys were usually in town and always in or around the saloons. They were rough, shooting fellows.

In the spring one day Mrs. Curtis told me to go down and tell her husband that dinner was on the table. I went to the regular saloon gathering place, but he had just left. I just missed him in two or three places, leaving word at each.

"He was around here a while ago with Van Rice," a cowboy told me. "You better get on home, son."

Even at that age I recognized something ominous in the man's tone.

Just as I was turning toward the ranch I heard some shots in a saloon across the road.

Jim Curtis and Van Rice, both cattlemen, had been standing at the bar. A disagreement arose over the branding of some cattle. But a few words were spoken. Van Rice, a dead shot, as was Curtis, drew his gun in a flash, and opened. Before Curtis could get his six-shooter from its holster three bullets had gone through him.

"Don't! For God's sake, don't shoot—don't kill anybody!" a cowboy called to them, but too late. He actually leaped toward the two men holding his hand between them. So quick and deadly was the aim that two bullets went through his hand and wrist and into the body of Curtis!

TELLS OF SHOOTING

My boss tumbled over behind a stove in the center of the room, dying. With his last gasp, though, he pulled himself up on one elbow, took deliberate aim and fired a bullet squarely through his assailant's heart.

Both men dropped dead.

Those are not pleasant recollections, but it was the atmosphere in which I started life.

I stayed with the widow, Mrs. Curtis, until the fall, when I joined a group of cattlemen and started on one of the most momentous journeys in history. We drove an immense herd of longhorns all the way to Honeywell, Kan., then considered a strange and foreign country.

Though we did not grasp its meaning, we were really helping to knot together the north and the south of the West. Just a few of the herds had been driven north of the thirty-sixth meridian. In fact, we were duplicating the feat of the Red River pioneers who went to Abilene, as told in Emerson Hough's great historic novel.

The reason for driving these herds north was to reach a new market, the Texas market having been killed by the Civil War and the political troubles following it.

It may seem odd that a boy of 11 years, little more than a baby, should be out on a rough expedition like this, actually working for a living. Nothing was thought of it then. I was a little man, just as the others were big men. We each had our job to do.

On that long drive we didn't see a single house, not the slightest sign of civilization, until after we had swum the herd across the Red River. We followed the route of the previous herd, although we kept a little west of the Chisolm Trail. Buffalo were a common sight in those days. In fact, I have helped my father hunt buffalo over what is now Wichita Falls, Tex., an important city.

On a like journey I spent the lonesomest and longest night in my whole life. It may indicate how my youthful mind grew hardened to tragedy.

Two of the cowboys got into an argument over the cattle and one of them shot the other, wounding him badly. As they brought the wounded man to a little tent one of the cowboys recalled that a doctor lived in a little village forty or fifty miles away. It was suggested that I be left with the wounded cowboy while the riders went for the doctor. I never thought of protesting. We didn't complain in those days.

SAT WITH WOUNDED MAN

I sat with the wounded man and listened to his moans, bringing water and waiting on him as best I could. Between his moans I could occasionally hear the shriek of a coyote or wolf. It turned out to be a whole pack of wolves.

The cowboy was barely conscious and I began to feel lonely. Unless you have sat alone on a prairie, with the stars shining so brightly as to look like electric light bulbs and heard the piercing scream of a wolf, you have no idea how it can make your hair stand on end. No sound carries such terror as the shriek of a wolf on the hunt.

As I sat there with a tingling at the roots of my hair, realizing my utter loneliness, the poor cowboy died. Then I had to sit up with his body the livelong night. The nearest to company I got was the occasional moo of a cow whose calf was being sought by the wolves.

Toward midnight the wolves came closer. I set the lantern in the door of the tent, now really a morgue. In a semicircle I could see the gray forms of the wolves and occasionally the light reflected in their eyes. I grew into an old man that terrible night. I can never forget any phase of it as long as I live.

I did what any other cattleman would have done, though. I got a rifle and sat waiting, ready to protect myself. Mind you, I was only 11 years old. The thought of the dead man with me was almost as horrible as the presence of the wolves outside.

The cowboys did not return with the doctor, no longer needed, until after 6 o'clock in the morning.

With a childhood jolt like that it is not strange that I have failed to find anything nerve wracking in promoting boxing. But am leading into my next chapter.

Panther Five Upset, 38-34, by Caltech

The Caltech Engineers handed the California Christian basketball five their first defeat of the season last night at McKinley Junior High, Pasadena, the Tech five upsetting the Panthers, 38 to 34. It was a wild scrappy game all the way.

Tech grabbed the lead on the opening tipoff, but the Panthers came back to tie the score, the count at half being 13 to 13. Tech again took the lead and with six minutes to play had run the score up to 31 to 22, but the Christian five tied the count again. Tech went on a scoring spree, shooting two free throws and a field goal to put the game on ice.

Cramer of the Engineers copped high-point honors with 13 points, while his team-mate, Pratt, was shooting 12 digits. Thompson and Tower did most of the scoring for the Panthers, both accounting for 11 points. The line-ups:

Caltech (38)		Cal. Christian (34)
Pratt (12)	F	North (11)

Jones Versus Hagen on Putting

BY SOL METZGER

Walter Hagen's putting methods have been widely studied. They differ from many in his width of stance. Compare "The Haig" with Jones in this respect and you will find that where the former spreads his feet for an open stance and tilts his body a bit toward the left so that his leg must carry the bulk of his weight, the latter stands with feet well together and the weight more evenly distributed.

Hagen's stance has one advantage over Jones's. It is more firm on windy days. That may or may not be a vital reason for Hagen taking three British open crowns.

Like Duncan, Hagen settles his weight well back on his heels. Unlike Mitchell, he opens his club face more on the backswing. Those who do this usually place the clubhead ahead of the ball when getting the line and then lift it to a point directly back of the ball as they start the backswing. There are two theories for this move. One is that it supplants the waggle, the other that as the backswing is an arc of a circle the putter is first lined up ahead of the all, as that is the point where the ball will leave it. Hagen overlaps, like Jones, with the first finger of his left hand, thus proving that he is a right-handed putter, therein differing from Mitchell.

Sol Metzger has prepared a leaflet on "The Art of Pitching," in which he reveals the secret of how to make the ball "bite" the green when it hits. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and ask for it.

Hockey Teams Meet Tonight

Los Angeles and Hollywood will renew their battle again tonight at the Winter Garden Ice Palace, when the two heated rivals play off their 1-1 tie game of last Monday night, which was said to be the greatest contest ever staged at the garden.

While the two teams are battling, three big-league ice hockey scouts will be out tonight to look several Hollywood and Richfield boys over. The Millionaires have offers for Tom Carrigan, goalie; Peaches Headley and Lefty Comber, defense stars, and Ben Ward, star forward. Jack Lawrence and Frank Burke will most likely be sold to New York Americans. And every one of these boys would make good in the major leagues.

It will take a very flattering offer to make Owner Malwick of Hollywood and Bill Cotrell, Richfield "prexy" pallany players at this stage of the race, as the two crews are bidding for local favor, and would not care to weaken themselves at the present time.

CLAN SCOTS PICKED OVER OILERS TEAM

From a "weak sister" to the position of the most feared team in the league is the magic-like change made by the Clan Scot ice hockey sextet, led by Gordon Dewar, which encounters the league-leading Union Oil aggregation at the Palais De Glace rink tonight. The contest will feature the week's play in the Southern California League.

When the season opened the Scotchmen were long on star players, but short on teamwork. As a result they dropped their first three contests.

HOWARD IS PICKED AS BRUIN LEADER

The freshman basketball team of the University of California at Los Angeles will be led into its casaba encounters this season by Johnny Howard, former Hollywood High School player, following a recent election held by Coach Wilbur Johns's frosh squad. The election of Howard makes it the third successive year that a Hollywood High School graduate has been captain or cocaptain of the Bruin frosh basketballers. Dick Linthicum, present sophomore sensation on this year's U.C.L.A. varsity five, captained last year's freshman quintet, while Max Durham alternated in piloting the frosh two years ago with Erwin Piper, graduate of Manual Arts High School, who is also on the varsity team now.

RICKARD'S FUNERAL HELD

gan played, a quartet sang and two clergymen and two laymen paid tribute to the memory of Rickard, "a man without meanness in his heart."

Every branch of sport was represented in the throng and many who had no connection with athletes joined. The man for whom the last rites were being said had aided scores of charities and representatives of these bodies were there to add their tribute.

Available seats in the huge garden were filled when the doors were closed at 1:30 o'clock after thousands had passed in double lines past the bier in a seemingly endless procession. Many, after passing the palm-covered and flower-banked resting place of the casket on the lower floor, went to the seats on the mezzanine set aside for the public and awaited the funeral hour—2 o'clock.

Draped in black and purple mourning, the garden awaited the final passage from it of its builder. There was no scraping of chairs, little craning of necks and virtually no exchange of whispers as an organ, installed for the funeral, boomed forth the stately notes of "Lead Kindly Light."

One thousand seats were set aside on the main floor for "Friends." This space was dotted with boxes—Friends indeed of the man they were honoring. From obscure preliminary fighters to men who have reached the heights of fame or stand on the threshold they sat in solemn dignity, one here with a discolored eye and another there with a cut lip. All were thinking, perhaps, as a promoter who had come 1000 miles to attend the funeral, said: "Those boys have lost their best friend."

As the organ continued to play a requiem, the honorary pall bearers, two-score in number, entered. This group included the Madison Square Garden Corporation directors. Men who loom big in the affairs of business, well-known figures in boxing, hockey, the stage and sports writers.

The Rev. Dr. George Cales Moore, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, started the service.

"The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want," he read from the twenty-third Psalm. "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Turning to the comforting fourteenth chapter of the Gospel of St. John, he read:

"Let not your hearts be troubled, ye believe in God, believe also in me. In My Father's house are many mansions."

Dr. Moore then recited "Thanatopsis," with its "As one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

A prayer followed, in which the minister, a friend of Rickard's, asked "comfort for his host of friends until the day shall break and the shadows clear away."

A quartet sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and the Rev. Dr. Cranston Brenton of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, was introduced. Dr. Brenton explained that he was representing Bishop William T. Manning, who was ill. Bishop Manning was assisted by Rickard in raising funds for the sports bay in the cathedral. The speaker referred to Bishop Manning's regret that he could not add his tribute in person.

The quartet sang Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" and Gustav Hartman, City Court judge, spoke in behalf of the municipality.

Dudley Field Malone, noted lawyer, paid tribute to the man he called "Tex" throughout his brief address.

The lawyer spoke of the promoter's two great assets, imagination and courage, and declared Rickard had the imagination to vision great things and the courage to execute them. "He stirred the imagination of a nation," he said, adding: "In the hearts of millions will be found his memorial."

Dr. Moor closed with a brief eulogy in which he spoke of Rickard as "a man without meanness, a counselor without conceit." His final tribute was: "He had one of the world's great hearts."

"Taps" sounded and a band played Chopin's funeral march as the great crowd stood with bowed heads.

The persons inside the Garden remained until the body was removed, but another great crowd lined Fiftieth street all the way to Fifth avenue. As the fifty automobiles in the funeral procession moved up the avenue the streets were lined with other crowds.

At the cemetery the casket was opened again and members of the Garden staff looked at their former chief for the last time. Mrs. Rickard was escorted by Jack Dempsey and Walter Fields to give a final caress and the casket was lowered into the earth.

Dr. Moor asked the pallbearers and others grouped about the grave to join in reciting the Lord's prayer and the last service for Tex Rickard was said.

Speaker at City Club Takes Role of Prophet

Advertising on Air Makes Programs Possible

Hints on Television in Home Given by Expert

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Speaking before the City Club yesterday on "The Future of Radio," Glen Rice, assistant manager for KNX, took the role of prophet in foretelling some of the potential fields for radio of tomorrow.

The speaker began with a brief historical resume of wireless and, incidentally, bespoke a vote of thanks for the amateurs whose experimental activities have helped considerably in the development of radio affairs.

Mr. Rice brought in a few enlightening remarks about advertising on broadcast programs which, he said, have made public broadcast possible. Reading his thoughts and unspoken words, he intimated, however, that blatant publicity over the air is being more or less tabooed as is direct advertising by radio. "In the long run," he said, "the invisible audience will say whether or not their music from various stations will be interspersed with advertising."

DIGEST OF RADIO

The advent of the condenser microphone, something about short waves, television and transmission of colored photography were all briefly sketched in the City Club talk.

Rice, whose football announcing has cut a rather huge swath in the annals of feature broadcast, voiced the unique opinion that the radio of the coming generation will not only carry the speaking voice and the actual picture of those performing, but it will also gently waft into the homes of the unsuspecting audience odors and smells. This means that the great science and art of radio would have appeals to the ear through speech and music, the eye through television, and the olfactory organ, more commonly known as the nose, through odors.

THE THREE SENSES

Such an event, coming almost unheralded, would create a tremendous upheaval in the ranks of announcers and artists alike. They have safely gone through the era of microphonitis, often designated as just plain microphone fright.

They are making extensive preparations for complete wardrobes as a forerunner of television. Now, if the City Club's speaker is correct in his role of prophet, it means immense possibilities in the field of manufacturing breath deodorants.

No longer would the announcer be able to eat onions or garlic before appearing at the microphone.

Anyway, the KNX assistant manager performed very creditably in his initial public-speaking appearance, and at least his remarks were thought-provoking. While not to be construed as a profound address, yet his talk was skillfully woven around many clever ideas.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

Now is the time to buy: All replenishments for the home. The bed-linens, table damasks, towellings and bath-mats; the yardage for general use—linen yardage for dish-towels, for many emergency purposes, the cotton by the yard which always is so convenient to have on hand, the ginghams for aprons and percales for smocks; the sateens to complete the comforts, long planned. Special offerings in these materials remind us that this is the month par excellence, for the provident homekeeper to make real economies. And let us remind ourselves that not to buy, often is an extravagance; it is so when prices lowered are provision against other times when necessity drives us to pay current prices much higher.

Newest of New

That New York corner, I have named it—the fascinating show-corner where the latest fashion fads of New York always are displayed. If you are not certain of the place, look it up when next you are downtown. There, I observed the new bustle effects in evening gowns. Saucy things, were those gowns—for all the world like a sub-deb with a nose retrousse. And just as unerringly likable. Moire, the predicted silk, fashioned most of these new gowns. The skirts—contrary to many of the foremost fashion forecasts—were very tight and very short—but—and therein lay the chic—the bustling effect was onset and at either side the bustled back hung in elongated panellings. The effect was as if one gown were donned above another—the first one short, the second long, save for the upheld bustle at the back.

The Chic Uplift

It is true of many of the newest, smartest frocks, that the uplift—its where and its how, are the salient features. The closely fitted underskirt, allowed to disclose itself, according to the whim of couture, is as abbreviated as ever and in some cases, I would say, even more brief.

Contradictory Tweeds

If you have thought of tweeds as rather plain, somewhat subdued fabrics, you must revise your notion. Tweeds of the new are far from ordinary. Some are aglint with threads of gold or silver metallic thread, lending a sheen like sunlight or moonlight; others are woven in a manner to resemble brocade—a soft, woolen brocade. Colors, also, are many and varied; quite away from our former tweed-ideas. These fabrics are fashioned into sports ensembles, which take on many variations. Some are made with the plainer tweed as skirt, the more elaborated as top or blouse; others display a long coat of the fancier material, and a top of the plain. Some combine in a single garment—coat or blouse—two of these consortments. Bandings of the plain tweed or of the fancy adorn the plainer fabrics, in other instances. In fact, one may choose according to one's own plan, as to the combining of these new tweeds; and again, one must guess several times as to whether these news are tweed or some other woolen fabric.

Another Phase

Still another phase of tweed, is that which presents modernistical designs in the weave — overshoots cubistical in tones darker or lighter than the ground-work. These patterned weaves are arranged for fashioning skirts and blouses; for short jackets and for the longer coats, to combine with skirts of the plainer ground color.

Have You Seen?

Have you seen, in that leading store, where the most authentic modes always appear first, the new coatings in heavy woolen weaves, flowery, colorful, and to go with these, the embroidered dress patterns, done in designs reflecting those of the woven top-garment? Charming beyond expression, are these new ensembles.

Semi-Sports

"Semi-sports" ensembles is the name given to the above-described habiliments and to others, in silk or woolen weave. A very subtle touch proclaims such garments, such ensembles, rather, as "semi-sports," the implication being that these are intended not for actual sporting, but rather for those who look on at sports; or those attending country club affairs, informally and inactively. Some sportish feature distinguishes these as "semi;" some odd way of placing belt or buttons, scarves or girdles. The difference between such ensembles and those for more formal occasions, is so subtle as to require true genius in detail—real couturial talent, in fact.

Cottons Come Forth

Welcome as flowers that bloom in the spring are the new cottons crowding the counters in the better stores. This may be judged by the eager purchasers, selecting from among the new prints in cotton weave. That these will be even more than ever popular in spring wardrobes, one cannot but deduce. Flowery, presenting designs cubistical, modernistic and dainty in dots and rings and sprigs, these cottons are most alluring. Many simulate their more expensive sisters in silken weaves in that they possess enchanting border designs; and borders are again very much in the foreground of feminine dress.

Spring Hats

Scarcely have we chosen the full quota of winter hats, and here comes the spring millinery! Truly we "meet ourselves coming back," in the matter of costumery. The first straws of spring time are mostly the smoother weaves—bangkoka, finely woven straws and many in neutral tints, such as soft beiges and off-white tones. If these straws indicate which way fashion's breezes blow, we are to have another season of neutral tints in dress. How are these hats trimmed, you ask? Well, to say that they are practically innocent of trimming, scarcely expresses the scarcity of adornment. Many are starkly bereft of trimming; quite bare, in fact; just themselves, one might say, with possibly a deft turning of brim to form enhancement, or a quaint updoing of the crown into some odd design.

HORTON WILL STAR IN "THE SAP"

Jimmy Aldine Signs Long-Term Contract With Pathe; William Beaudine to Direct "Two Weeks Off;" Nora Lane Plays Opposite George O'Brien

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Big doings will be the order of the day over at the Warner Brothers studios, especially in the Vitaphone end of it, now that Archie Mayo has returned, full of pep, from New York. For Mayo has been assigned the job of directing "The Sap," adapted by Robert Lord from William Grew's highly successful comedy.

And I don't know how under the sun Edward Everett Horton does it—I mean works all day at a studio and half the night at his Vine-street Theater—but the fact remains that he does. And now he is being assigned the star role in "The Sap," which is to go into production in the course of a week or two, and which will be an all-talking picture.

Darryl Zanuck made both announcements.

In the meantime we hear that Horton's performance in the Vitaphone production of "The Hottentot," in which he also scored heavily on the stage, it will be remembered, is one of the most brilliantly amusing which the Warners have to their credit on the screen.

PATHE TAKES YOUNG ACTOR ON CONTRACT

As a direct result, it is said, of his clever portrayal of the newspaper office boy in "The Office Scandal," Jimmy Aldine has been placed under a long-term contract by Pathe. Although this Phyllis Haver picture has not yet been released, Pathe officials lost no time in securing Aldine's name to a contract after its preview recently.

JIMMY ALDINE

Six years ago Jimmy Aldine made his debut in pictures as the cabin boy in "Down to the Sea in Ships." He scored almost as big a hit at the time as did Clara Bow, who also made her screen debut in that picture, but the breaks carried Miss Bow to the very top, while Jimmy spent the years doing extra work and playing minor bits, seeking to get the recognition that failed to come until he was engaged for "The Office Scandal."

Jimmy Aldine is the fourth member of the junior stock company now being assembled by Pathe. Lew Ayres, Dorothy Ward and Violet Adams were previously placed under contract, and the quartet are the first of a group of young players who will be given a thorough course of training for the talking pictures in preparation for their appearance in featured roles for Pathe.

Jack Oakie with the Bow

Opportunities for both fun and fame have just come to Jack Oakie, former New York stage favorite now under contract to Paramount, through his assignment to the role of a character called The Life of the Party, in Clara Bow's next all-talking starring picture, "The Wild Party."

CLARA BOW

The addition of Oakie to the cast of this story of youth in its maddest moments will recall the most-recent Bow success, "The Fleet's In!" for it was in this picture that Oakie made his debut as a Paramount contract player, having had in it the part of Searchlight McGuire.

Beaudine With First National

One of the nicest assignments of the season fell to William Beaudine yesterday, when he was signed by First National to direct Jack Mulhall and Dorothy Mackaill in "Two Weeks Off," with Ray Rockett as producer and supervisor.

DOROTHY MACKAILL

Beaudine went over to First National yesterday to work with F. McGrew Willis on the script of the story, which is from a stage play of the same name.

The director has recently made a number of successful pictures for Fox and other companies as a free-lance director.

Jason Robards In It

After all, Jason Robards, and not John Bowers, will play one of the principal roles in Warner Brothers' Vitaphone production of "The Gamblers," according to announcement of Darryl Zanuck.

JASON ROBARDS

No reason is given for the substitution, but it is understood that Bowers is considering a vaudeville tour.

Robards, who is widely known both on stage and screen, is not new to Vitaphone, since his portrayal of the defense attorney in "On Trial" has been widely lauded.

"The Gamblers," with Michael Curtis directing, and with H. B. Warner, Lois Wilson, Robards, George Fawcett and others in its all-star cast, will go into production this week.

J. Grubb Alexander adapted the Charles Klein stage success for the Vitaphone.

Nora Lane With Fox

Nora Lane, formerly leading woman under personal contract to the late Fred Thomson, is to have the leading role opposite George O'Brien in the Fox production of "A Son of Anak."

The company will go on location to Monterey, with David Butler directing.

J. Farrell McDonald has an important role, and others in big parts are David Sharp, James Gordon, Edward Peil, Sr., and Frank Hagay.

Jannings Picture Titled

Emil Jannings's newest Paramount starring vehicle isn't to be propelled about without a name any longer. It is to have the intriguing appellation of "Betrayed." Lewis Milestone directed.

Anita Stewart Hailed

Anita Stewart is to be given a notable reception today in San Francisco, celebrating her week's vaudeville engagement there, opening Saturday. Miss Stewart will continue her tour from the north.

Mayor Rolph and a motor escort will meet Miss Stewart on her arrival. And just in case she might get lost en route, the star is to be presented with an autographed map of the United States. But more important still, a prominent milliner has designed a hat and named it after her.

Not only is Miss Stewart to make a little talk to accompany her picture, "Anita Stewart in Hollywood," but she also will sing a number of Irving Berlin's songs.

Student Teams Debate Tonight

Debating on the question, "Resolved, That Modern Advertising is More Detrimental Than Beneficial to Society," squads representing the University of Southern California and Stanford University will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Bovard Auditorium, 3551 University avenue.

Gregson Bautzer and Milton Dickens will uphold the affirmative side of the question for S.C., while Wadieh Shibley and Robert McClintock will represent Stanford. Dickens recently won the Bowen Cup speaking contest at S.C. Both Stanford men previously attended Southern California high schools, Shibley at Long Beach Polytechnic and McClintock at Pasadena High School.

Bob Behlow, S.C. student body president, will act as chairman at tonight's debate, which will be the first league contest of the year in the Pacific Coast Forensic Conference. The advertising question is one of three being used in the league this year. Three Trojan students will engage in a return contest on the same question at Palo Alto on the 14th inst.

Admission to tonight's debate is free and the public is invited to attend.

Loan Man Faces Court Over Sale of Trust Deeds

Testimony asserting that Owen E. Wyatt, operator of the Provident Discount Company, sold $40,000 worth of trust deeds left with him as security on loans, was given yesterday in Superior Judge Fricke's court where Wyatt is on trial on eight counts of grand theft.

J. E. Powell, a broker, placed on the witness stand by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison, testified he purchased trust deeds aggregating the $40,000. The prosecution contends that Wyatt had not the right to dispose of the deeds, but should have held them as his security on loans. The defense asserts the Wyatt contract permitted the sales.

The case is being heard without a jury before Judge Fricke who, in the verdict on Wyatt, incidentally will establish an important point in contract law as to the status of the contract with which Wyatt is asserted to have done business.

Dennison asserts that Wyatt did not give duplicate copies of the contracts on which the loans were executed originally, but presented each borrower with an asserted coupon agreement which was detached from the main instrument. The case will proceed today.

Slugging Bandit Robs Two Men

A highwayman who knocks out his victim with a blackjack had two robberies to his credit last night. The first victim was P. J. Greathouse, a watchman for the Los Angeles Casket Company. While making his rounds he was struck from behind. The robber took $36 from his pocket.

Passers-by saw the robber flee and gave the police a description. A half-hour later William Costelle of 306 Aliso street bumped into a robber at the corner of an alley. The robber struck him with a blackjack and then robbed him of $12. From the description the police believe it is the same man.

NEW CABLE SERVICE TO BRITAIN PLANNED

The Western Union Telegraph Company announces that, effective Monday, its fifty-word night letter service will be extended overseas to its offices in London, Liverpool, Birmingham, Bristol, Bradford, Manchester, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Southampton, Dundee, Edinburgh, Glasgow and Belfast. The cable night letter will supplant the week-end letter and the regular cable letter, and is 2 cents per word cheaper than the latter. Fifty words may be sent to the points mentioned for $4. The new service is to be extended to all points in Great Britain and Ireland as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made with the British authorities. It is intended to do away with the expense incidental to coding.

Driver in Crash Fatally Crushed

Crushed by his car rolling over on him twice following an automobile collision last night, Richard Sankey, 20 years of age, of 2010 West Forty-second Place, died before reaching the Beverly Hills Emergency Hospital. The sedan Sankey was driving was in collision with a machine operated by Mrs. William W. Fry of 2701 Patricia avenue, Westwood. The cars collided at Country Club Drive and Peck Drive, Beverly Hills.

Gail Osborne of 4905 Tenth avenue, who was riding with Sankey, escaped without injury. Mrs. Fry and her husband, who was riding with her, escaped uninjured. Following the police investigation Mrs. Fry was released on her own recognizance pending a coroner's hearing. Sankey's body was taken to the Dayton Funeral Parlors, Beverly Hills.

CHINESE TO OFFER NEW TYPE FILM

Sid Grauman Will Present "Broadway Melody" Next, Report States

Sid Grauman has scored another beat.

The first musical comedy to be made with talking-picture technique, "The Broadway Melody," is to follow "Noah's Ark" into the Chinese Theater. Final booking arrangements for this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking, singing and sound production were completed yesterday, it is reliably reported.

The date for the premiere has not been definitely set, but will probably occur during the week following the close, on the 16th inst., of "Noah's Ark."

"The Broadway Melody," said to be tuneful, jazzy and with a world of sentiment, is from an original story by Edmund Goulding, playwright and director. Harry Beaumont, director of "Our Dancing Daughters," made it.

Arthur Freed and Nacio Herb Brown, the latter the composer of "The Doll Dance" and other popular tunes, prepared the songs and lyrics. Norman Houston and James Gleason wrote the dialogue.

It is probable that the picture will be preceded by one of Sid Grauman's typical spectacular prologues.

Adams Proves Lucky Sign to Play Sponsors

Backstage at the President his fellows call Robert Adams "the two-season actor."

Adams, who plays Kerry Van Kind in the Henry Duffy Players' production of Elliot Lester's comedy, "Take My Advice," has a unique record.

In the productions in which he has appeared he has played for two seasons instead of the customary one.

He was Clarence in Booth Tarkington's comedy of that name for two seasons, playing in Chicago and on tour.

He was with Flo Ziegfeld's production of "The Soul Kiss" for two seasons.

He was Laurie, the juvenile, in William A. Brady's production of "Little Women" for two seasons.

"It got so that I thought I was going to play every role for two seasons," says Adams. "And then once I engaged an expensive apartment in New York and wired my mother to come from California and visit me. The show rehearsed for four weeks, opened in New York on Monday and closed the following Saturday. That was the end of my 'two season' hopes."

Brown May Fly to Loew House

Clarence Brown probably will fly to San Francisco Saturday for the opening of his production of "The Trail of '98" at Loew's Warfield Theater. It will be the second Brown picture in as many weeks to be shown in the northern city, the other being "A Woman of Affairs," which broke all existing San Francisco records, and which is also closing a record week at Loew's State Theater, Los Angeles, today.

Brown will go, piloting himself, if he finds he is able to take the time from the last hour of intensive preparations for his next picture at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. The director has been an expert flyer ever since the war.

Brown is extremely popular in San Francisco, and he has been urged to attend the opening of "The Trail of '98." He made some of the scenes for the picture in that city, and all his pictures, including "Flesh and the Devil" besides "A Woman of Affairs," have established records there.

The production he will start soon, which demands his constant attention, is "Wonder of Women," an adaptation of the late Hermann Sudermann novel, "The Wife of Stephen Tromholt."

'Prep and Pep' Due Tomorrow

Petting flappers and peppy cadets in the joyous whirl of prep school will be shown when "Prep and Pep" opens tomorrow at the Boulevard Theater.

Nancy Drexel and David Rollins are the young lovers about whom the action and drama revolve, and John Darrow, Frank Albertson and E. H. Calvert have important roles. "Prep and Pep" was filmed at Culver Military Academy in Indiana, and campus scenes reflect the traditions of this school.

On the stage a new Lynn Cowan revue features the Hollywood Beauties and West Coast variety acts.

'Trial' Resumes Local Run Soon

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" will return to the Mason Theater on Monday, with eight weeks already to its credit in this city.

Since leaving Los Angeles "The Trial of Mary Dugan" has been shown in principal cities of the Pacific Coast and everywhere it has scored just as it did here. A return engagement is now being played in San Francisco at the Columbia Theater, from which city even more laudatory reports have been received than when it was first presented there.

New Surprises Enliven Revue

Lupino Lane
Is the star funmaker in his mirth-and-melody concoction at the Hollywood Music Box, with Doris Eaton and a host of others assisting.

"ANGEL" HAILED IN EAST

Once again Richard Wallace reveals his depth of feeling and human understanding. The first part-talking picture to be presented at the Metropolitan Theater in many weeks, namely, "The Shopworn Angel," which opens tomorrow, was directed by Wallace, and not in months, it is claimed, have New York critics been as unanimous in their praises over a screen production as over this one.

The tremendous success which Wallace achieved at the box office with such past directorial efforts as "McFadden's Flats," "A Texas Steer" and others will be surpassed by "The Shopworn Angel," it is predicted. Both Nancy Carroll and Gary Cooper, who share honors in this opus, are said to give most unusual performances. The whole picture has a musical score compiled and arranged by Nathaniel Finston and the Paramount Theater (Nwe York) orchestra. The dramatic climax is done in dialogue and the human way in which Wallace handled this incursion of dialogue is claimed to be a tribute to his understanding of screen entertainment.

Henry Busse returns to the Metropolitan for a very limited engagement as musical director, after which he again goes to the Granada in San Francisco, where he has proved a sensation since leaving here three months ago. Eddie Magill, he of the crooning voice and lighted megaphone, also returns with Busse from San Francisco.

Busse and Magill will be seen in the Publix stage presentation, "Blossoms," which features Dolores, Eddy and Salmanoff, Paul Kirkland, Arthur Ball and Alan K. Foster's "Blossom Girls."

'Love Storm' is Stirred Up at Cordova Shop

There are rainstorms, hailstorms, windstorms and snowstorms . . . but all of these fade into the background when compared with the havoc wrought by a new variety, "The Love Storm," the nature of which is explained this week in that rapidly growing little theater, the Cordova Playshop.

"The Love Storm," from the pen of James W. Clark, local writer, is one of the lightest productions offered by this group of players in some time, and a decided contrast to the Greek tragedy, "Oedipus Rex," a few weeks ago. It was given a splendid reception by the audience witnessing its first performance.

Farce comedy in style, the plot of the play is woven around the person of a young engineer, a confirmed bachelor by virtue of the fact that he failed to find a girl who would look upon love as purely a business proposition. No member of the fair sex, he discovered, would consent to marry him without the flowers, candy and compliments of courtship, and without the formalities of a church wedding.

A wager signed by him to the effect that he would court and win a girl with purely business tactics gives rise to many a ludicrous and laughable situation.

Cleve Moore, of motion-picture prominence, gives an excellent characterization in the role of the bachelor-engineer. Frank Dudley, Hallene Hill, George W. Clark and Betty Smith appear to good advantage in supporting roles.

The production will be given every evening until and including Friday.

Bosworth Tells of Daly Stock

Forty years to the month after he made his own debut in "The Taming of the Shrew" in the Augustin Daly stock company in New York City, Hobart Bosworth witnessed the Shakespearean classic for the first time from the audience, at a recent performance of the Stratford-Upon-Avon festival company at the Mason. Oddly enough, Bosworth has played various roles in "The Taming of the Shrew" during his long career scores of times, yet he had never before seen the play from the front.

In 1888, when Bosworth joined the famous Daly stock, he found himself in the most distinguished company on the American stage. In "The Taming of the Shrew" there were celebrities as Ada Rehan, John Drew, Otis Skinner, Frederick Bond, William Collier, Eugene Ormond, James Lewis, Mrs. Gilbert, Hamilton Revelle, Charles Fisher, Joseph Holland and E. P. Wilkes.

COMEDIANS TURN COLLEGIATE

Stephen Roberts and Al St. John have gone collegiate in their fun-making again. So successful did their first comedy of college life prove with the exhibitors that Educational ordered another of the same brand. Director Roberts has drawn from his own Ohio State University life for an amusing story of campus and fraternity life into which the agile Al St. John fits. Estelle Bradley, Harold Goodwin, Al Thompson and Minna Davenport complete the cast. This picture marks the fourth in which Roberts has directed the comedy star for Educational this season.

Appeal of Old Opera's Tunes Still Powerful

The run of "The Beggar's Opera," which will have its last performance on Saturday at the Figueroa Playhouse, reveals a fact that is fast becoming recognized—that certain plays of old have a timeliness on our own stage.

The music of this delightful comedy is sparkling though simple and was old even when "The Beggar's Opera" was new. It is this sweet music, melodious and suggestive of the remote past, which is immortal. The songs and dances have a charming old-time flavor and hark back to the English, Scotch and Irish ballads and are redolent with the fragrance of folk songs.

Suffice it to say, "The Beggar's Opera" is a treat for all who enjoy a good laugh or like enticing melodious music. It is just as keenly alive today as it was when it set all London gasping and chuckling in 1728. It is one of those productions in which the appeal to the eye and ear is synchronized, and its melodies would furnish material for a dozen modern musical comedies.

Criterion Sets Special Nights

The Criterion Theater announces the following schedule of "nights" for the run of "In Old Arizona," the William Fox talking picture now playing: Monday, Edmund Lowe night; Tuesday, Dorothy Burgess night; Wednesday, Warner Baxter night; Thursday, William Fox all-star night; the 18th inst., Arizona Rangers and veterans of Indian Wars night; the 21st inst., Arizona State Society night; the 22nd inst., Utah State Society night; the 23rd inst., Union Pacific Railway night; the 24th inst., Santa Fe Railway night, and the 25th inst., "Veterans of 1898" night.

In addition on the 21st inst., at 11 a.m. there will be a special presentation of "In Old Arizona," with sound, for the blind.

Entire Cast to Remain Intact

There will be no changes in the cast of "The Front Page," now at the Belasco, except in cases of serious illness, for the entire life of the play in the West, it was announced yesterday by Belasco, Butler and Curran, the producers. Each member of the cast was given a "run of the play" contract.

For every player in a cast to have a run contract is said to be unique in theatricals. The ordinary contracts permit either party, the actor or the manager, to give two weeks' notice if a change is desired. The run-of-the-play contracts devised by the actor's union permit neither the actor to quit nor the manager to discharge him.

BETTY COMPSON NAMED

A large majority of those columnists and critics who annually select the outstanding performances of motion-picture players during the year, have named Betty Compson in both "The Barker" and "The Docks of New York." Evidently producers approve; for Miss Compson has signed for fourteen pictures to be made in 1929; six for Warner Brothers, four for F.B.O., and four for Columbia.

RECITAL MARKS WESTERN DEBUT

European Contralto Sings Beaux Arts Program of Unusual Songs

A song recital was given by Elisabeth Vermeulen at the Beaux Arts Auditorium last evening, which was of particular interest because of its program. Elisabeth Vermeulen chose some of the finest songs in the contralto singer's repertoire and she sang them with devotion and intensity. Some of the numbers were given with 'cello obbligato by Frits Gaillard and Ali Gaillard played the accompaniments admirably.

Mme. Vermeulen has been trained rather more as a musician than as a singer and the result is her ability to sing understandingly such an opening group as "Hope," by Beethoven; "Laughing and Weeping," by Schubert; "Love Is Forever," by Brahms; "Secrecy," by Wolff, and "Whither," by Schubert.

M. Gaillard, a member of the violoncello section of the Philharmonic Orchestra, gave a Van Goens Adagio and a Mazurka, by Popper, and his solos were especially well received.

The singer's next group included John Alden Carpenter, Chopin, Tschaikowsky and La Forge, and, after two numbers with 'cello by Franck and Bemberg, she concluded her concert with folk songs, Javanese, French, Norwegian, Italian and Dutch.

She has every mark of a serious musician well grounded in the art. Her voice is not a deep contralto, but rather more flexible than most. This was her first appearance in Los Angeles and the audience was appreciative.

New York Call Heard by Star

An indication of her immediate popularity in her first starring picture, "The Rescue" was given to Lily Damita this week when she received a wire from the United Artists' home office in New York to leave immediately for the picture's eastern premiere. Echoes of her local success have already penetrated the rialtos that far away, and the popular demand to see her in person is shown in the fact that the first night's sale for the picture is already oversubscribed.

Miss Damita left this week for New York to remain for a short period, returning in time to begin a new Samuel Goldwyn production for United Artists. The local United Artists' Theater is presenting "The Rescue" to crowded houses daily, this being a prerelease showing. Ronald Colman is starred as Joseph Conrad's hero, Tom Lingard, the gun-runner of the Java seas.

Circle Features Short Subject

Gus Edwards, song writer and producer, has brought to the talking films a musical revue. It is called "International Revue" and is the added feature with First National's talking production, "The Barker," now being shown at the Carthay Circle Theater.

This short subject, filmed in natural colors with synchronized songs and ballets, bright costumes and vivid light effects, is a real international revue, in which music of all countries is introduced. Several hundred persons, as well as musical comedy and stage celebrities, take part.

Armida, little Spanish dancer; Georgie Harris, youthful musical comedy idol; and Doris Walker, protegee of the composer-impresario, all appear.

Among the songs are "The International Melody," "Strike Up a Bagpipe Tune," "By the Zuyder Zee" and "Love is Love," all new and original Edwards numbers.

Native Son Glad to See Friends

Harry Lewellyn, who plays an interesting character part in "The Nineteenth Hole," Frank Craven's comedy at the Biltmore Theater, is a native of Los Angeles. He was naturally keen to come back to meet old friends.

As Sam Bloomer in the Craven comedy, he is said to be scoring his greatest hit. Naturally, he takes the role of a golfer. He created the part in New York and has been playing with the company ever since.

Llewellyn has filled many parts in his day but since leaving Los Angeles twenty years ago, he has returned to his native soil only once, as he has been with shows that did not come west of the Rockies.

DIRECTOR COMMENCES "HOTTENTOT" TALKIE

Having completed the selection of the cast for "The Hottentot," Director Roy Del Ruth has started actual filming of this production. Such prominent players as Edward Everett Horton, Patsy Ruth Miller, Douglas Gerard, Stanley Taylor, Gladys Brockwell, Otto Hoffman, Edmund Breese, Maude Turner Gordon and others are included in the list to appear in this 100 per cent Vitaphone talking opus.

Meticulous care, according to Del Ruth, was exercised in choosing these people, as the exacting requirements demanded of them by the synchronization device made this imperative.

Only recently Del Ruth completed the direction of "The Desert Song," based on the prominently successful musical stage play. John Boles, who heads the all-star cast, is said to render with a depth of feeling the same songs which proved so popular in the stage version.

"IN 1999" TO BE ACTED

"In 1999," satirical comedy by William De Mille, will be presented by the Beverly Hills Community Players at the Ritz Theater tonight. The stage play is offered in addition to the feature film, "Beware of Bachelors," Warner all-talking picture with Audrey Ferris and Buster Collier. Tomorrow night a dance revue, in which twenty-five talented screen kiddies will take part, will be offered.

No wonder some members of the predatory classes are church members in good standing. They'd be mighty glad to see the meek inherit the earth—they'd be such easy pickings.

Dr. Pressheard, the noted chiropractor, undoubtedly owes his success to the fact when called on a case he wastes no time in preliminaries, but immediately knuckles down to work.
